ADJOURNMENT OF THE LEGISLATURE.—The Leg. 316:=100:9,49; or 91 per cent. pure copper. islature adjourned sine die on Wednesday. The Senate reconsidered the vote by which the Revenue Bill was defeated, and after adopting several amend ments, passed the same. The bill as it passed, it is believed, will not yield the amount of revenue necessary o preseve the faith of the State.

Appointment by the President, by and with the advice and censent of the Senate.—Gideon Wells, Chief of the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing. A better selection could not have been made. Mr. WELLS is a gentleman of talent, great industry, and a true democrat. As editor of the "Hartford Times," he was for many years the most influential and active Democrat in Connecticut. He richly merits this ev- 11.24_109,08) (Iron_Fc_33.92.) idence of the confidence of the President.

THE GAZETTE. - The editor of the Gazette ought to have told the whole truth; if he had done so, we certainly would not have complained. He cannot 152: 1_100: 0,65; or 3 5 per cent. of Lime. have forgotten that President Polk, when he came into office, found negociations pending having in view the settlement of the Oregon question. The explana tion as given by the President in his annual message is very clear and satisfactory. He says: "When I came into office. I found this to be the state of the negotiation. Though entertaining the settled conviction, that the British pretensions of title a could not be maintained to any portion of the Orego territory upon any principle of public law recognized by nations, yet, in deference to what had been done by my predecessors, and especially in consideration that propositions of compromise had been thrice made by two preceding administrations, to adjust the question on the parallel of forty nine degrees, and

In consideration, too, that under the conventions of of 1818 and 1837, the citizens and subjects of the two Powers, held a joint occupancy of the country. I was induced to make another effort to settle this long penaing controversy in the spirit of moderation, which had given birth to the renewed discussion.

A proposition was accordingly made, which was rejected by the British Pleniputentiary, who, without submitting any other proposition, suffered the negotiation on his part to drop, expressing his trust that the United States would offer what he saw fit tocall "some United States would offer what he saw at tocalt "some further proposal for the settlement of the Oregon question, more consistent with fairness and equiv, and with the reasonable expectations of the British government. The proposition thus offered and rejected, repeated the offer of the parallel of forty-nine degrees of north latitude, which had been made by two proposing administrations but mithout proposing to
