But if there was no when she arrived? Thes thoughts agitated him continually. "I will die to save her, and if needs be," he in wardly swore, "I will preserve her from profana-tion by sacrificing her with my own hand." With these bitter reflections, Vaughan followed his commander, his heart tormented now by des pair, and now pacified by hope. At length, Headey farm broke on their sight, our hero looked en gerly in the direction where the dragoons, if coming, would appear; but none were in sight.
