TOROFESSOR KING announces to Stammerer and others having any defects of articulation that he guarantees permanent relief to all who faithfully follow his instructions. Mr. King has been a practical teacher of Elocution for twentythree years, and was the first, the original teacher of stammerers, upon pure philosophical and scientific principles. His institution was first opened in the city of New York; in Junuary 1829. The pupil is taught the elementary sounds of the English language, together with the correct movements of the organ of speech, and the muscles that are called into action are so exercised by a system of training, that the pupil is at length enabled to produce those movements at will. In all cases, the voice is greatly improved, both in strength, and quality, of intonation's at the same time, the pupil
