The statement may be relied on as entirely correct; and it exhibits the Sharpe's rifle party in that territory in an unenviable light.

The Sheriff of the district is in all probability doubt before this time; and the murderer is countiless at large, as it would be almost impossable to ferret him out and bring him to justice. dom has a more atrocious murder been recorded; and yet the New York Tribune will no doubt represent it as a struggle against slavery. Sheriff Jones, it will be seen, was merely discharging his duty, was treating his prisonerwell, and was shot in the back by a midnight assassin. Is it to such that the Miss Dutton and Rev. Beecher ritles are sent? Is such the use to which they are applied? But the crime of seading arms to Kansas to be so employed is not groater than the crime of deliberately lying in events we record to-day will appear in the New York Tribune, in which an entirely different state of facts will be represented, justifying the cold-
