Squinting Towards the Republicans. Com. Robert F. Stockton has written a letter hidding for the Republican nomination for President. The Commodore tried the Democracy but they could not appreciate the drawing-room soldier; he then joined the order and was for awhile intense in his Americanism. As the fortunes of Sam wane he looks around and would not object to fraternize with Horace Greeley and loans $200,000, while it lost specie to the extent of Wm. H. Seward. This is a strange pass for a $348,000. man to arrive at who heartily endorsed the Compromise Measures-especially the Fugitive Slave Law-in a long letter published in the Phila-
