TUESDAY MORNING:.....MAY 13.

Important Counterfeiting Case.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—Before Judge Irwin.

United States vs. John Cheeroun. Indictment, passing counterfeit coin.

The argument in this case occupied all of yesterday. In the forenoon, Messrs. Flanniken and Gibson, and in the afternoon, Col. Black for the defendant, after which Mr. Kountz made the concluding and only argument for the United States. Judge Shaler was not in his usual health, and consequently many strangers were disappointed in not having an opportunity of hearing that able and venerable gentleman.

All the counsel concerned exhibited great zeal and skill in forensic art. Mr. Gibson is a young gentleman of brilliant talents, and was listened to with breathless attention.

An exception having been made by Col. Black to the indictment, because it charged the counterfeit coin to have been passed "with intent to defraud persons to the Grand Jurors unknown," the Court reserved the question, and will charge the jury today, at 9 o'clock A. M., the hour to which they adjourned.

Annual Meeting of the Firemen's Association—Election of Officers.—The Annual meeting of the Firemen's Association took place last evening, at Neptune Hall. Mr. B. C. Sawyer of the Vigilant, was chosen temporary Chairman, and Thomas M. Little of the Neptune, Secretary. After hearing the credentials of the delegates from the different companies and accepting them, a motion was made for a permanent organization by unanimously calling R. Biddle Roberts, Esq. to the Chair. Mr. Roberts responded to the call in a few appropriate and feeling remarks; he charged the members of the Association that they had a responsibility resting upon them which they should faithfully perform; alluded to the languishing and almost worthless condition of the department during the past year; the fearful consequences that might follow such a state of things, and expressed his willingness to co-operate with the Association in an effort to re-establish the department on a well-founded basis. This is the eighth time in as many successive years, that Mr. Roberts has been called upon to preside over the deliberations of that body, and no one connected with the department is more competent to the task, than he is. The following is a list of the officers elected:

President—R. B. Roberts.
Secretary—Thomas F. Wilson.
Treasurer—Edward Gregg.
1st. Engine—John T. Whitten; 2d. -Thomas M. Little; 3d—Joseph Knox.

Committee of Conference and Inspection—Joseph Brown, H. S. Donaldson, A. McGill, R. C. Sawyer, E. Lowry, T. W. Vick, M. Tibby, James Duncan and George Cochran.

By an oversight our notice of Saturday evening's performance at the Theatre was omitted yesterday morning. To say that all the great bill, three plays, the "Live Indian," "Forty Winks," and a "Glance at Philadelphia," were admirably performed, would be but faint praise. The last piece, however, "took down the house." Owens as "Jakey," and Julia M. Cooke as "Lize," can't be beat. Only one little matter out of the way in Mr. Owens' personation of a Philadelphia rowdy, was, that he wore, outside, a red shirt. This, if our memory serves us, is not exactly in character. When Mr. O. first brought the inimitable farce out, in the Quaker city, he wore a white shirt, and so we think he should yet. Chanfrau, his copyist, puts on a red one in New York which is right, because that is a distinguishing feature in the dress of that gentry in Gotham. Last night Mr. Owens appeared in two characters—Billy Lackaday in "Sweethearts and Wives," and Tuesday Toodles in the laughter provoking farce of the "Toodles." A large and intelligent audience witnessed the performance with great satisfaction. Tonight the fine comedy of the "Poor Gentleman," and an excellent after piece entitled "Wandering Minstrel," will be presented, in both of which Mr. Owens will appear, well supported. If you wish to "laugh and grow fat," secure a ticket early, for as long as Jack Owens is here the house will be crowded, of course.

Granting Licences.—The first meeting to take action on the granting of license, was held yesterday by the Board at their rooms in the Court House. It was announced, in reply to a question by a member of the bar, that each applicant would be expected to prove his citizenship, the capacity of his house and its fitness for the accommodation of the public, and also his own good character. The evidence in a number of applications was heard yesterday, but the Board have not granted any as yet. To-day, the applications for tavern license of the following persons from the First Ward, will be taken up and in the following order:—Wm. Adams, Wm. Bennett, Francis Blount, Abraham Greenwood, Daniel Herwig, W. S. Kerr, James Lindsay, C. Lyon, Andrew Leenders, Nicholas Myers, P. McLaughlin, A. Nelson, F. Nicholson, T. Patterson, C. C. Seely, John Savage, Hugh Sallie, H. Vechelier, Christian Wenig, Margaret Zapfel, T. Overton, J. Shendleman & Co. Witness in relation to applicants, where applications were taken up on Monday, were examined.

Parodi Coming to Pittsburgh.—All who had the delight to hear this distinguished artiste and sweet singer, will be overjoyed to hear of her proposed visit. While the citizens of Boston, New York and Philadelphia have an opportunity at all times to attend the Opera or Concert, it is our privilege to do so only at intervals, but it is at least a satisfaction to know that we are treated to the very best that is offered to our Metropolitan neighbors. Mlle. Parodi is now without exception the most celebrated singer in this country, and her stay, it will be seen, is limited to two evenings. She is accompanied by several excellent artistes.

A little boy, David Dicker, whose mother resides on Fourth street, two or three doors below Market, was yesterday afternoon, while playing on the street with some of his little friends, run over. The wheels of the buggy which passed over the little fellow's head did not injure him materially, and we were happy to learn, last evening at 7 o'clock, that he was doing well. Mothers cannot be too careful how they let their heart's idols wander through the crowded streets. Davy escaped, providentially, this time, but perhaps he might not be so fortunate again.

Fast Young Men.—Yesterday two youths who have apparently arrived at the years of discretion, but whose acts do not seem to correspond, were fined $5.00 each for cruelly driving one of Mr. Robert Patterson's horses on the Sabbath. Their names were Alfred Hardcastle and Matthew Melrose. The poor beast it appeared from the evidence of Mr. Jacob Gardiner, the assistant of Mr. Patterson, is completely used up.

The Pic Nic at Tracey's, yesterday, was a grand affair; more than two thousand persons assembled to engage in the festivities of the day. Those who love to "trip it on the light-fantastic toe," were gratified to their heart's content. The music, by Gormley, was just the thing—it diffused itself into the heads and heels of every one present.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.—The undersigned, Administrator of the Estate of Thomas Mann, dec'd, will offer for sale, by public vendue or outcry, on the premises, on FRIDAY, THE THIRTEENTH DAY OF JUNE NEXT the following described REAL ESTATE, situate in North Huntingdon township, Westmoreland county, about ¼ of a mile from the Village of Greensburg, and about the same distance south of the Greensburg and Pittsburgh Turnpike, about one mile from the Pennsylvania Railroad. The farm contains 150 Acres. The property is conveniently located near to the best of Flouring Mills, Churches and School Houses, about nineteen miles from Pittsburgh and twelve miles from the county seat. The improvements consist of a

SHINGLE-ROOFED LOG HOUSE AND BARN.

An APPLE ORCHARD, &c. The land is well watered, and susceptible of a high state of cultivation. It is LIMESTONE LAND, with an abundance of Limestone.

BITUMINOUS COAL

Is also very abundant; there are about FIFTY ACRES OF COAL of the best quality, the vein being about SIX FEET in thickness. There are also

THIRTY ACRES OF TIMBER LAND,

Consisting of White-Oak, Walnut, Sugar, Locust, &c. &c. There is also a large quantity of MEADOW LAND. It would suit admirably for a Stock Farm, or for raising Fall or Spring Grain. The location is extremely healthy, and the neighborhood is composed of some of the best farmers in the county. The society is good, and such would make a very desirable home for persons wishing to locate themselves for life. The Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad is within one and a half mile; the Youghiogheny Slack-water is within the same distance.

Persons wishing to examine the property can do so by calling upon the undersigned, residing within one mile of it; it will be cheerfully shown to all wishing to purchase.

Sale to commence at 1 o'clock P. M. on said day.

TERMS—One-third cash; the following in two equal annual payments thereafter. Title indisputable.

[For the Pittsburgh Morning Post.]

Hesting the Custom House.

Without pretending to reply to an article which lately appeared in one of the newspapers of this city in regard to the above work, the contractors desire the use of your columns for the purpose of noticing a few facts which have a bearing upon the subject, and which may tend to exculpate them from imputations upon their skill as mechanics or their business integrity.

In regard to the cost of the apparatus, it is unnecessary to say further than that the contractors were compelled to compete with other bidders; they were obliged to submit their plans and specifications to Capt. Bowman, a skilful engineer in the regular service of the government, and to Mr. Kerr, the architect in charge, by their advice, and after consulting with them, the late esteemed Samuel Roseburgh and Henry Woods, commissioners, awarded them the contract.

The capacity and integrity of these gentlemen must be impugned, if there was any remissness in making a suitable contract, or if the government was over-reached in the bargain. But the contractors do not design to divide the responsibility with, or shield themselves behind any other person whatever, as regards the efficiency of the apparatus; and to any person qualified to judge of the cost of similar work, the commissioners could readily vindicate themselves from any charge of extravagance or lack of judgment.

But the matter deserving notice between our-selves and the public is contained in the following extract:

"It consumes from two hundred to two hundred and fifty bushels of coal in the week, and when attended properly requires the service of two engineers. If, then, after carting nearly $5000, it consumes over two hundred bushels of coal in the week, and occupying the time of two men in attending to it, it fails to heat the building, we think we spoke but truth in saying that it did not answer the purposes for which it was intended." The italics are our own.

Now, fortunately for the contractors in this city, as many skilful engineers and persons familiar with the use and abuse of fuel, as well as of machinery, will read this article, and whose experience can be appealed to, the following statement will undoubtedly be properly adjudged and appreciated, relieving the contractors from the imputations contained in the above quotation.

Knowing how much depended upon the proper management of the heating apparatus, the contractors desired that suitable persons whom they might approve, or whom they might propose to the collector, might be placed in charge for the first year, and under this understanding (and no one can question its fairness or propriety) the contractors agreed to assume all responsibility and keep the apparatus in repair for one year, guaranteeing its efficient operation, warranting the whole building perfectly. But for want of proper authority, or from some other cause, the reasonable request was not complied with; and how has it been managed, and who are the "two engineers" whose services are hereby required "to attend to it?" Are they either engineers or men whose build, physique and pursuits qualify them for the laborious duties attendant upon the charge of firing a boiler, stowing the fuel, removing the ashes, getting up steam, cleaning it, particularly a boiler that requires two hundred and fifty bushels of coal per week "to keep it in operation?" To answer the question, it is well known that one of the "engineers" is physically disqualified for the discharge of any such duty, and that the other (except a short time when the contractors personally entertain other than kind feelings) has never hitherto followed such pursuits as would give him either the taste for the work or the ability to become a good fireman. These facts, if the contractors are legally informed, were employed for an entirely different purpose, their duties frequently requiring their attendance at a considerable distance from the building, and for a long time together, the firing of the boiler and care of the heating apparatus being only incidental, and all previous experience will bear out the assertion that the care of a steam boiler requires not perhaps the constant attention, but it must be to a principle a watchful one. Again, the persons in charge of the boiler record their watch into periods of twenty four hours, and they are charged with the duty of watching the vault containing the treasure of the United States at this place, and from the details of the duties of which occurred from remissness of this latter, on another occasion they naturally feel more anxiety to discharge this trust faithfully than to perform the more laborious and troublesome duty of attending the steam to warm the premises.

Before signing the last account, which was one of the contracts required that the boiler should be tested to the pressure of one hundred pounds to the square inch, and that the boiler was to be proved by the application of water for the purpose. To this end a hydrostatic pump from the manufactory of Messrs. Reese & Co. was put under the control and inspection of the engineer on more than one occasion, and for a considerable time. The architect will testify that the apparatus worked perfectly at those times, and if any defect could be discovered it, and until he was so convinced, he would not sign the contracts or vouchers.

The contractors' appeal, with reasonable confidence, to such persons as are conversant with matters whether well or poorly executed, to decide the difference between skilful and unskilful firing, is respectfully submitted to the public. They appeal to the good judgment of the public, as they ought not to be held responsible for the management of an apparatus entrusted to persons from the pressure of other business, of whose ability, are no interests to the task.

In support of this assertion, as to the inefficiency of the heating apparatus, as specified and mentioned above, and of the necessity for the use of similar apparatus, evidence from the very persons they can refer to the Western Pennsylvania Hospital, for two winters under charge of a Frenchman, and one dollar per week less in cost, and heats the building perfectly, and from experts to examine Mr. Mosher gave it. Hosmer, has not been shut down for more than a day or two in as many years; not two dollars per annum expended in repairs, under charge of an aged man, at half the wages.

This fact might be corroborated materially, and the contractors can refer the reader to many other interested, to many other parties more than strangers, for many years, as well as to disinterested, undoubted skill and integrity, who have examined the apparatus at the Custom House since the fire to which this is intended as a reply in the most kind.

In conclusion, the contractors have never, at any time, declined or refused to maintain and guarantee the efficiency of the heating apparatus, upon the sole condition that suitable and competent persons should be employed to take charge of it, and they are willing now to do so, as they have repeatedly offered to do, both to the Architect and the superintendent of the construction of the building and heating apparatus, and to the various officials about the Custom House, Post Office and Circuit Court.

The contractors, Messrs. Editors, have carefully avoided any offensive personalities in the matter. They are willing to abide the judgment of the community, to whom they look for patronage, as to their ability to obtain and maintain their confidence and custom; but their predilections are not favorable to controversy in the newspapers, for which they do not possess the skill, and to which they cannot devote time.

☞ When the Slightest Derangement is indicated by restlessness, or any other sign, it admonishes that superfluities are gathering which should at once be got rid of, and the most easy and natural method of doing this is to take DR. J. HOSTETLER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS. They operate equally on all the diseased parts of the system, cleanse the diseased liver and bowels, and by which a continuity of discharging into the stomach, restore it to its natural state, operate on the blood and remove all impurities and effectually purify the entire fluids, and produce in them a healthy and vigorous action. In this way they strike at the root of the disease, upon the nerves, externally and internally, promoting a healthy perspiration, and obviating all diseases arising from a disordered state of the liver or stomach, and for sale by ☞ Prof. De Grath on the Weather.—Prof. De Grath wants all sufferers from the effects of the inclemency of the weather lately, to call and test for his pleasure Hunter Oil. It cures like magic. Price 25 cts and $1 per bottle.

☞ Prof. De Grath feels it to be his duty to himself and to the public to state explicitly, that the article now for sale by Mrs. Ann E. Smith, called on her advertisement for Dr. Smith, A. E. Smith, Colonel, &c. &c., is not Dr. Grath's Electric Oil.

Mrs. Smith's pretensions to a knowledge of the preparations of this celebrated remedy, arises from her connection with Mr. Galutia B. Smith, formerly engaged with Prof. De Grath in keeping the books and correspondence of De Grath & Co. but never instructed in the manufacture of the medicine. These parties have neither the right nor the ability to make De Grath's Electric Oil, and no imitation of it can produce the wonderful effects of the original, as prepared by Professor De Grath himself, at his old and well known establishment, No. 39 South Eighth street, below Chestnut, Philadelphia
