BUCHANAN DELEGATES. Delaware and Missouri both send Buchanan delegates to the Cincinnati Convention. Thirfor Buchanan., The Michigan and lowa delegates will undoubtedly be of the same opinion. Five of the delegates from Maryland are all right, five others from the New England States. New Jersey delegates are unanimously instructed for him. The entire Pennsylvania delegation will vote for him, from the beginning to the end. The Louisana delegation, and a portion of the Tennessee will go for him. If the New York delegations are admitted, he will no doubt have a majority of them. The California delegates are instructed for him. We count on Wisconsin for c him after one or two ballots. We believe the delegates from Connecticut and Vermont would prefer Mr. B, but they may be restrained from an early expression of their preference by truction or other reasons. From Kentucky there is no certain information yet, though there is no doubt that Mr B has hosts of friends in that We cannot count on a majority for Mr. B. on the first or even the third ballot; but that he will have a majority of the convention on the eighth or ninth ballot we predict. That point reached, trust, secure for him the nomination

PRIVATEERING .- The European nations have, among other things done in the recent treaty, agreed to abolish privateering. That may do for the nations agreeing to it, but the United States will become a party to no such arrangement. Privateering is a bad business-so are all wars. In case of a war with England or France, our privateering would be our main arm of defence. We have more ships than any other nation, and by throwing armaments aboard two or three thousand c: them, the ocean would be chant ships from such a fleet of cruisers. Unless we have a navy four-fold as large as at present, we cannot afford to agree to abolish privateering.
