KANSAS AND NEBRASKA. The sole cause of the disturbances in Kansa may be traced to the conduct of certain ultraists who, not content with managing their own affairs, must even undertake to regulate the internal policy of their neighbors. Kansas could not that the Democratio nominee will be the Presi-be let alone by these proselyting peats—the dent and honce the more earnest is each more Kansas Emigrant Societies led off in the desper- for his favorite candidate. ate game of moulding the new community to suit their peculiar views, while the ultraists on the other side of the question, who lived in the immediate neighborhood of the new territory, felt in daty bound on the principle of self-defence. to counteract the efforts of their fanatical oppo nents. The result is already known; -through the peace and prosperity of Kansas have been destroyed-and the inhabitants of that hapless region who had sought a peacoful and quiet home are now involved in all the horrors of civil war, and placed in the hostile attitude of rebellion to the constituted authorities of the country. There friends of other candidates are not likely to withbill to lead to this untoward result—the quextion of slavery was left entirely to their own arbitrament, and had not Kansas been made the battle ground for these contending factions to wage their unhallowed warfare, it too, like Nebraska, would have been a peaceful and prosper

But Kansas has become the prey of alien dema gogues -a " creature upon which they are mab. ing fatal experiments, as chemists by their poi sons upon some vile animal," while Nebraska, organized under the same territorial bill has been let alone, and although less favored by nature than Kansas, is peaceful, happy and thriving the emigration to Nebraska has flowed through a natural channel into that territory-the people have been loyal to the territorial government: they have framed their own laws without the interposition of meddlers; no demonstrations of violence and rebellion have occurred, for pseudophilanthropists have not undertaken to regulate

The first number of a new periodical under Esq., of Philadelphia, has reached us. It is, as its name implies, especially devoted to Railroad and Mining interests, and contains a great variety of well written articles on well chosen subjects, besides statistics, which render it a most valuable medium of information. As this is the only periodical of the kind published in this State, it will doubtless receive that sustaining patronage to which its intrinsic merit undoubt edly entitles it. The following extract from the Register will be found interesting. It is a condensed but strik

By the Pennsylvania Railroad and its connec tions, Pittsburgh has communication with the eastern cities; by the Chicago road and its connections she has communication westward, with cities upon the lakes, the Ohio, and the Mississippi, and throughout the long and broad terriory between.
