TONICS WONT DO !- They never did do It is because they don't touch the cause of the disease. The came of all ague and bilious diseases is the atmospheric poison called Missinia or Malaria. "Neutralized firmpolicio by its natural antidote, and all disease caused by it, disappears at once. Rhodes' ferer and Ague Cure is this Antidote to Malaria, and moreover it is a perfectly like in the Antidote to Malaria, and moreover it is a perfectly like in the medicine. The cartificate of the celebrated chemiat, J. R. Chilton, of New York, to this effect, is attached to every bottle; therefore if it does no good it can do no harm.

This is more than can be said of Quinine, Arsenic, or any tonic in existence, as their use is ruinous to the constitution and thrings or Dumb Ague, which inversallows's person to feel perfectly well for a single moment. In illustration of these graths I same, some extracts from a letter just resolved front a Physician:

these stuths Lanner some crirects from a letter just received front a Physician:

Georgerows, Ohio, March 17, 1888. It JAS. A. RHODES, Eq.—Dear Sir: You're of 2d but 'fa athland. The Gure arrived late last year each the difficulty in getting any one to try it was greatly increased from the fact that a remedy had been itstroduced which was growing in favor with the public, as being better than using Quinine—not knowing I presume that the remedy they used to escape taking Quinine, contained the drug itself?

This remedy, known as Smith's Tonic, would invartably break an ague, but it did not cure it, as it would often return with renewed vigor. This one circumstance I deemed in your favor, if I could institute a test comparison between it and your Cure. The following is for result:

This repersons took your Gure, all of which were cases of Quotidian Intermittent Fever, of many weeks, standing. They had tried Quinine, and other remedies, occasionally missing a chill, but it was (as in all such cases) slowly wearing them out, and laying the foundation of other and soverer meladics. I did succeed in affecting a radical cure of all three of these cases with your remedy, and they have not had sechill since. In all three of these cases the Smith's Tonic had been used, and would, as before stated, break the chill, but after a period or two had elapsed it would, return. I think there will be no alface.
