THE NEWS.

The immigrant arrivals from Europe at New York, during the week ending Thursday, foot up 2478, making a total from 1st of January to date of 92,050, against 96,985 same time last year.

A great fire occurred in Bloomington, Ill., on the 8th inst., which destroyed eight buildings, valued at $60,000. There was considerable insurance on the buildings and goods.

There was a Democratic mass meeting at Parksburg, Chester county, on Friday, which was attended by upwards of twenty thousand. The delegations from Lancaster county were very large, and West Chester sent an immense crowd. Nearly all the stations between Parksburg and Philadelphia sent large delegations, accompanied with music and banners. The utmost enthusiasm prevailed.

The San Francisco Vigilance Committee, as we learn by the last steamer, was about to disband. Judge Terry, of the Supreme Court, had been discharged from its custody, and the work of dismantling the Committee's fortifications commenced. This accomplished, they resolved, on Monday, the 18th ult., to marshal all their forces, and openly, before the world, to march to their quarters and there consummate their work by resigning into the hands of the people the power delegated to them at the commencement of their labors. They had a very imposing parade, the number of men under arms being between 4000 and 5000.

From California we also learn that the Committee charged with the collection of subscriptions for the relief of the family of the late James King of William, report the receipt of an aggregate of $81,559, which is to be invested for the benefit of the family.

Philadelphia has long had the honor—questionable or otherwise—of turning out more doctors of medicine than any other, or perhaps than all the other cities of Union put together. This will be best illustrated by the fact that one of her colleges, since its foundation, sent 3597 graduates, and out of a medical class containing 510 students, there were from Pennsylvania, 139; Virginia, 61; Georgia, 53; North Carolina, 40; Alabama, 36; South Carolina, 22; Tennessee, 17; New Jersey, 15; Mississippi, 14; Illinois, 13; New York, 9; Kentucky, 8; Missouri, 7; Texas, 7; Indiana, 7; Delaware, 6; Maryland, 6; Arkansas, 6; New Hampshire, 5; United States Navy, 4; Maine, 4; Nova Scotia, 3; Massachusetts, 3; Iowa, 2; Louisiana, 2; Barbadoes, 2; Cuba, 2; and from Rhode Island, Florida, Connecticut, Michigan, District of Columbia, Canada West, West Indies and Corsica each one. There are five or six medical colleges altogether.

We were told yesterday that some of the Democrats were going to leave town to avoid the sight of the procession to-day. It was a Fremonter that told us, however. For our part we intend to stay in town and look the animal right square in the face. It will afford us much gratification to see how big a thing it is that we are going to "fax like smoke" in November. We are perfectly sure of doing it. We are sorry to render such a desperate effort unavailing; but it must and will be done. We'll bet on't.

We call attention to an article from the Detroit Free Press, in which a conversation with a correspondent of the New York Tribune is detailed. The bare conspiracy was revealed in mistake; and exhibits one of the foulest cases of treason ever discovered in any country. "Lane has his orders," the rascal said.

[From the Detroit Free Press]

THE BATTLE OF OSAWATAMIE.

The Black Republican papers are once more filled with startling accounts of "outrages" in Kansas. The "Battle of Osawatamie" furnishes the New York Tribune with material for three broad columns of blood and thunder intelligence. The whole country can bear witness that for weeks prior to Lane's invasion of the Territory peace had prevailed. So profound was this peace that even the correspondent at Lawrence of the New York Tribune was forced to confess it. The outrages had run out, and the correspondent was constrained to write of peace, or write not at all. With the prevalence of peace industry revived. The hum of activity animated the towns, and settlers began to occupy and improve the lands. Kansas wore a joyous smile. She prayed for repose, and Col. Sumner, by the expulsion of Southern armed bands and the dispersion of the Topeka Legislature, had given her repose. She asked only that she might enjoy it.

She was permitted to enjoy it for a while. But repose to Kansas was death to the Black Republicanism in the States. The intelligence of Fremont's nomination and of the "sack of Lawrence" spread over the country simultaneously, and Fremont's prospects opened brilliantly. There seemed danger that he might sweep the whole North with the force of a tornado, so exasperated was the northern public mind by the state of things represented to exist in Kansas—so convulsed was it by the false coloring given to actual events, and by the flood of manufactured "Kansas outrages" with which the Black Republican press deluged the land. But the brilliancy of Fremont's prospects were soon dimmed. The danger that he might sweep the North soon passed. Col. Sumner disarmed the hostile bands, escorted them out of the Territory, and established peace. From that moment Black Republicanism languished and Fremont's prospects diminished, and it was clearly seen that, if peace should continue, Fremont would get next to no electoral votes at the election.

Then it was that Lane's invasion was planned at Washington, and preparations for executing it set in motion. A convention at Buffalo quickly ensued, at which it was resolved to raise one hundred thousand dollars a month in "aid of Kansas." Immense sums were subscribed by abolition millionaires for the purchase of arms and ammunition and to equip in all respects men for the invasion. Missionaries were started out on collecting expeditions. The N. Y. Tribune opened a subscription "Kansas fund" which already has reached some ten thousand dollars. Meanwhile, Lane was secretly engaged in collecting men, and directly intelligence came that he was on the Iowa border with an army a thousand strong, armed, equipped and drilled. He remained in Iowa long enough to permit his thousand men to vote fraudulently at the State election, when he descended upon Kansas, ravaging the country with fire and sword. He attacked settlements, robbed inhabitants, and burned towns. He awoke, of course, a spirit of resistance. The anti-abolition party of the Territory arose en masse to protect themselves. Was it not natural that they should?

Now, the "Battle of Osawattamie" is a direct consequence of Lane's invasion. Several of his men had encamped at Osawatiamie, where they were attacked by a hostile force and routed. It is over their rout that black republicanism now howls!

There never was a fact more transparent than that Kansas would have remained quiet until this day had not Lane invaded her territories—had not the black republican partizan leaders, in pursuance of caucus arrangements, let loose upon her a band of desperadoes, commanded by a greater desperado than any man under him—but not with a more wicked and malignant heart—in his bosom than the partizan leaders whose instrument he is.

We have said that Kansas enjoyed profound repose a month ago. Let us contrast that condition with her present condition. Let us see what a state of affairs the invasion of Lane has produced. And to do so we will rely upon black republican authority. A correspondent at Leavenworth of the N. Y. Tribune writes under date of August 29:

"We have never before had times so perilous as at present. It seems as if all our citizens must become involved in the civil tumult. No free State man who has taken any part in political matters is safe for a moment. Nearly all such men have left either for the States or for the interior of the Territory, and pro-slavery men who have heretofore been moderate in their conduct are now leading bands of ruffians.

"Emery, who has a company under his command, and under whose orders Pomleston was killed in our streets yesterday, has hitherto been a man of peace. He is the principal mail contractor in the Territory. Wm. H. Russell gives his name to the inflammatory despatches calling Missourians to arms, and indorsing all the falsehoods which have been employed in raising the present tumult. I have conversed with a prisoner who was discharged from one of their camps yesterday. He names to me many men who have passed among us as honorable and peaceable citizens who are now not only, as I am informed, Party spirit, and the sanction which a great national party has given to the Kansas frauds, have beguiled them into the most reckless excesses.

"Ex-Governor Shannon is in town to-day, on his way eastward. He says that Gen. Lane can command nearly three thousand men, and he warns the pro-slavery men from every attemp to subdue the free State men of Kansas. It is reported, on every hand, that Lane has a sufficient force for any emergency. Yet there is doubting in some quarters. Why does he not rid Leavenworth and vicinity of the assassins and bands of marauders who infest every public road? they say."

This is black republican testimony. "Pro-slavery men," we are told, "who have heretofore been moderate in their conduct are now leading bands of ruffians." And why are they leading bands of ruffians? They have been driven to taking up arms and organizing companies as a measure of self-protection and self-preservation. Again, 'Men who have passed among us as honorable and peaceable citizens," this Tribune correspondent further writes, "are now leagued with the border ruffians." Precisely so. These men remained peaceable citizens so long as it was possible for them to do so; when Lane made his appearance in the Territory, they were driven to the necessity of opposing him with arms.

We tell you, people of Michigan, this invasion of Kansas is the most diabolical conspiracy of modern times, if not of all time. It was planned, undertaken, and has been executed, for the sole object of aiding the election of Fremont. Is it not a melancholy reflection that there are men in high places in the land who do not hesitate at making the blood of their fellow men flow as a means of party success?

The Difference.—James Buchanan, Silas Wright, Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun and Daniel Webster used to serve their country in Congress for eight dollars a day. Samuel A. Purviance, John Allison, David Ritchie, John Covode, Jonathan Knight charge thirty-five dollars a day, and get it. They vote against giving the soldiers nine dollars a month at the same time.

The Fremont party is losing ground fast in all the southeastern portion of this State. It is the third party there. In Centre county, and from thence to Philadelphia, the contest is between Buchanan and Fillmore. Such is the opinion of candid men who have an opportunity to know.

We see that the Hon. J. Glancy Jones has taken the stump in the good old cause. His speeches are eloquent and effective, and we are glad to hear of the cordial welcome he meets wherever he goes.

We know of one man who has offered to bet $100 on each of the following five States for Buchannn: New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. He is an an old line Whig at that.

The Annual Exhibition of the Washington County Agricultural Society will be held at Washington, on Thursday and Friday, the 25th and 26th of September.

A FILLMORE STAGE TICKET.

It seems that the Fillmore party are at length aroused to a full comprehension of the trick played upon them by inducing them to combine with the Black Republicans on a State ticket. That fusion for the October election is designed to disorganize the Fillmore party, to cherish sympathy and a common purpose between them and the abolitionists that will draw off a large portion of their numbers to Fremont in November. The Pennsylvanian has an article on the subject in which it says that the Fillmore party is now resolving not to submit to to such a bargain, all for the benefit of Fremont. We extract the following from the Pennsylvanian of the 15th inst.:

THE FILLMORE MEN IN THE FIELD.

"We did not suppose that the flagrant attempt to blind the eyes of the friends of Fillmore, by urging upon them the fusion State ticket, as the best way to defeat Mr. Buchanan, would be submitted to. The fact that the success of the fusion State ticket, would be of advantage to Fremont alone, and an extermination of Fillmore, plain as the light of day to all, at last begins to make its impression, and an active and animated protest is about to be uttered against the trick of Thaddeus Stevens, Wm. F. Johnston & Co.

"The bargain in Philadelphia, between certain false Fillmore men, who profess to be for Fillmore, and are anxious only to get themselves into place at the expense of national principles, and the straight-out Fremont leaders, is evidently a mere rope of sand, and will be blown into the air in a very short time. One of the indications against the Fremont fusion State ticket, is to be found in the call for a meeting to be held to-morrow evening, in this city, against this ticket, which is to be addressed by certain well known Fillmore leaders. Mr. Levin has come out in a letter in support of this movement, in which he declares that Fremont is crushed, and the contest is between Fillmore and Buchanan."

The bargain was made in Philadelphia, and it is to be blown up there, and all over the State. We add the following from the same paper showing the character of the abolition, fusion State ticket:

THE FREMONT STATE TICKET—ARMSTRONG COUNTY.

"We have frequently called attention to the fact that the three nominees upon the so-called Union Ticket—Phelps, Cochran and Laporte—are all opposed to the election of Mr. Fillmore. Of these nominees Phelps was placed upon the ticket as the especial representative of the K. N. party; as if allegiance to Mr. Fillmore could therefore be more confidently expected from him than any of the other candidates. Yet it is well known that he is an ardent friend of Fremont and a correspondent from Armstrong county, whose letter we publish below, in giving us an account of the campaign there, incidentally alludes to the fact that no successful have Mr Phelps efforts for Fremont proved, that in his county the opposition 'all stand upon the Fremont platform'

In the Wilmot district the same state of things exists, under the leadership of Wilmot's First Lieutenant, Laporte, who is pressed upon the suffrages of the Fillmore party in this section of the State, while Wilmot himself is reconnoitering the Fillmorites not committed, according to the Tribune's correspondents, in the north. As to Mr Cochran, it is well known that he publicly denounced the Albany speech of Mr Fillmore, and has taken no step or measures to advocate his election—that he is bitterly hostile to Know Nothingism, and possessed of strong Black Republican proclivities. For select associations and purposes, and in pursuance of a certain bargain, the men who assume to be Fillmore leaders in Pennsylvania, urge their followers to vote this Fremont ticket, and thereby consolidate the whole moral force of their influence to set up the desperate prospects of the Black Republican candidate in Pennsylvania.

The letter we alluded to is as follows:

"Kittanning, Sept. 10, 1856.

"Editor Pennsylvanian—Last week we published a long remonstrance from the Democracy of this strong county. It was resolved, some weeks ago, to hold two mass meetings during the September Court, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The Buchanan Club, at a meeting the week before Court, directed that a meeting must also be held on Wednesday evening—this making three Democratic mass meetings in one week, a thing altogether unusual in this county. In pursuance to the above arrangements, Democrats and others from every section of the county turned out by thousands to be present at these meetings. The deep-seated, but dignified enthusiasm at all these meetings, is indubitable evidence that the Democracy of Armstrong are emphatically aroused, and upon the battle field, with a determination not to retreat, but fight through this whole campaign in a spirit never known in this county. All the isms, composing the incongruous mixture of the opposition, are organized in this county. There is a combination, and all stand upon the Fremont platform. The mode and manner adopted by our enemies for the present campaign is anything but honorable."

Franklin Celebration in Boston.—To-day will be a great day in the city of Boston, having been appointed for a celebration in honor of the inauguration of the Franklin Statue. It is expected that it will be a grand occasion, as all other meetings and celebrations in Massachusetts have been postponed, so as not to interfere with the proper observances of this. In consequence, it is thought many thousands of visitors from the interior will be present. All the public buildings, government offices and banks, are to be closed, bells to be rung and cannon fired. A great procession will also parade through the streets. The Statue of Franklin is eight feet in height, weighs about two thousand pounds, and will cost, when erected, between nine and ten thousand dollars. The pedestal and die stone with the statue, make the total height twenty-seven feet. The inauguration ceremonies will take place in front of the City Hall, where the staging for an immense amphitheatre is being erected. The printers will make a good show, as all the representatives of the craft will occupy an honorable place in the procession. Franklin's press will be carried in state.

Nathaniel P. Banks.

Nathaniel P. Banks, the "Union Slider," is in the city on his way to the interior counties, to preach treason against the Constitution, which he, in the presence of the Representatives of the people, swore to forever preserve, protect and defend.

He, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, comes here for the sole purpose of endeavoring to exasperate the people of a sovereign State against their countrymen of the South, so that in the near future, the contingency shall arise in which "the Union will slide."

Let the honest yeomanry of our loyal State resent this insult of the Massachusetts traitors, by redoubling their exertions in the cause of the Constitution, so that Pennsylvania, in October, shall thunder to the world where her voice and vote will be in November.—Pennsylvanian.

Wanted Immediately!

A large quantity of lint and other appliances to staunch the wounds of "bleeding Kansas!" Persons having such articles for sale will be expected to deliver them this morning, in good order and condition, at the Republican platform, Allegheny City, Pa.

N. B.—It is hoped that as we cry "free speech, Fremont and freedom," that our friends will be found crying "free lint for the wounded!"

By order of the Committee.

A Novel in a Few Lines.—Miss Margaret L. Cooper, of Covington, Louisiana, had a lover whom her friends threatened to shoot; so she dressed herself in boy's clothes, and traveled all the way alone to Monticello, Mississippi, where she met and married him, and his name is John Rogers.

THE BASE CONSPIRACY CONFESSED.

We give below a most remarkable exposition of the insidious designs of the Black Republicans, taken from the Detroit Free Press. It confirms, beyond all question, the charge which again and again we have made, that the hue and cry about Kansas was a miserable electioneering hypocrisy, invented and kept alive by a set of dishonest demagogues, who seek by sectional agitation and excitement so to inflame and poison the public mind as to secure the election of their automaton candidate, John C. Fremont. This exposure deserves to be published in every honest journal in the land, as it should be read by every honest-minded voter, for it gives the only true explanation of the thousand and one rare-head and-bloody-bones outrages which have been hawked over the length and breath of the land. It contains evidence which should convince every honest man of the desperate recklessness of the Black Republican party, of its utter want of every principle of honesty, patriotism, or truth; that they are not only willing, but actually have, with deliberation and premeditation, instigated, paid, and equipped a set of lawless marauders to invade the Territory of Kansas with fire and sword, to burn, pillage, and murder, if need be, and all for the mere purpose of raising a disturbance sufficient to procure the election of John C. Fremont:

On Saturday we published the following telegraphic despatch, dated St. Louis, September 6:

"Private advices from Kansas state that on Tuesday last every free-State man was driven from Leavenworth at the point of the bayonet, and all their property destroyed or confiscated. Mr. Phillips, the correspondent of the New York Tribune, and his brother were killed. The house of the former and the store of the latter were burned. It is said Mr. Phillips fired from his house and killed two proslavery men. Forty sufferers arrived here to-day entirely destitute. Fuller particulars to-morrow."

The same despatch appeared in the New York Tribune of Saturday, which paper of that day says in its editorial columns:

"Our correspondent at St. Louis appears to be under the impression that the Mr. Phillips who, with his brother, has been shot, is the special Kansas correspondent of the Tribune, whose death has long been an avowed object among the Missouri ruffians. This, however, is a mistake. Our Mr. Phillips recently left the Territory for a brief visit to the States, and on the day of the battle he was in this city. He is now returning, and will soon be at his post again in Kansas."

He was in this city on Friday, and came into our office, mistaking it for one of the black republican newspaper offices. He introduced himself as the Kansas correspondent of the New York Tribune, on his return to the Territory. Without giving his illusion, we asked him if it was probable such a row could be got up in Kansas as would subserve the republican cause and aid the election of Fremont? He said yes, that is the intention and I think we shall succeed, our plans are well laid, and can scarcely fail. We are determined that the war shall be carried on at Lawrence, at whatever cost. I shall be in Kansas in ten days, and I have instructions in my pocket for Col Lane." We asked him some other questions, which he answered with singular frankness, disclosing a conspiracy of the black republican leaders regarding Kansas more heinous and villainous, we verily believe, than any conspiracy ever before hatched. When he informed him that he had entered the wrong pew—that he was in the office of a democratic and not of a black republican paper—that he had been shrieking a Buchanan and not a Fremont man—he was struck dumb with amazement, and so much he had not instantly recovered. When he did recover, he muttered something inaudibly, and incontinently fled.

The information thus obtained assures us positively of things we have not at any time doubted. It assures us that there have been but few difficulties in Kansas that have not the result of pre-concerted plans laid by black republican confederates, and deliberately executed by the agents of those confederates—and it assures us that provision has been made of men and money by which Kansas will, if it be possible, be kept in the most terrible state of turmoil during this month and the next, for the express purpose of cooperating the northern mind and affecting the Presidential election.

We have no language to express abhorrence of the plot revealed. It is at once abominable, atrocious, hellish! Should pirates be guilty of such a crime? Could devils conceive a more diabolical scheme? Civil war is to be instigated, innocent blood is shed—all in pursuance of caucus arrangement to influence the pending political contest! and such creatures as this Phillips are employed by the New York Tribune to chronicle the deeds of death naturally committed, and to call them "outrages" having no foundation in point of fact!

When will the people see this Kansas business in its true light!

GOVERNOR GEARY.

Col. Geary, now governor of Kansas, has arrived in that territory, and entered upon the duties of his office. We find in the Cincinnati Commercial some account of his arrival there, and of a brief speech he made to the citizens of Leavenworth. One remark in his speech is significant of a proper and important purpose. We have all along been satisfied that those laws of the Kansas Legislature that restrict freedom of speech and the press were unconstitutional. Such appears to have been all along the general opinion. Those test oaths, too, are simply void for unconstitutionality. The United States Senate thought so when it passed the bill to annul them. Gen. Cass denounced both of these clauses of those laws as "disgrace to the age;" and this would have been "wipsd out" and dead now but for the infamous refusal of the Black Republican House of Representatives to pass the bill.

Col. Geary seems to have resolved to treat those laws in accordance with this opinion; and he intimates it in his first speech. We quote the following from the Commercial:

Governor Geary reached Leavenworth City on Tuesday evening. Quite a number of the citizens and men under arms were on the bank, and he received some two or three companies of Missourians, which were expected. When they learned that Governor Geary was on board they called him out. He appeared on the guard of the steamer, and spoke for about ten minutes, saying, among other things, with qualifications attached, he would enforce all the territorial laws that were constitutional. The Governor then proceeded up the river and landed at the fort, where he had immediate consultation with Gen. Smith. He stated his intention to proceed to Lawrence in a few days without any more troops than would suffice for a body guard.

The Missouri Republican of Saturday says:

The steamer J. H. Lucas arrived yesterday from the Missouri river. The news from Kansas is of very little importance. A gentleman who was at Leavenworth on Tuesday, at mid-day, says that there is no truth in the report of the capture of Gen. Richardson, at Lawrence, by Gen. Lane. He was in Lawrence for two hours, examining the fortifications, and then took his leave, but he was not a prisoner.

Rent's train of wagons from New Mexico was not molested. McKinney's was captured, and this because the latter lived in Westport, and was hostile to the proceedings of the insurgents in Kansas. Governor Geary arrived at Leavenworth on Tuesday last. He would immediately proceed to the execution of his official duties.

Meanwhile, it is said that the men under the command of Gen. Reid, to the number of two and three thousand, would be prepared to attack Lawrence today. We have little doubt, however, that Governor Geary, immediately upon his arrival, took measures to prevent any such collision. There is a sufficient force under the command of Gen. Smith—augmented by the arrival of troops from Fort Pierre—to control all movements in the territory."

A Perfumed Breath.—What lady or gentleman would remain under the curse of a disagreeable breath when by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers" as a dentifrice would not only render it sweet but leave the teeth white as alabaster? Many persons do not know their breath is bad, and the subject is so delicate their friends will never mention it. Pour a single drop of the "Balm" on your tooth-brush and wash the teeth night and morning. A fifty cent bottle will last a year.

A Beautiful Complexion may easily be acquired by using the "Balm of a Thousand Flowers." It will remove tan pimples and freckles from the skin, leaving it of a soft and rosente hue. Wet a towel, pour on two or three drops, and wash the face night and morning.

Shaving Made Easy.—Wet your shaving-brush in either warm or cold water, pour on two or three drops of "Balm of a Thousand Flowers," rub the beard well and it will make a beautiful lather much facilitating the operation of shaving. Price only fifty cents. For sale by Fetridge & Co., proprietors; and R. A. Fahnestock & Co., Fleming Bros., R. E. Sellers & Co., Dr. G. H. Keyser and H. Miner & Co., Pittsburgh and Beckham & McKennan, Allegheny city.

HON. JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.

HIS RECEPTION AT CARDINGTON, OHIO—OUTRAGE BY FREMONTERS.

The Cincinnati Times, a Fillmore and Donelson paper, gives an account of Mr. Breckinridge's reception by the people along the railroad route from Crestline to the Queen City. It also details a piece of ruffianism on the part of the freedom shriekers that is in keeping with their character:

The next stopping place was Cardington, and some two hundred people were gathered at the depot when the train stopped. They had been notified by some means of Mr. Breckinridge's arrival, for they were all on tip-toe to see him. A leading Democrat of the village entered the car, was introduced to the distinguished traveler, and instantly invited him to appear on the platform that the Democrats there assembled might see him. Mr. Breckinridge readily consented. As he appeared at the car door some one proposed three cheers for Buchanan and Breckinridge. They were given. At that Mr. Breckinridge stepped out upon the platform and lifted his hat. At the same moment some one proposed three cheers for Fremont, when the Fremonters present yelled as if they were splitting their throats. It was no doubt a preconcerted movement intended to insult Mr. Breckinridge. This idea is confirmed by what followed. The Fremonters laughed, shook hands, and congratulated each other with what they had done. Many of them used such expressions as "Wonder how he likes that?" "This aint the country for him;" "Guess he wished he had'nt stopped," &c., all in a tone certain to reach Mr. Breckinridge's ear. The Democrats, who were evidently in the minority seemed dumbfounded with this unprovoked attack upon their candidate for the Vice Presidency. Many of the passengers, however, were free to express their condemnation.

Mr. Breckinridge himself paid no attention to it. Replacing his hat upon his head, he stepped to the depot platform, and commenced conversing with those around him about the general news of the day. He is a tall, handsome gentleman, with a grace and suavity of manner which at once favorably impresses those with whom he is brought in contact. The Fremonters observing that their taunts did not affect him, soon ceased and began to gather quietly around the Kentucky statesman. Several of them were introduced to the gifted son of Kentucky, and his dignified and noble bearing toward them really called forth a spluttering apology to the effect that they intended no personal disrespect to him by the cheers, but merely intended to express their political principles.

☞ Interesting to those suffering from Headache.—A certain remedy found in Dr. M'LANE'S CELEBRATED LIVER PILLS, prepared by FLEMING BROS, of Pittsburgh:

The following is a sample of certificates, received daily from our own citizens:

NEW YORK, August 1, 1852.

This is to certify that I have been subject at times to severe headache; sometimes the pain would be so severe I could rest neither day or night. Hearing of Dr. M'Lane's celebrated Liver Pills, prepared by Fleming Bros., I sent and got a box, of which I took two pills on going to bed, for two nights. They relieved me entirely. Sometime has now elapsed, and I have had no more trouble from sick headache.

M. JOHNSTON, 118 Lewis street.

Purchasers will be careful to ask for Dr. M'Lane's celebrated Liver Pills, manufactured by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa. All other Liver Pills, in comparison, are worthless. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Liver Pills, also his celebrated Vermifuge, can now be had at all respectable drug stores. None genuine without the signature of FLEMING BROS.

Also, for sale by the sole proprietors,

FLEMING BROS.
Successors to J. Kidd & Co.,

☞ Opinions of the Press.—The following is from Gen. Geo. P. Morris, in the Home Journal of November 7, 1846:

All editors profess to be the guardians of the rights of the people, and to keep them advised, through their columns, of whatever shall arise for their benefit. We will live up to our profession then that for their benefit wonderful and valuable medicine for their general use ever invented, is "Dalley's Magnetic Pain Extractor". Its virtues are so rare, mighty and eccentric, that often they appear to work more like miracles than by science; so effective, electric and astounding are its powers on the human body, that, though now it is daily tried by thousands of people, not one of this great host has it delighted beyond comparison, and cured, by certain they, on no consideration, will ever again be without it.

The inventor, Mr. H. Dalley, has wisely kept the secret to himself. Counterfeits are busy about it, but without success. Its overwhelming merits defy all competition, and its scientific analysis. We confidently commend all parents to seek its acquaintance, for surely such a friend, who laughs at death and suffering, restores the blind, lame, halt and scarred to perfection, and all from pain, is a friend indeed."

We wish the discoverer of this mighty blessing, who is a real benefactor to mankind, God speed.

☞ An Appeal to the Intellect—It is one of the features of Pulmonary Disease that it generally leaves the brain undisturbed. We therefore appeal to the intellects of all who are predisposed to Consumption, warning them solemnly, that to neglecting what they call slight colds, they may be signing their own death-warrants. There is no excuse for such neglect. In Dr. ROGERS' SYRUP OF LIVERWORT, TAR AND CANCHALAGUA, they have within reach, at all times, a positive specific. We make no reservation or qualification of its virtues, and we are backed by men of the highest scientific attainments, whose approval of it, if worthless, no wealth could purchase, in saying that it is as nearly infallible as anything in this fallible world can be. For particulars, see pamphlet in the hands of agents, and an advertisement on the business page.

☞ Astonishing Effects of one Bottle, in an aggravated case of DYSPEPSIA.

PHILADELPHIA, March 20, 1855.

Dear Sir—During the last five years I have been afflicted with Dyspepsia in its most aggravated form, and have used, without receiving any benefit therefrom, every remedy recommended for that disease. In fact, I was afflicted so badly that on many occasions I was in great danger of dying from suffocation, in consequence of the rise of matter in my throat, and all my efforts for relief were in vain. I was at last induced, through the recommendation of several of my friends, to try "Hoofland's German Bitters," and I assure you the amount of relief I have received, from the use of only one bottle, is astonishing, and compels me to say that I know not what to do without them. Very respectfully, yours,

ELIZABETH GAUL,
No. 13 Carter's alley.

To Dr. C. M. Jackson.

☞ A Public Benefactor—This appellation can be applied with truth to Donald Kennedy, the discoverer of Kennedy's Medical Discovery, for who can lay higher claim to the title than he who rescues his fellow man from disease and restores him to health. The Discovery has become justly celebrated for its cures of humors, and the proprietor is daily receiving communications from individuals, stating that they have been cured of diseases that he does not men tion as curable in his circular. This is owing to the fact that many diseases are brought on by humors, such as Consumption, Blindness, &c. We hope that the afflicted will be wise and timely in the use of so desirable an article.
