Trial of Frederick Brenninger for the Murder of Matthias Frank.

Court of Oyer and Terminer.

Before Hon. W. B. M'Clure, President Judge, and Gabriel Adams and John F. Parke, Associates.

This murder occurred on the night of Saturday, July 18th, 1857, in Reserve township, in this county, about a mile from Allegheny city. It appears that a party of young Germans had been drinking lager beer in the house of Mr. Philip Gerst, at what is known as Boetcher's Run or Spring Garden, and left the house about midnight. When they arrived upon the plank road, a few steps from Mr. Gerst's gate, a quarrel arose, and one of the party named Frederick or Fritz Brenninger was discovered to have a concealed weapon about his person, which he drew, whereupon he was knocked down by Gottlieb Geitz; he rose immediately and attacked Geitz and another man named Matthias Frank, and after inflicting a frightful wound on Frank, who took no part in the disturbance, he ran to his boarding house, Mrs. Martin Lappe's, where he worked as a tanner. The wound inflicted was a ghastly one, and must have been inflicted with terrible force. The knife entered the neck, under the ear, on the right side, and cut down until it reached the breast bone, severing the carotid artery, and had then inflicted a flesh wound, three or four inches in length, along the breast bone, laying open the cavity of the chest. The entire length of the wound was eight or nine inches. Brenninger was arrested at about four o'clock the next morning and taken before Mayor Behaven, after the death of Frank. The deceased was a young German about 19 years of age, had but one arm, and worked as a gardener for Mr. Murzrich. He is said to have been a quiet and industrious man, possessing in a high degree the confidence of his employer. He was an orphan, and had no friends residing here, except his uncle, with whom he was on bad terms.

Frederick Brenninger, who is charged with the murder, is a German about twenty five years of age, strong and athletic, being about six feet high. The coat which he had on was spotted with blood, and there were marks of blood upon the white palings of the gate at Mr. Lappe's house, where he ran after he was stabbed. The knife with which the wound was inflicted could not be found.

Coroner Alexander was sent for early on Sunday morning, and held an inquest upon the body. The verdict was that the deceased came to his death from a wound inflicted by Frederick Brenninger. An information was made against him for murder before Mayor Behaven, and he was finally committed to answer the charge of murder.

FIRST DAY.

THURSDAY, January 7.

MORNING SESSION.—At half past ten o'clock the prisoner was brought into Court and placed in the box; at eleven o'clock a jury was empaneled, consisting of the following gentlemen:

S. P. Hallis.	William Hill,
Robt. M'Ferron,	Wm. Bell.
Jacob Boen,	George Erdner,
Jno. Voeghtly,	S. K. Hagar,
Thos. Geoghegan,	Martin Hine,
Samuel Colmer,	Samuel Darlton.

During the selection of this jury, a discussion was raised as to whether the conscientious scruples of a juror were any impediment to his sitting on a murder case. The matter was settled by the juror stating, on a repetition of the question in a different form, that he had no scruples, and he was allowed to be sworn.

Mr. Collier opened the case for the Commonwealth in a few plain remarks. The first witness called for the prosecution was Samuel Wickline, who testified that he knew Matthias Frank; he came to his death by a cut in the neck; on Saturday night, after coming home from market and while feeding my horse, heard this party go past; they went down the road, talking; I stopped at the front of the house, and while I was there the deceased and another young man came to the gate and spoke to me; we talked a while there, and hearing a noise below, Henry Beckert, the young man with Frank, said they would go and see what it was; they were not long gone when I heard one of the party say, "Fred, what have you got in your hand?" heard this three times; when he asked him that, I could see that one of the party staggered back and fell; when he got up I saw him go toward the party; soon after I heard some one say he was shot; Frank came running up to where I was, and, opening the gate, I took me to help him—that he was cut; caught him and put my hand on the cut to keep the blood from coming out; held him there until the doctor came, when I let him go; I was with him till he died.

Here the counsel for the defence objected to the introduction of testimony concerning the dying declarations of the deceased, before evidence of the condition of the wounded man at the time had been offered. The testimony was, after discussion, admitted, when the witness proceeded to testify that the deceased had called a man into the room, and said, "Good-bye, Fred, I'm going to die;" he told him in my presence that Fritz had cut him, and that he had, done nothing to him; he wanted to speak all the time, but I was holding the wound and would not let him; held him until the doctor came; he told the Doctor, when he went to wash him, not to hurt him—to hold still; he told me that Brenninger had cut him, and that he had done nothing to him in his life; he died shortly after the Doctor came; this occurred in July last, in Reserve township, Allegheny county.

Cross-examined—Had not heard any person hallo, "My God, is there no one to assist me;" heard the man that was knocked down say, "Oh, Oh."

The time for adjournment having arrived, the Court took a recess until two o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.—At two o'clock the Court again convened, and the cross examination of Samuel Wicklinn was resumed. Witness said he had no conversation with Mr. Beckert about going to be a fight. When Frank was in the arms of witness he said that Fred or Fritz Brenninger cut him. Heard him repeat the remarks to me.

John Wicklinn, Jr., was next called. On his way home from town, at ten o'clock on the night of the 18th of July, with Henry Beckert and Matthias Frank, the deceased stopped at Gerst's and treated the company to a glass of beer. There were a number of persons sitting at a table, singing German songs. At twelve o'clock the party walked down street to go home, and Brenninger had his hand in his pocket; Gottlieb Geitz asked Brenninger what he had in his pocket, three times; Brenninger made a motion to draw his weapon, when Geitz knocked him down, but he got up immediately. Frank then cried to Gottlieb Geitz, "He has a pistol." Brenninger walked toward Frank and Geitz, and witness saw him strike four times (showing how he struck); did not know who he was striking. Deceased then came running toward witness, and said, "Oh! John, I am shot; Fritz shot me." Deceased asked witness to feel where he was wounded; he found the [illegible] rapidly that he could hardly keep his hand there. Deceased then got up and ran to witness' brother; when witness got there, deceased told witness' brother that Fritz had cut him. Witness then went for a Doctor, but could not get one.

On his cross examination the witness described the position of the parties when the affray took place. Brenninger had on a checked summer coat. This witness was pressed with a rigid cross examination by the counsel for the defence, apparently for the purpose of puzzling him, but with little success.

Henry Beckert was then called, and testified that he went to Gerst's beer hall on the night of the murder, with Wicklinn and deceased; there were seated around a table, Brenninger, Geitz, Uninger. All bright. Biesleine and Beehor, Matthias Frank treated all to the beer. At twelve o'clock we all left to go home. I got down to the plank road first, when they called me back. When I got there, deceased was at Gerst's pump, washing his nose, which was bleeding. We started together down the lane. On the plank road Wicklinn and Beehor had some words; the whole party were talking loud. I went down to Wicklinn's daughter Rosa's, and met Samuel Wicklinn at the door. Frank was there, but left and went to the crowd. I left soon afterwards, as the noise was increasing. When I returned to the crowd Geitz and Brenninger were quarreling. I did not see Brenninger cut Frank, and can not know he was hurt until he cried out that he was shot. I was one of the party who arrested the prisoner in bed; he feigned sleep; Samuel Wicklinn wakened him up, and we took him to the Mayor's office; there was blood on the collar of his coat.

On cross examination he stated that he was present at a conversation when Uninger request Geitz and Brenninger of being the cause of the affray; he got angry at him and pushed him back, but not into the run.

Dr. Hartmeyer saw Frank before he died. He gave a description of the wound, and said he believed the wound caused his death.

Lawrence Maxwell knew the deceased when alive; he had once worked for him. Frank sent for him before he died; said he was cut and was going to die; witness went for Dr. Hartmeyer; when the Doctor arrived, deceased said, Doctor, don't hurt me. Witness assisted in arresting Brenninger; saw blood on his shirt and coat.

Gottlieb Geitz sat at the affray; saw something in Brenninger's pocket; witness placed his hand on Brenninger and asked him what he had in his pocket; asked him the same question twice; got no answer; Brenninger then took it out, and witness saw it was a knife; Brenninger made a motion at witness with the knife, and witness knocked him down; he jumped up and ran towards witness and Frank; he cut down several times; saw him cut Frank at the head; Frank cried, "O, I am shot," and ran up the road; Brenninger run down the road; Henry Beckert ran after Brenninger; went up the road; saw Frank, but had no conversation with him.

This witness was cross examined, but no new facts were elicited.

The Court then adjourned.

Donation.—The Board of Managers of the Allegheny County Agricultural Society, at their meeting held on Wednesday, 6th inst., passed a resolution appropriating the sum of five hundred dollars to the Farm High School of Pennsylvania, to be paid on the 15th of July, 1858.

Odd Fellows' Hall.—The Stock Holders of the Odd Fellows' Hall Association will hold a meeting at the Odeon Buildings, on Fourth street, this evening.

Yesterday morning there were seven watch house cases before Mayor Weaver: four of them paid their fines, and the remainder were committed to jail.

Allegheny County Agricultural Society.—The annual meeting of the Allegheny County Agricultural Society was held on Wednesday, at the Society's rooms, Fifth street, Gen. J. M'K. Snodgrass in the Chair, and O. C. Shiras acting as Secretary.

On motion, a committee of three was appointed to nominate a ticket for Board of Managers for the current year.

The Society then balloted with the following result:—

President—J. M'K. Snodgrass.
Vice President—Benjamin Kelly.
Corresponding Secretary—R. M'Knight.
Recording Secretary—O. P. Shiras.
Treasurer—James Reed.
Board of Managers—Agricultural—John M'Kelvy, W. S. Bissell, Moses Chess, W. P. Ferrer, John Young, Jr., Z. Patterson, W. Oliver. Horticultural—William Martin, Sr., John Murdoch, Jr., J. S. Negley, C. L. Goehring. Mechanical—A. Speer, Samuel M'Kelvy, G. H. Thurston, Philip R. Ehrenfeld.
The Society adjourned.
The Board elect met and organized permanently by the unanimous re election by acclamation of Capt. John Young, Jr., as Chairman, and S. Schoyer, Jr., as Secretary of the Board for the year.
After the transaction of some unimportant business, the Board adjourned.

Pittsburgh Theatre.—Last evening Miss Angela Sefton made her fourth appearance on the Pittsburgh stage, in the character of Bertha Hardy, in the excellent comedy of Mr. Conway's, the "Belle's Stratagem." In the character she is very good, as well as in the laughable part of Estelle, in the "Debutante, or the First Night." Her father, too, is a first class comedian; there is delicacy in every action, and it is almost impossible to look at him without smiling. He has improved wonderfully since he last appeared on our board. The two together form an attraction which cannot fail to draw good houses.

This evening Miss Sefton takes a benefit, on which occasion she will appear as St. George in "St. George and the Dragoon," and as Angela, in the comedy of "M'lle Angela, or the Fawn of Crichton." In addition the Dragoon, and Dr. Rose. Mr. Sefton personates Jeremy Twitcher in the "Golden Farmer," a part in which he is perfectly at home. Such a bill as this will certainly draw an immense audience.

Allegheny City Democratic Executive Committee.—The following gentlemen have been appointed as the Democratic Executive Committee for Allegheny city, to serve one year. James M. Boyd, Esq., is Chairman of the Committee.

First Ward—Capt. D. Campbell, Thomas N. Smith, Chas. F. Porter.

Second Ward—Henry Shriver, Wm. A. Reed, Campbell Stewart.

Third Ward—Wm. M. Stewart, Geo. Gerst, James Ray.

Fourth Ward—John Connelly, Fred. Lye, William Herron.

Foster's Gayeties.—Gov. Foster is drawing good houses, and he is certainly deserving of them, for he offers to the public very attractive and entertaining bills. Last evening three pieces were produced in good style, "Rafaelle, the Reprobate," the "Widow's Victim," in which Harry Langdon introduced his imitations of celebrated actors, and the "Swiss Swains."

To-night, benefit of the Treasurer, Mr. Geo. Sigrist, on which occasion a variety of entertainment is offered. The "Stranger" and the favorite drama of the "Daughter of the Regiment" will be played. Johnny Ward, the favorite Pittsburgh dancer, will appear, and Julia M. Cooke will sing "Bobbing Around. This is a variety of attractions not often presented. So while you can see a good deal for a little money.

Fatal Accident.—A man named Frederick Wilhelm about thirty years of age, residing on Main street, Allegheny city, lost his life yesterday in the following manner: He was employed as an engineer at Thornberger's rolling mill, in the Fifth Ward, and while busily engaged in fixing the fly wheel was struck by the pitman and thrown into the pit in which the fly wheel revolved. The engine was immediately stopped and he was taken out. His head was horribly mangled, and his right arm torn completely off. An inquest was held by Coroner Alexander, and a verdict of accidental death rendered. The deceased leaves a family.

The Orphan's Fair.—This popular place of resort is still open, and, judging from the crowds we see going to and coming from the City Hall every night, is well patronized. We have not yet been so fortunate as to draw anything, but expect every evening to hear the announcement of our name in conjunction with a gold watch, a handsome chain, or some other valuable article. This evening, Smith's Brass Band is to be in attendance, and we may expect some fine music. The fair will remain open during the remainder of this week.

The Magnificent Panorama arranged on the second floor of Davis' new auction rooms, is to be exhibited to-day this morning at 10 o'clock. It embraces the largest and most splendid assortment ever offered in one sale; and as the sale is peremptory, in the order of catalogue, without reserve to bidders, all ladies and gentlemen wishing such articles should attend promptly at the hour.

Larceny.—A woman named Mary Grace was arrested yesterday morning and taken before the Mayor, charged with larceny in stealing a variety of household articles from a woman residing near her. The goods were found in her possession, and she was committed to jail for trial.

Battle of New Orleans.—The Jackson Blues, Capt. Alex. Hay, will parade to-day in honor of the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans. In the evening they will give a ball at their Armory, which will, no doubt, be a pleasant affair.

A man named Berthel or Bartol, who was employed as a driver at the coal pits of the Saw Mill Run Coal Company, struck his head against a piece of slate while driving out of the pit, on Monday last, and was so severely injured that he died almost instantly. He leaves a family.

The annual election of officers for the Young Men's Library Association will take place on next Monday evening. See advertisement.

Collision, the pickpocket noticed some days ago was convicted of larceny in the Court of Quarter Sessions yesterday. He will be sentenced on Saturday next.

FROM HARRISBURG.

HARRISBURG, January 7.—The Reports of the Departments were received to day.

James Orr Lowe was elected additional Sergeant-at-Arms by a vote of 49 against 12.

Mr. Voughtley offered resolutions in reference to the death of Mr. Buchtouse, late member of the House from Allegheny. Eulogistic remarks were made by Messrs. Voeghtley, Foster and Struthers.

In the Senate, Mr. Gazzam announced the death of Mr. Buchtouse, and both Houses adjourned till Monday in token of respect to the memory of the deceased.

The special election is appointed to be held on Tuesday, the 26th of January.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON CITY, January 7.—Senate.—J. H. Hammond, Senator from South Carolina, in place of Mr. Butler, deceased, took his seat in the Senate.

Mr. Seward, of New York, presented a petition from the citizens of Canandaigua, N. Y., praying for the adoption of some practical measure, by which the people of the North may co-operate with the people of the South in the extinguishment of slavery, by making a fair and honorable compensation to the slave owners for full value of their slaves. The petition was ordered to be laid on the table.

On motion of Mr. King a resolution was adopted requesting the President to furnish, if not incompatible with public interests, copies of the correspondence and despatches from our Ministers at the Courts of England, France, and other powers, on the subject of the danger to emigrants arising from contracting with irresponsible parties for their inland passage.

On motion of Mr. Foot, a resolution was adopted calling on the President to communicate all official despatches and correspondence of Robert Mclane and Peter Parker, late Commissioners in China, with the State Department.

On motion of Mr. Gwin, the Committee on Foreign Relations was instructed to inquire into the expediency of making an appropriation for compensation to a Minister Plenipotentiary to the Empire of Japan, and for other officers of the United States Government in that Empire.

A message was received from the President in response to the call for information relative to the recent events in Central America. While the President says that Gen. Paulding committed a great error in arresting Gen. Walker, he thinks it is evident that Gen. P. was actuated by patriotic motives and a desire of promoting the interests and maintaining the honor of the country. The government of Nicaragua sustained no injury by the act, but was rather benefitted; it alone would have a right to complain; it is quite certain that it will never exercise that right.

A long and warm debate ensued, in which Messrs. Seward of New York, Doolittle of Wisconsin, and Pearce of Maryland sustained the views of the President, and Messrs. Davis of Massachusetts, Crittenden of Kentucky, Brown of Mississippi, Pugh of Ohio, Toombs of Georgia, and Douglas of Illinois urged in opposition.

The message was then referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

The Senate then went into executive session.

House.—A select committee was appointed to inquire into circumstances attending the sale of Fort Snelling, which consists of Burnett, Morris, of Illinois, Morrell, Faulkner and Petrie.

To-morrow being the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans, it was agreed that when the House adjourns to day it will be till Monday. The House then went into a committee on the President's Annual Message.

Mr. Thayer maintained that if we wish we can and shall Americanize Central America, but have no desire to go beyond the interest of our national honor, by violating treaty stipulations or laws of the United States. The only proper way of effecting the object was by peaceful emigration, as the only method, and he desired the neutrality laws to be amended.

Mr. Washburne, of Maine, denounced the Lecompton Constitution and said that the administration never intended that the people of Kansas should decide the slavery question for themselves.

The House adjourned.

Abstract of Gov. Banks' Message, of Massachusetts.

BOSTON, January 7.—Gov. Banks' Message is mainly devoted to local affairs, but it closes with a review of the Kansas difficulties. The funded debt amounts to $1,300,000, and provision has been made for all but $15,000. Under the expenses are reduced to low water mark they were last year, there will be a deficit of $600,000 to be met by State taxes. He urges economy, and the reduction of the legislative session to sixty days, and the payment of members at their salaries. He also recommends the suppression of bank notes under five dollars, and after three or five years the suppression of notes under ten dollars. He refers the naturalization question to the Legislature, with whom he will cheerfully concur in the adoption of measures to maintain the purity of elections and protect the rights of American citizens. Concerning Kansas, he says that nothing but the direct intervention of federal influence can have saved Congress from the Lecompton Constitution. If the Government, without the sanction of the people, can force upon Kansas that Constitution—conceived by fraud and violence—it will be the weightiest blow ever given against free government.

Bank Report.

ALBANY, N. Y., January 7.—The report of the Bank Superintendent of this State has been submitted to the Legislature. He recommends that no mortgages be allowed to be taken hereafter as security for circulating notes, and to compel every incorporated bank gradually to replace its present circulation by one-quarter in specie and one-quarter in safe banks, and to compel all banks in the city of New York to keep twenty per cent. on their average weekly deposits of all descriptions in coin. Special deposits of coin not to form a part of the weekly statement. The banks out of the city are to keep the same per centage upon their average quarterly deposits either in coin or a balance to their credit in a solvent bank in New York, Brooklyn, Albany or Troy.

From Norfolk.

NORFOLK, January 7.—The sloop of-war Cyane, from Port au-Prince, via Havana, has arrived at this port. She has been 22 days on the passage. Her officers are all well. The Cyane brings Capt. Mayo, of the brig Packer, lately held as a prisoner at Cape Haytien, on an alleged charge of smuggling; also, the remains of the late Midshipman Broadhead. No deaths have occurred on the Cyane for 22 months.

The Spanish squadron remained at Havana.

Three hundred men had died by fever on the Spanish war ships.

There is considerable fever still at Havana; several members of the Opera troupe were ill.

From Utah.

ST. LOUIS, January 7.—St. Johns papers to the 29th state that an express passed through that place with despatches from Leavenworth, which bring the intelligence that a superior body of Mormons overpowered Col. Cook's command while passing from Harris Fork to Fort Bridger, butchering 200 and taking a number of prisoners, hanging all the officers then left into their hands. The report is doubtless false or greatly exaggerated.

Excitement in Canada.

SANDWICH, C. W., January 7.—Great excitement existed to-day in consequence of the Sheriff declaring M'Leod elected to Parliament over Rankin, the Ministerial candidate. From two to three thousand people assembled, and the Sheriff was obliged to flee to Michigan to save his life. M'Donald Reeve attempted to address the crowd, but he was beaten and severely injured.

Walker Indignation Meeting.

PETERSBURG, Va., January 6.—A Walker indignation meeting was held here this evening. The largest hall in the city was crowded. Among the speakers were Mr. Pryor, of Richmond, A. D. Banks, and others. Resolutions denouncing the arrest of Gen. Walker, by Com Paulding, were adopted.

From Havana.

NEW ORLEANS, January 7.—The Black Warrior has arrived with Havana dates to the 4th. The stock is quiet and prices nominal. Freights are inactive. The steamer Fashion was still at Havana; she is reported for sale but if not sold soon will return to the United States.

Finances in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, January 7.—The notes of the Miesouri banks are thrown out by our bankers. The Merchants' Bank of Cleveland are suspended.

Pennsylvania Legislature.

HARRISBURG, January 7.—The House passed resolutions of condolence in relation to the death of Hon. J. Buchtouse, and adjourned until Monday.

GRATITUDE.—If gratitude was ever evidenced among any class, it certainly has been with those who have used and tested the extraordinary virtues contained in Dr J. Hostetter's celebrated Stomach Bitters. Scarcely a day passes, we are informed, that the Doctor does not receive from some recent heart-stricken and solicitous patient, sister, brother, or friend, some testimonials, of deep and earnest gratitude, for his agency in restoring to health and wonted vigor, some kindred.
