THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE ON AFRICAN SLAVERY.

The President's message on African slavery, which he transmitted to Congress on January 7, 1899, has caused a great deal of discussion in the public mind. It is a subject which has long interested the American people, and it is one of the most important of the day. The President's message is a long and carefully considered document, and it contains many suggestions for the improvement of our present system. It is a message which is full of interest and of value.

THE CAUSES OF CRIME.

In the county jail at Allegheny county there are now confined four young men—three of them convicted capital. In the same prison there are one or two other young men charged with murder. The youth of these capital offenders is remarkable as one of their distinguishing characteristics. They are all young men, some of them not twenty years of age. Some of them are in the prison for the first offense, and some of them are in the prison for the second or third offense. The fact that these young men are in the prison is a very serious matter, and it is one which should not be overlooked.
