WATER .--- There is probably no part of this continent that boasts so large a number of bold, limpid springs, whose pure, cold waters gush forth to beautify the land. These springs and streams contain a great variety and abundance of excellent fish, and are driving the numerous mills and factories which supply the flour, meal, and lumber of this flourishing region, and they have abundant capacity to supply all the water power necessary to propel all the mills and factories demanded by any ordinary population. While the springs and streams, large enough to furnish excellent mill sites, are very numerous, the smaller fountains and branches are so abundant that scarcely a section is destitute of them. The pure limpid streams and fountains of the South west, are unrivalled for their beauty and adaptation to the wants of man. MINERALS .--- The mineral wealth of the region under consideration is very great, and cannot fail, when fully developed, to command the admiration of the world, and greatly increase the material wealth of our State. Building materials are very abundant in all parts. There is an ample supply of limestone, sand stone and marble suitable for all the purposes to which such materials are applied in domestic economy. Clays, sands, gravel and pebbles also exist in large quantities. Iron Ore of most excellent quality exists in great quantities. The red and brown hemiatites are the most common, they occur in the furruginous sandstone and are most abundant in the west and southwest of Green county. Furnaces might be established here with great promise of success. Zinc is also found in large quantities. Zinc blends (the black Jack of the miners) is abundant in nearly all the mines of the south-west. The carbonate and silicate of Zinc also occur in several localities. Whether these ores can be separated and melfed with profit, will be better etermined when we have made the analysis of them.

COLUMBIA, Mo., January 11, 1858. H. D. DOWNLY, Esq., President of the Swan Creek Lead and Copper Mining Company-Sir: In answer to your inquiries respecting the min-eral resources of the lands of the "Swan Creek Lead and Copper Mining Company," in Taney county, Missouri, I am compelled to speak from an examination of a part only of the territory in which those lands are located. I traversed the northern half of township 26 north, in range 18 and 19 West, of the 5th principal meridian.

All the rocks in these townships, and in fact in the townships south of them, belong to the Magnesia Limestone series, which contain nearly all the vast deposits of Iron, Lead, Zinc, Copper and Cobalt of our State. These townships have every appearance of being one of the richest mineral regions of the State. The county is very rugged and broken, with a great abundance of all the minerals and geological features, which usually accompany Lead, Zinc, Iron and Copper. I can safely say, I saw more or less of Lead and Iron in every section I passed over in Taney county, and Zine seen traversing the tocks in several places. The following from my Geological report will give a general view of the resources of South Western Missouri. These are from the Report on the South Western Branch of the Pacific Rail-

TOPOGRAPHY.—That portion of the State over which the South Western Branch of the Pacific Railroad passes, in its course from Lebanon, in La Clede county, to the State line in Newton, is a high undulating table land, rather than a part of the Ozark Mountains, as it is usually repre-sented on the maps of the county. COPPER.-The sulphuret and the carbonates of opper were observed at several localities in the ines of Taney county, in the Granby mines at Spurgeon's Prairie, and at several localities in the western part of Lawrence. The most promising localities are those in Lawrence and Greene, and the "Goose Diggings" in Taney.

Lead is to be the great staple of the southwest. Some years ago, I reported it one of the best lead regions of the world. All the subsequent developments have proved the accuracy of that estimate of the mineral treasures of Jas-per and Newton counties. Since that time many of the localities have been more fully devoloped with great success, and various new ones have been explored with results in some cases still

The mines on Spring River, on Turkey Creek, and in Spurgeon's Prairie, still promise the most satisfactory returns, while at Granby, on the northern border of Oliver's Prairie, the results

POPULATION .--- In 1850 this region had a population of about 30,000, which has since rapidly increased. The country is sparsely settled with a hardy, energetic, intelligent, and thrifty yeonanry; while the towns are flourishing and rapidly filling up with a wealthy and refined popund most liberally endowed with the large State School Funds, and liberal grants of public lands. The bottoms produce a growth of timber equal in size and quality to any in the State. Several trees were measured in the bottoms; a sycamore whose circumference was twenty-eight feet, burr oak twenty-six feet, black walnut twenty-three feet, and a thick shellbark hickory twenty-three feet.

The prairies are usually fertile, and clothed in a rank growth of native grass. No country is better watered; its streams are numerous, limnid, and filled with a great variety and abundance of fish, and its springs are pure and wonderfully large. The agricultural resources of the south west have been vastly underated.

THE GRAPS. --- The southwest is doubtless better adapted to the culture of the grape than any of this or the neighboring States. Nature has endowed this part of the country with a temperste, dry and salubrious climate, and a light rich calcareous and vegetable soil, which produces a Size a block, viz: Size a
