past contests, we shall behold the success, the glorious triumph, of our flag; and therefore 1 ata not to be controlled by your elequence, much less seduced by it from the path which the clear convictions of duty and principle point out.

(Applause.) In regard to the first four propositions in the sub stitute for the report of the committee which I had the bonor to submit, I would say they wore taken from the works of Algernon Sydney; him whose head was cut off for advocating the principles of English liberty. And I am told that I am to have mine cut off. [Great laughter.] Now, bir, we have changed the mode of doing these things. He was led to the scaffold in the light of day, by the men of his time, they having the manliness to dispose of him in that way. But now, the descendants of those whose ancestors shed their blood for you and the freedom of our common country, are to have their heads cut off in a meaner way [Sensation and applause] But, whatever may be the result, sir, I am willing to live or die by that declaration of principles which our fathers pro-claimed and endorsed as the great principles of liberty and justice-those principles whose fragrant incense are ever ascending to the throne of the Eter nal Father. [Loud and enthusiastic applause.] ---BREAD .- It is said that one of the most wholesome kinds of bread that can be used is made thus, without salt, saleratus, yeast, or raising of any sort; "Take bolted or unbolted flour or meal; thoroughly moisten the whole with pure soft water, scalding hot, that is about one hun dred and sixty degrees Fahrenheit; make it up firm, not sticky; then roll and cut into strips or sny other form, not over a quarter of an inel thick, and half an inch broad. Bake quickly in a hot oven, until the dough has acquired a soft fine, brown color, or until the water has nearly all evaporated." Hydropathists say that a sweet er bread than this was never tasted. It certain ly is pure bread, cannot sour, will keep almost indefinitely; and if made of unbolted flour, must be the most healthful and nutrinous bread that can be prepared. But people will not use it, be cause they have not been accustomed to it. as Hans would never use an iron tire to his ca wheel, because he had never seen one used. AN ORGANIC DIFFICULTY .- A parish in th west of England, after much effort, lately purchased a self-acting organ, warranted to play lothes twenty tunes, and a larger congregation that usual met to inaugurate it. The first psalm has been successfully brought to an end, when after short pause, the organ chose to commence pashing tune No 2. In vain the officiating person on deavored to stop it-in vain the church warden left their own pews to stifle its noise; still th organ as though uncontrollably pleased with its own execution, kept on with the new air. What was to be done ? The service was suspended in the hope that the musical stranger might be con tent when the second tune was played out. Van expectation! It commenced No 3! and nothing remained but to carry the indefatigable instru ment into the churchyard, and there to cover i with vestry carpet to choke its voice, for on and on it went, till inne No 20 had been played out, much to the edification of the less attentive par of the congregation, who could hear only he smothered melodies.-London Times.
