Apologetic. The machinery of our Power Press has been somewhat disarranged for a week or two past, which has rendered it impossible for us to supply all our mail subscribers and those residing in the suburbs of the city. with their papers as promptly as usual. We hope a day or two will relieve us from this annoyance, and meantime we must beg the indulgence of our subscribers.

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION. The nominating Convention of the Black Republicans assembles to-day at 10 o'clock-The candidates are all as busy as bees, and some of them are getting "very mad" as they see their chances for preferment gradually fading away. Some very confident ones, who say they have a "sure thing," will have long faces before night. For two or three days, the excitement has been waxing hotter and hotter, and tosday we shall not be surprised if some of the patriots boil over-those tha succeed, with joy, and those that do not, with rage. Before sunset several people will be standing on the corners complaining that they have been "most awfully cheated." I the second edition of the Post, which will b issued at three o'clock this afternoon, we shall give the proceedings of the Convention up to that hour, and if the political fever rises t fever heat, we may issue a third edition. So look out for the afternoon Post.

THE SAESGERBUND. We publish on the first page of this morngerbund Festival, which is to take place in this city next week.

Our German ferlow citizens certainly take the lead of all others in the matter of rational amusements. Their Turner Festivals their Singing Societies and Festivals, and their other national associations for the purnose of amusement and wholesome pleasure, might well be imitated by all classes. On the occasion of gatherings like that which is to take place in Pittsburgh next week, the German population devote their undivided attention to the entertainment of themselves and their guests. As a nation, the Germans possess a high degree of musical taste, which they cultivate to a degree of rare excellence Music is to every German a source of unalloved enjoyment, and the Faderland forshes the world with a larger number of put together. This taste for music exercises a wholesome and humanizing influence upon them as a people. No class of our citizens is as careful, industrious and prosperous, as the Germans. Unobtrusively and quietly they attend to their own business, and rarely inter-the vices of drunkenness, gambling, &c., are c'erical delevate, not met with except in rare instances. Their national beverage, the Lager Beer, furnishes a wholesome substitute for the stimulus of convicted. THIRTY-PIFTH CONGRESS FIRST SESSION.

Yesterday's Proceedings.

Mr. Mason, from the Committee on Foreign Af fairs, reported a bill authorizing the Executive to employ the naval torce in pretent the rights of our citizens from outrages by their nations, having especial reference to Central America and South America. This is the bill recently reported by Mr. Douglas, with slight alteration by the committee.

Mesers, Mason, Gwin of California, and Houston f Texas, argued the importance of immediate ac tion, so as to obtain the concurrence of the Houle before adjournment Mr. Seward expressed his strong disapprobation of the measure. The Appropriation bill was debated at great leng h the friends of internal improvements, especially nent after amendment for appropriations to lake and iver harbors. Nothing was accomp ished, and at our o'clock the Senate took recess till six o'clock. On re-assembling, the debate was resumed. Mr. Seward, of New York, made a powerful appea r Western interests. The proposition under consideration was to approriate $54,000 for the improvement of the St. Clair lats. It was lost by a tie vote-yeas 20, nays 20. Mr. Pugh, of Ohio, moved an amendment virtual engraft the whole river and harbor bill as an addi onal section to his bill, and asking an appropriation or the narbors of Chicag , Milwaukee, Snebeygan . Mr. Pugh's amendment was then voted on and reected—yeas 23, mays 20.

Mr. Pugh moved to strike out all the appropria ions for life-boats and life-saving stations on the Atlantic coast, with the view, as he said, of ascertaining whether the Northwestern States are to have ustice, or to be created as mere conquered provinces.

Mr. Seward declared that he could not support any uch proposal, and the Senate veted it down-year Mr. Polk, of Missouri, moved to reduce the appropriation for a coast survey from $250,000 to $150,000.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. Mr. Morrill spoke of a great wrong having been lone in the sale of the reservation. A frank and honorable man, placed in the position of Secretary of War, when he found that he made a blunder and a mistake in the appointment of agents or supering the state of the supering that the supering the state of the supering that the supering the supe tendents, would have frankly admitted the fact and corrected it; but instead of that there was no: only a remarkable persistent and studied effort to justify wrong, but an actempt to persuade us he was right in deliberate concealment of the preliminaries preceding the sale. No corpse is the Catacomb: more cl sely tocked up than this transaction. No one could worm out of the Secretary what was going on. Mr. Morrin remewed the testimony, condemning the New York and Virginia combination, arguing that the property was sold for less than its value, disapprobation on the whole manner by which the sale was offected.

Mr. Faulkner expressed his disapprobation of the of the Committee, in which this transaction we sprosented to the country in a light wholly different from what the testimony warranted. As a report, he had part zan spirit. The document was loss and .73' curate in its statements of the evidence. The C mittee omitted to do justice to the Secretary of ther in the only virtual and material point. They were re quired to ascertain whether any corruption existed in high places of the theveromone; and it is, to bring the offender to punishment. Not a week or 2,963,066 syllable in the testimony tojurtously affecting the 5,200 official character and purity of the Secretars of War, and this fact should have been cheerfully announced to the House. He showed that the Fort Spoiling reservation was useless for military pur-poses to the Government. The Legislative Assembly end the Constitutional Convention of Minner pland estimated the Government to solvit. The land comnanded a higher price than any soid since the commencement of the Government, except a little spewithin the corporate limits of Chicago.

Mr. Morris, of Illinois, understood that the Wilat's Point Investigating Committee would report o-morrow, and as tuat subject and this were some hat connected, they should be considered together The same parties who purchased the Fort Snelling erament the Willet's Point property.

Mr. Florence seid that Mr. Morris knew more han he did, if the Committee was to report to m wrow Mr Morris repried that he was 30 informed by the Theirman of the Committee. Mr. Dawes, of Massachusetts, said that, having re orts and evidence, he had come to the conclusion to support the condemnatory resolutions of the majori The sale of Fort Snelling, for the price, to cer ain persons, and, at the time, was the consumm dion a scheme laid in the past administration, and carried out in the present, under the eyes of the Secretare of War, in such a manner that blindness to it was a grievous official fraud. He did not care what the property brought; the House had to do with the secret sale, and with the special favorites who take rich slices of the public domain to their heart's content at any price. Mr. Bishop, of Connecticut, said that this move ment was set on foot for the purpose of gratifying a spirit of public dishonesty which soeks to establish its own purity and perfection by heaping disgrace upon those entitled to the highest confidence and respect. The whole report of the Committee, from beginning to end-its statements, arguments, asdence of a decolution party scheme against one of the chief officers of the Government, whom he beleved to be as honest a man as was ever honored with the position of Secretary of War. He contended that Secretary Floyd's course was in accoriance with law, and, therefore, not void, as the Comnittee assert. The Secretary was bound to dispose co Fort Snelling, it being no longer necessary for military purposes.

Mr. Grow, of Pennsylvania, refuted the defence made by the gentleman from Connecticut. He re-garded the Secretary of War as a second Jackson price, against the advice of Generals Scott, Jessup and others. The Secretary had no authority to sell any military reservation unless properly ascertained to be useless for defensive purposes; otherwise he is subject to impeachment. He has violated the law of Congress and trampled down the rights of the prople, under the sanction of the President.

Mr. Phelps, of Missouri, replied, saying that the law gives the Secretary authority to dispose of reservations by private or public sale, for it sometimes ocurs that better prices are obtained by the forme than by the latter mode, and the case in point showed that a portion of the Fort Snelling property was pre-viously sold at public sale for a dollar and a quarter that the Secretary pursued the course for which he i now arraigned. Mr. Cavanaugh, of Minnesota, defended the sale of Fort Snelling, which the Republicans made use of as a cats-paw to plack their political chesnuts out of

Mr. Stanton, of Ohio, would not say that the Sec Mr. Stanton, of Onio, would not say that the Sec-rotary was guilty of an overt act, but that he was surrounded by such associations as to throw suspi-cions over the transaction. There was a fraudulent combination between the agent of the Government and the purchasers of the reservation.

Mr. Burnett, of Kentucky, said that when the Republicans charged fraud, they ought to remember hat history shows that all the frauds and corrup tions of public men are found on that side. He defended the course of the Sccretary.
