THE KNOW NOTHING TICKET The Journal does not like the ticket nomi nated on Wednesday. It says it "knows all the men nominated," but that the " Convention did not decide as we would have done.' We have not a doubt of it. T. J. Bigham, editor of the Journal, was a candidate for State Senate, and received 8 votes out of 131, on the first ballot, and none on the second. In this matter, the convention certainly did not decide as Mr. Bigham would have done. the sentiments which accompanied it were of But men will differ in their estimation of the personal and political merits of candidates for official honors. The Journal does not respect of the men under his charge as well as swallow the whole ticket, however, for it omits the name of Mr. McKnight, the candidate for Congress in the 22d district altogether. What's in the wind?

The Gazette places the ticket at its mast head. It had'nt time to make any remarks as the Convention adjourned at a late hour. Not one of its editors had the heart to speak under the circumstances. It is going to speak however, and we will not judge of the manliness of its course until it has spoken. It closes some remarks introducing the ticket with the following paragraph :

"We subjoin the list of nominations made; and regret that the late hour to which the balloting was prolonged, prevents us from indulging in any remarks upon the nominees. We shall give opinions to-morrow, frankly, and without reservation.'

The public will look with curiosity and anx. prentice boy, he has risen, by his own exeriety for the "frank and unreserved" opinions | tions, to the foremost rank in his profession-

THE BEIGN OF BAIN. His numerous friends in Pittsburgh will read with pleasure the following article, complimentary in the highest degree to Mr. Grier, which we find in the last number of the Altoona Tribune. It is all well deserved. of the charms of the " balmy May Many of our readers are, no doubt, aware of the promotion of George W. Grier, E-q., late Foreman of the Pittsburgh Shops, to the respon-Were a theme for a dulcet lay sible position of "Master of Machinery," over the entire line of the Pennsylvania Railroad.-This appointment necessarily involved his removal to this place, and dissolved, in a partia Firemen of the Western Division, many of whom had drawn the first throttle and thrown the first stick of wood under his administration, and who could not suffer the relations which had so long and satisfactorily existent between them, to be diesolved without testifying, in a suitable manner, the high estimation in which be was held by them, as an officer and a gentleman. Acordingly the presentation of a gold watch and chain was decided upon, in pursuance of which a committee, consisting of William Wills, representing the Passenger Engineers-James Smith, regresenting the Freight Engineers, and John . Ridley, representing the Firemen, arrived in this place by the Express Train, on Monday morning, and having called Mr Grier into his office, Mr. Wills presented the token, accompanied by a few appr: priate remarks He assured Mr G, that wherever his lot might be cast i the future, the well-wishes of the entire Division would accompany him and that so long as their sustaining him as one man; confident that en from their ranks solely by his own untiring exertions and acknowledged abilities-would properly appreciate a faithful discharge of duty on their part, and at the same time ask nothing PITTBURGH, MAY 27. at their hands which the best interests of the ompany and the men did not alike demand. Mr. Grier was evi shows that they are not insensible to the right ently much affected by the affair, and remarked of humanity that, much as he prized the token just received. Yet, if we are to accept the authority of the correspondents of the London papers, the barmuch more value to him. Being perfectly satisbarity of Sepoy assassins was surpassed by the fied that no officer can satisfactorily discharge bloody work of British soldiers in the sack of his duties unless he enjoys the confidence and Lucknow. that of the officers placed over him, he had always endeavored to secure this, and was pleased to know that he had to some extent succeeded that his course in the future, in the performance of the duties of his new office, would be directed to the same end, and he hoped with a like result. Mr. G. again thanked the gentlemen for their elegant present he had received at their hands, advising them to continue to perform their duties in a satisfactory manner so long as they remained in the service of the Com pany, and assuring them that by endeavoring to promote its interests, they would certainly promote their own.

The committee then withdrew, evidently much pleased with the interview and interchange of riendly feelings.

It always gives us pleasure to record evidences of good will existing between employers and employees, but in this case we have a peculiar gratification. Mr. Grier is emphatically a working, as well as a self-taught man, and is always ready to put his shoulder to the wheel when necessity requires. From a poor ap-
