"Good Stock." The Gazette, in a leader eulogistic of the ticket nominated by the late Know-Nothing Convention, speaks of one of the nominees as coming of "good stock," and of another as belonging to a "family well and favorably known." We suppose these gentlemen are to be elected for the sake of "blood." Some of the candidates are puffed because they are "mechanics," and others because they are "gentleman's sons." The Gazett is not, however, altogether satisfied with the political stock, for it says: "Such is the ticket presented to our political friends. It is not of course, as a whole, what every one of then desired, but it was impossible that all our personal preferences should be gratified. Which is it the that Gazette objects to-the

A Strange Coincidence. The Chairman of the late Know-Nothing Convention has announced the Executive Committee for the ensuing year. A. M Brown, (K. N.) Chairman, has called the first meeting of the Committee for "June 16th, at 11 o'clock, A. M."-the same day and the same hour for which the Democratic County Committee had been called some days since.
