MRS. BADGERY.

le there any law that will protect me from Mrs. Badgery I am a bachelor, and Mrs. Badgery is a widow Let noboly rashly imagine that I am about to relate a common place grievance because I have suffered that first sentence to escape my pen. My objection to Mrs. Badgery is, not that she too fond of me, but that she is too fond of the memory of her late husband. She has not attempted to marry me; she would not think of marrying me, even if I asked her. Understand, therefore, if you please, at the outset that my grievance in relation to this widow lady is a grievance of an entirely new kink Let me begin again. I am a bachelor of certain age. I have a large circle of acquaint ances; but I solemnly declare that the late Mr Badgery was nover numbered on the list of my friends. I never heard of him in my life:

never knew that he had a reliet; and never set eyes on Mrs. Badgery until one fatal morning, when I went to see if the fixtures were all right in my new home. My new house is in the suburbs of London, looked at it, liked it, took it. Three times I visited it before I sent my furniture in. Once with a friend, once with a surveyor; once by myself to throw a sharp eve, as I have already intimated, over the fixtures. The third visit marked the fatal occasion on which I first saw Mrs. Badgery. A deep interest attaches to this event, and I shall go into details in describ-

I opened the door of the front drawing roomand there sitting in the middle of the bare floor, was a large weman on a little camp-atool! She was dressed in the deepest mourning, her face wrs hidden by the thickest crape veil I ever saw, What did I do? Do! I bounced back into renthesis, that the printer will follow my spelstead, both of which are base compromises which represent no sound that ever yet issued from any Englishman's lips.) I said "Hullo!" and then I turned round fiercely upon the old woman who kept the house, and then said "Hul-

She understood the irrisistible appeal that I had made to her feelings, and curtseyed, and looked towards the drawing room, and humbly hoped that I was not startled or put out. I asked who the crape covered woman on the campstool was, and what she wanted there. Before the old woman could answer, the soft grosning in the drawing-room ceased, and a mudled voice, speaking from behind the crape veil, ad dressed me represchielly, and said:

"I am the widow of the late Mr. Badgery." What did It say in answer? Exactly the words which, I flatter myself, any other sansible man in my situation would have said. And what words were they? These two:

"Mr. Badgery and myself were the last tenants who inhabited this house," continued the muffled voice. "Mr. Badgery died here."-The voice ceased, and the soft ground began It was perhaps not necessary to answer this; but I did answer it. How? In one word:

"Our house has been empty," resumed the voice, choked by sobs. "Our establishment has been broken up. Being left in reduced circumstances, I now live in a cottage near; but it is not home to me. This is home. However long I live, wherever I go, whatever changes may happen to this beloved house, nothing can ever prevent me from looking at it as my home. I came here, sir, with Mr. Badgery after my honeymoon. All the brief happiness of ray life was once contained in these four walls. Every dear remembrance that I fonely cherish is shut up in these sacred rooms."

Again the voice ceased, and again the soft grosus echoed around my empty walls, and cozed out past me down my uncarpeted staircase. I reflected. Mrs. Badgery's brief happiness the list of fixtures. Why could she not take them away with her? Why should she leave of the case strongly to Mrs. Radgery, when she suddenly left off groaning, and addressed me

"While this house has been empty," she said, "I have been in the habit of looking in from time to time, and renewing my tender associations with this place. I have lived as it were in the sacred memories of Mr. Badgery and the past, which these dear, these priceless rooms call up, a remuneration to the attendant for any slight trouble that I might occasion-' "Only sixpence, sir," whispered the old wo-

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. DR. R. A. WILSON'S

Tonic, Cathartic, and Anti-Dyspeptic PILLS,

AS AN ANTI-DYSPEPFIC—They neutralize and interrupt the formation of acids, check fermentation, and prevent the elimination of gases from the food in the stomach,—the direct consequences of chemical action—an action which should never exist in the human stomach. From these peculiarities in the Pills, a person taking them may expect a free, full and natural eracuation of the bowels, without pain, nausea, local or general debility, or that disgusting alckness or costiveness—the usual effects which attend or follow the use of other purges.

CERTIFICATES. Extract of a letter from H. F. Furnsworth & Co., Druggists, Memphis, Tennessee, Jahuary 7, 1858.

Messrs. B. L. Faunestock & Co.—We were the first to incroduce Dr. R. Adams Wilson's Pills here many years ago. They were the best Pill ever in this market. We use no other in our own families, and secured for them a high other in our own families, and secured for them a high tharacter by our recommendations. Yours, traly,

H. F. FARNESWONTH & CO.

Extract of a letter from G. W. Inwin, Nachville, Tennessee, Edwardy 15, 1858.

Messas, B. L. Farnesson; & Co.—Dear Sir: I have seen Dr. R. A. Wilson's Pills used for the ague with good effect; I have used thora myself, and believe them to be the best Pill in use I have no doubt they will cure many other complaints when properly used, and I cheer.ully recommend them to the public. Respectfully, yours,

G. W. IRWIN.

From Colonel Web. Hopkins, late Cinal Commissioner. From Colonel Wm. Hopkins, late Canal Commissioner.
Washington, Pa January S, 1858—Dear Doctor: I have been using your "Anti-Dyspeptic" Pills, when occasioned required, for many years, and can truthfully say that I have never found any medicine equal to them in relieving me from affections of the stomach and head. They have never falled to relieve me from headache, and have atways left my system in better condition they found it. I must condidently recommend your Pills as a safe and highly valuable medicine.

Very respectfully, etc.,

Very respectfully, etc., WM. HOPKINS. DR. R. ADAMS WILSON. Dn. R. Adams Wilson.

From Thos. Blackmore, Esq., Treasurer of Allegheny Co., Pa.

To in. R. A. Wilson.—Dear Sir.: I have been using your Pills since 1840, and do decidedly say they are the best Pill in use, or that I have any knowledge of. I first used them for "sick headache," with which I saffered beyond description; I am happy to say, that they entirely cured me. bince they I use them as a family medicine; if I am bilious, or anything alls me, and I require medic ne, I take a Pill, and it curs me; they are my only medicine, and have been for the last seventeen years.

THOS. BLACKMORE.

January 8, 1358.

Hear Dr. Keyser.

MESSES B. L. FABINESTOCK & CO—I have had considerable MISSES B. L. FABRESTOCK & CO—I have had considerable experience in the use of the extraordinary Pill compounded by Dr. R. Adams Wilson, of which you are now the proprietors, and have often felt their beniga influence in my own case for "nervous headache," arleing from a disordered condition of the stomach. I have likewise prescribed them for others, in cases of "hemicrania" and other forms of headache depending on a deranged and irritable condition of the stomach and digestive organs, of which they seem peculiarly adapted, being outrally free, rom any criping tendency. y adapted, being entirely free rom any griping tendency regard them as a very valuable Pill, and one that purge rithout at all debilitaring. Yours truly,
GEO. H. KEYSER, 140 Wood street.
