PROVIDENCE.

"From seeming evil still deducing good."

The stone upon the wayside seed that fell,
And kept the spring rain from it, kept it, too,
From the bird's mouth; and in that silent cell
It quickened, after many days, and grew;
Till, by and-by, a rose, a single one,
Lifted its little face unto the sun.

It chanced a wicked man approached one day,
And saw the tender, piteous look it wore;
Perhaps one like it, somewhere far away,
Grew in a garden-bed, or by the door
That he in childish days had played around,
For his knees, trembling, sank upon the ground.

Then, o'er this piece of bleeding earth, the tears
Of penitence were rung, until at last
The golden key of love—that sin for years
In his unquiet soul had rusted fast—
Was loosened, and his heart, that very hour,
Opened to God's good sunshine, like a flower.

[From the Philadelphia Press.

COL. EPHRAIM BLAINE.

Interesting Reminiscenses.

In the third volume of the New American cyclopedia, recently issued from the press of the Messrs. Appleton, we find the following brief sketch of an eminent Pennsylvanian of the revolutionary era:

"BLAINE EPHRAIM, an officer in the revolutionary war, belonging to the Pennsylvania line, died at Carlisle, Pa., 1808. He entered the army as a Colonel, at the commencement of the war and was subsequently made Commissary General. His services were gallant and patriotic. He was with Washington, in many of the most trying scenes of the revolution, and enjoyed the confidence of his chief, to the fullest extent. During the 'dark winter' at Valley Forge, the preservation of the American army from starvation were in a great degree owing to the exertions and sacrifices of Col. Blaine."

It would be impossible to do justice within a single paragraph, to the memory and services of so gallant a soldier, so valuable an officer and worthy a man, as Col. Ephraim Blaine. Living on his princely estate of "Middlesex," in the county of Cumberland, at the time of the revolution was inaugurated, he at once offered his personal services and his large means, to the patriot cause.—He was forthwith commissioned by the continental Congress as a Colonel, was attached to the Pennsylvania line of troops, and did not "ground arms" until the contest was over and the victory won. It happened from the outset of his service, he was thrown much in contact with General Washington, and the result was a warm friendship between the two, which manifested itself in a cordial correspondence through a period of more than fifteen years—many of Washington's letters being still in the possession of Col. Blaine's descendants.

Owing to his own marked and meritorious services, both in "camp and field," and aided perhaps by the personal friendship of Washington, Col. Blaine was appointed to the very important post of "Commissary General of the Northern Department," in the year 1778, about the time that the distinguished Gen. Wadsworth was appointed to a similar rank in the Southern department. In this large and most reponsible sphere of duty, Col. Blaine, won imperishable laurels. The district over which he was made "General of Commissariat" extended from the Maryland line northward, including Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, and New England, and it was to his great energy, and often times the means which he had the individual and personal influence to command, that the "Patriot army" was kept from actual want and starvation.—The large operations for army "supplies" which Col. Blaine negotiated may be inferred from the fact that at one time, (Jan. 1780) the Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania, drew a single warrant in favor of one million of dollars to reimburse him for advances which his own exertions and his own means had provided: and at another time a warrant for seven hundred and fifty thousand was credited to him by the same authority in payment of similar negotiations. During the "dark winter" at Valley Forge, the most critical and trying period perhaps in our whole seven years struggle, the American army was left, at one time, almost entirely dependent on Col. Blaine's efforts, and the faithful and heroic manner in which he discharged his duties at that period was always spoken of in terms of the highest praise by Washington.

Colonel Blaine was with Washington in several of the most critical epochs in the long struggle for our liberties, and was among the most "tried, true and trusted," to the last. At the close of the Revolution he retired to his estates at "Middlesex," which had become greatly impaired by his long absence, though they were still magnificent in their extent and resources. He re beside for more than a quarter of a century after the war, in true manorial dignity and hospitality, entertaining his numerous visiters in a style of liberality suited to his social rank and public position and admirably illustrating the character of the Pennsylvania gentleman of the "olden time." It was at his house that President Washington and suite were entertained when they journeyed to the interior of the State on that eventful expedition. called out by the Whisky Insurrection of the Western counties in 1794. During Washington's Presidency, Colonel Blaine spent many of his winters in Philadelphia, forming one member of that "Republican Court" which surrounded and gave eclat and dignity to the social rule of our first and great chief magistrate. Colonel Blaine's son, James Blaine, went abroad in 1791 as an attache to one of the American embassies, and was made a few years after, the bearer to this country of the celebrated "Jay's Treaty," which was the cause of such an angry congressional controversy immediately after its reception, and which resulted in the permanent estrangement from Washington of some who had been previously reckoned as among his devoted political friends. James Blaine, at the time of his return from Europe was considered to be among the most accomplished and finest looking gentleman in Philadelphia—then the centre of fashion, elegance, and learning on this continent. His reputation as a model gentleman was honorably sustained throughout life. He died a few years since in Washington county, Pennsylvania, whither he removed after the death of his father. It may be mentioned here that Colonel Blaine was one of the original members of the Pennsylvania Society of the "Cincinnati."

The domestic and family history of Col. Blaine were quite as remarkable and interesting as his public career was honorable and patriotic. Shortly after the war was over he lost his first wife, who was a Miss Galbraith, of a well known Scotch family. He passed some years as a widower, and his second marriage was somewhat singular and romantic, to say the least. In the town of Carlisle, near which his estate of "Middlesex" lay, one Judge Duncan was among the most prominent citizens—a man of social rank and high spirit, and some years the junior of Col. Blaine. A personal difficulty happened between Judge Duncan and a lawyer of the Cumberland county bar, named Lamberton, and the result was that a challenge passed and was accepted. The second of Judge Duncan was James Blaine, the son of Col. Blaine, already alluded to. The issue of the duel was the instant death of Judge Duncan, shot with a rifle ball directly in the forehead. And now for the singular sequel. A few years elapsed and Col. Blaine married Judge Duncan's widow—the widow of the man for whom his son had acted second in the duel which proved fatal to him. This lady survived Col. Blaine a long number of years, and after his death resided in Philadelphia.—Her residence was one of the elegant mansions on Walnut street, west of Twelfth, and here she lived in style of true elegance and social distinction until she attained the ripe age of ninety. She died as lately as 1850, and is buried in a family lot at Laurel Hill.—The descendants and collateral connections of Col. Blaine in Pennsylvania, and in many other parts of the Union, are quite numerous; In this State, the family is intimately interwoven with the Lyons, the Russells, the Ewings, the Alexanders, the Andersons, the Reeds, the Walkers, the Gillespies, and numerous other branches of the old Pennsylvania stock. The son of Col. Blaine's second wife, Dr. Stephen Duncan, of Natchez, Miss., is widely known as one of the wealthiest planters of the South, his estate being reckoned by millions, while he was otherwise known as the most high-minded, philanthropic and Christian of men. Robert J. Walker, late Governor of Kansas, and so distinguished as a Democratic statesman, belongs to the same stock, being a nephew, we believe, of Col. Blaine's wife. Hon. Samuel Russell, late Representative in Congress from the Bedford district, in this State, and Hon. A. L. Russell, late Secretary of State, are grand-nephews of Col. Blaine. Hon. John H. Ewing, former Representative in Congress from the Washington district, married a grand daughter of Col. Blaine; and Robert C. Walker, Esq., well known in our State, and now connected with the Agricultural bureau, at Washington, is connected by a similar tie. A branch of the family is to be found in South Carolina, intermarried with the Wheatons, of that State; another branch is settled in New Jersey; another in Missouri; another in Iowa; and still another in Arkansas; while one lineal descendant, a grand-son of Col. Blaine, has wandered off northward to New England. We allude to James G. Blaine, Esq., formerly a resident of this city, and a successful contributor to the Whig press, but who now resides in Maine, and edits one of the leading Republican papers of that State.—The male members of the blood, leaving the family name, are scarce. At one time, since the death of Col. Blaine, he had five namesakes among his relatives, but not one of them now survives. The name itself, therefore, belongs to comparatively few, while the blood flows in the veins of a very large number.

It is interesting thus to trace out the ties of consanguinity, which bind the present generation to the worthy and good men of the past. We have no sympathy with that miserable and sickly feeling which induces a man to live on the reputation of his ancestry, and we have just as little with that affected contempt for a "goodly family stock" which certain persons are in the habit of parading. The true feeling and true ambition should be to cherish a worthy pride in one's honorable ancestry by emulating their worthy deeds. We believe, at all events, in keeping the patriotic deeds of our Revolutionary heroes fresh in the remembrance of posterity, and we have therefore thought that nothing would prove more acceptable to Pennsylvania readers than this brief sketch of Colonel Ephraim Blaine, of Middlesex.

Police Items.—Emily Wray was arrested by the Mayor's police for striking a young woman named M'Clelland with a pair of knucklers, in the Sixth Ward. She was sent up for ten days.

J. C. Reese charged J. B. M'Laughlin with fraud in procuring credit for fifty dollars' worth of fish on the pretence that he owned property. M'Laughlin was arrested, and the case was settled by some of his friends paying for the fish.

John Stancliffe, who was arrested for insulting some ladies on Wood street on Thursday evening, was fined two dollars, which he paid and went away resolved to let crinoline alone in future.

Thomas Davis was committed by Alderman Wilson on two charges of assault and battery—one preferred by M. Sexton, and one by J. Buck.

Alderman Rogers committed two vagrants to prison for thirty days each.

The same magistrate sent two lads to the House of Refuge upon complaint of their parents, who found them incorrigible.

City Taxes.—We are informed that the taxes due the city are coming into the treasury very slowly at the present time. It seems as though the tax payers of this city required some sort of compulsion to make them pay their taxes, for under the voluntary system they move but slowly. The amount of deduction grows less by one per cent. every month. Perhaps when the 1st of December arrives, and five per cent. comes to be added to the amount, the tax payers will conclude that it is best to pay their dues. Then far, under the new system, the payments have been less prompt than was expected.

The Cricket Match played yesterday resulted in the defeat of the Union Club, of Allegheny.

Pittsburgh Female College.—The winter session of this excellent institution commences on Wednesday next. We are glad to learn that the prospects of a good school are very flattering. Under the management of Dr. Barrows the College has taken a high position as a thorough educational institution. The corps of teachers is all learned and experienced men, and the presidency of former pupils shows the success in imparting knowledge and training young minds. We cheerfully commend the Pittsburgh Female College to all our readers.

Fayette County Bank.—The following gentlemen have been elected Directors of the Bank: Alfred Patterson, Daniel Sturgeon, Ezerhart Bierer, Isaac Skiles, Jr., Joshua B. Howell, L. Allen Downer, James Robinson, Henry W. Gaddis, Daniel R. Davidson, Jacob Murphy, Isaac Beeson, John Huston, Robert Finley. The Directors met and organized on Monday last; Alfred Patterson, Esq., was elected President of the Bank, and William Wilson, Esq., Cashier.

Cheap and Good.—The Quaker City Sewing Machine is one of the very best inventions of the present day. It is unsurpassed for sewing on any kind of fabric. It does its work in a most excellent style, and is emphatically a family machine. The cost is only from $20 to $40 each, and they are pronounced fully equal to the higher priced machines. They are simple, rapid and ornamental. Call at M. Daly's stocking store, Fifth street, on the corner of the alley, and examine it for yourselves.

The Sale of furniture, feather beds and bedding pianoforte, French clock, etc., of a private family at No. 49, Chatham street, between Wiley and Pennsylvania Avenue, advertised to be sold yesterday morning, is unavoidably postponed until this afternoon, August 28th, at two o'clock at the same place, when it will then positively take place, by J. B. Stryker, Auctioneer.

Fricker's Watermelons.—Col. Fricker, at Walnut Hall, is now supplied with the finest lot of large Jersey watermelons which we have seen in the city this season. His arrangements are made to receive daily by railroad from two to three hundred melons, so that if you wish them fresh and fine you must go to Walnut Hall, where the good things of life in profusion are to be found.

Run Away.—A horse attached to a buggy ran down Wylie street and Grant to the river, and brought up all safe at the Ferry, having damaged nothing.

The Jackson Independent Blues were on parade last night. We presume they found it slightly damp, for the rain fell in torrents.

Counterfeit Fives on the Bank of Woburn, Mass., are in circulation. The vignette is a female and children, with a ship in the distance, and on the right a bust of Washington.

C. W. Starbuck, Esq., of the Cincinnati Times, was in town yesterday, and leaves for the East this morning.

Union Prayer Meetings.—Prayer meetings are to be organized in the afternoon at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian association, Fifth street, commencing this day at five o'clock P. M. These meetings will suit the convenience of many who would like to attend, ladies particularly, who cannot attend the morning meeting.

Duff's College, Corner of Third and Market Streets Pittsburgh.—The following letter indicates the opinion of a well known resident of our city of the qualifications of the principal of this institution:—

"I think your Book-keeping contains a great deal of useful and interesting matter, particularly on pages 45 to 47, 144, and 171 to 179, and 188 to 192. It is evident that you have brought to the study of Book-keeping a clear head, which of course has lost none of that clearness by long cultivation of an accurate science. It is impossible for any one to make the subject of accounts more easy of comprehension to the young beginner; and what is often still more difficult to do, you have made it so the old learner."

Yours, &c., W. H. DENNY,
Cashier Mer. and Man. Bank, Pittsburgh.

A peculiar neatness of style and finish is a distinct feature in the garments for men's and boys' wear, made at the establishment of J. L. Carnaghan, Allegheny City. He engages first class workmen in every department, and aims at superiority in each branch.

Bowman & Co.:—My wife was troubled with cough and pain in the breast for five years—the last two of which she was very low indeed. I procured some of your Compound, and after she had taken it for about five weeks she was able to do all our housework, which she had not previously done for four years.

We cheerfully, and unasked, recommend your Compound to all who are suffering under that terrible disease—Consumption.

Camp Meeting.—Should the weather prove favorable, thousands of persons will visit the Tarentum Camp Meeting to-day by means of the Allegheny Valley Railroad. The meeting will continue over Sunday, and many will "improve the occasion" to take a trip to the country, even if they don't improve their morals.

To Moulders.—A couple of good moulders are wanted to go a short distance into the country, one to mould stove plates and one to mould hollow ware. Both must be first class workmen. The employment is steady, and the payment prompt. Apply at the office of this paper.

The New Birmingham Bridge.—Four of the spans of structure are completed, and the workmen are now waiting on the completion of the last pier, in order to finish the two remaining ones. It is hoped to complete the work this fall.

The new wire suspension bridge across the Allegheny, at St. Clair street, is progressing rapidly. The piers, of which there are to be three, will soon be finished, and the wire for the superstructure is being manufactured as fast as possible by Messrs. Townsend & Co.

The Enon Valley Camp Meeting has closed. That at Tarentum is still in progress.

☞ THE RELIEF AFFORDED BY DR. J. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in all cases of Dyspepsia and similar affections has given that valuable preparation a wide popularity among those who for years suffered from such ailments. It is excellent as a tonic, and beneficient in its effects on the system. Its history is one almost of miracles, one to which Dr. Hostetter can point with confidence and credit. Indeed, no remedy, perhaps, in the same period has attained such an extended popularity as the Doctor's Bitters, which are ever regarded as a certain cure for distress of stomach. Those who have tried it speak praisingly of its effects, and therefore, we can commend it to general use. The Bitters are free from anything calculated to prove injurious to the system, or objectionable to the patient.

☞ J. M. OLIN'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS—Try them, and satisfy yourselves that they are all they are recommended to be. The proprietor does not pretend to say that they will cure all the diseases flesh is heir to, but leaves them to test their own merits, and the constantly increasing demand for them is sufficient proof that they are all they are recommended to be, and far superior to any preparation of the kind now in the market. Their use is always attended with the most beneficial results in cases of Dyspepsia, loss of appetite, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, etc. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, assists digestion, and imparts a healthy tone to the whole system. COMPLYING WITH THE URGENT REQUEST OF HUNDREDS OF THEIR PATIENTS,
DRS. C. M. FITCH AND J. W. SYKES
Have concluded to remain
PERMANENTLY IN PITTSBURGH,
And may be consulted at their office,
No. 191 Penn street,
OPPOSITE ST. CLAIR HOTEL,
Daily, except Sundays, for CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS and ALL OTHER CHRONIC COMPLAINTS, complicated with, or causing pulmonary disease, including Catarrh, Heart Disease, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Gastritis, Female Complaints, &c.

DRS. FITCH & SYKES would state that their treatment of Consumption is based upon the fact that the disease exists in the blood and system at large, both before and during its development in the lungs, and they therefore employ Mechanical, Hygienic and Medical remedies to purify the blood and strengthen the system. With these, they use MEDICAL INHALATIONS, which they value highly, but only as Palliatives, (having no Curative effects when used alone,) and Invalids are earnestly cautioned against wasting the precious time of curability on any treatment based upon the plausible, but false idea that the seat of the disease can be reached in a direct manner by Inhalation," for, as before stated, the seat of the disease is in the blood and its effects only in the lungs.
