From the Springfield Republican, August 10 Oyrus W. Field and his Family Cyrus W. Field having achieved greatness and renown through the success that has crowned his energy and perseverance in the laying of the Atlantic telegraph cable, the public is interested to know what manner of man he is, and to learn the chief incidents of his history. His family is one of the most bronorable in western Massachusetts, with members distinguished in nearly every department of native life, Rev. D. D. Field a native of East Gulliford, Conn., a gradute of Yale College in 1802, first settled in Haddam, Conn. There, probably, were all born -seven sons and two daughters. Of the former are David Dudley Field, one of the first lawyers of New York city; Jonathan E. Field a member of the Berkshire bar, and resident of Stockbridge; Cyrus W. Field, whose name is now a household word: Masthew D. Field, of Southwick, in this county, a civil engineer, and one of the Republican Senators from Hampden county in 1857: See phen I. Field, a Judge of the Supreme Court of California : and Rev. H. M. Field, formerly pastor of the Congregational Church in West Springfield, and now one of the conductors of the New York Evangelist. The seventh and oldest son, Timothy, went to sea thirty or more years ago, and has never been heard from since. One of the daughters married the brother of Mr Cyrus Field's wife, and died at Paris within a few years. The other daughter married Rev. Josiah Brewer, and

Dr. Field removed from Haddam to Stockbridge, where his children were all young, and became pastor of the village church there, a relation which he continued till 1837, when it was dissevered, and he returned to his old charge at Haddam for a few years; but he retired from the ministry some ten years since, and came to Stockbridge again, where among his old friends, and with a portion of his children, he is living out in peace and honor the few remaining days of a long and useful life. Thus Stockbridge may fairly claim to be the family home; here the father passed his most active and important years; and here his sons were reared, and prepared for the important lines of action, into which they have nearly all since fallen. NAVY DEPARTMENT, July 26, 1858. NAVY DRPARTMENT, July 23, 1858.

EALED PROPOSALS, endorsed "Proposals for Scam Mackinery for Serew Propeller Shops, J. War," will be received at this department until 3 o'clock p. m. of the 5th of September next, for the complete construction of the 8 cam machinery and appendages, and placing the same on boaru, for each of the screw shoops of war building at the U.S. navy-yards at Yorksmonth, N. H., Nov York, Philadelphia, and desport in accordance with the following conditions: York, Philadephis, and deeper a specific sum for putting the whole in successful operation, must include all patent tees, and the department will require a release from the proprietors of any patented article or arrangements used in or about the machinery, and must state the time in which the work will be completed, and must be accompanied by the usual guarantee required by law.

The latter of the latter The name of the establishment in which the work is be executed must be stated. The details of the design and arrangement of the machinery will be left with the party whose proposition may be excepted as combining the greatest number of advantages, keeping in view cost, simplicity of construction, readliness of access for adjustment when in operation, and not being subject to derangement in the working parts; it being the object of the department to procure machinery which can develop great power when required so as to insure high speed for as many days as possitio, while at the same time they will be able to propel the vessel at a moderate speed with grapt sonomy of fuel, so that long voyages may be performed with one supply of ceal.

with this view, the department will expect the bidders to gnaranty the results proposed to be accomplished by their plans, and to specify those results under the following Nerved to new labor, he continued the same business, commanded fortune, paid off sil of his old debts, and became a rich man. Liberal in dispensing the blessings of his wealth, he was the patron of art, and surrounded his father at Stockbridge, with all the comforts and luxuries that old age covets. Some five or six years ago he seemed to have conceived the purpose of constructing the ocean telegraph, and at once threw into its consummation all his native enthusiaism, all his acquired knowledge of men and things, all his energy and perseverance, and all his pecuniar ry means.

There seems to be no divided honor in this enterprise—no possibility of question as to the author of the great achievment of modern ivilization. Hundreds may have dreamed and suggested the idea but Mr. Field and the suggest of the purpose of the great achievment of modern ivilization. The coal bunkers, shaft passage, two atwartship iron bulk heads, a distilling apparatus for fresh water, from which can be made not less than 500 gallous per day, and the tools and duplicate pieces necessary and satisfactory for an efficient cruising steam sloop-of-war, must be included in the proposition, and a list of them wilf be furnished.

The wood and carpenter work, except the boring out the dendwood for the shaft necessary to adapt the vessel for the reception of the machinery, botters and appendage will be provided at the expense of the Navy Department, and it will permit the Laga-of-such facilities as it may have for hoisting the heavy machinery on board.

For the accommodation of the entire steam machinery and fuel there will be allowed in the body of the ship, the entire space under the spar deck commencing at 16 feet abaft the main meat, and thence extending loward a distance of 60 feet.
