LOCAL AFFAIRS. DEDICATION OF THE NEW ODD FEL-LOWS' HALE.

Procession, Ceremonies' &c.

Yesterday was a great day among the fraternity of Odd Fellows in this city. The members of the Order from all parts of the country were gathered here to lend their aid in the dedication of the splendid now hall which has recently been completed or western country.

The building occupies eight first of a front on Fifth street, extending back one hundred and twenty feet. It is four a ries high. The front of the building is composite, look, iron and stone, being mixed in its construction. The design is simple, yet agreeably ornamental. The architect of the building was our talented fellow townsman, C. Bartberger, Esq., who has made the Odd Fellows' Hall Fifth street, and which is, without doubt, the most

LADIES GENTLEMEN. BRETHREN. In the local affairs of our Brotherhood an important epoch has been reached—a substantial and beautiful temple has been erected, and by the certmonies of this morning we have dedicated it to Friendship, Love and Truth. If our good works here cease, then in vain we have reared these messy walls—this magnificent edifice. If, however, guided by the true spirit and teachings of our Order, our

Of the duties our institution requires, it is now for me to speak. These may be classed,

1st. Duty to God,

2nd. Duty to Country.

Srd. Duty to Keighture.

Based upon the immurable truth, that God is the Greator and Preserver of men and things—that to Him belong the affections of the heart, the thoughts and desires of the zoul, and the actions of the body—that He is the Father and Saviour, both in time and in eternity. Our Society enjoins upon its members, obedience to the laws, and sobmission to the will of our Great Father. To understand the laws—to know the commandments and find out the will of the Salperene Being, is made the first and highest duty of an Odd Fellow. To this end, the Holy Scriptures are placed in his hands, and he is referred to the most touching examples of faith—of filial obedience—of fraternal kindness, and of pure, unselfish love, that are to be found in that inspired volume. nselfish love, that are to be found in that inspired volum

At nine o'clock in the morning, the members of the Order commenced to gather, and by ten o'clock there were at least fifteen hundred of them in Fifth street, besides a crowd of thousands of eager and curious lookers on. The arrangements of the several committees seem to have been very complete, for we never have seen in our city so large a body of men more periectly and quietly organized and regulated. The hall, outside, was decorated with flags and festions of evergreens with the emblems of the Order. While the feremonies of the dedication were progressing the byilding was crowded with people, and the streets in the vicinity were thronged. Fine Display of Articles and Stock. FIRST DAY.

The sun rose clear yesterday merning and the Fair Grounds never presented a better appearance, the fine weather of the past month having left them in most admirable condition. The necessary preparations had been made at the grounds some days since, and a number of articles placed in their proper loca-tions on Saturday and Monday. At an early hour yesterday morning vehicles of every description, laden with goods of every imaginable character, were seen on their way to the grand centre of attrac-tion. At nine o'clock the omnibuses began to carry heavy burdens of humanity, and the trains at intervals, on the Pennsylvania Railroad, took out hundreds of passengers. At ten o'clock the grounds presented quite an animated appearance, and we be-lieve that during the day the number of persons present was larger than have every previously as-sembled on the first day of similar exhibitions. The stock pens were well filled, and at evening additional stalls were being built for the accommoda tion of horses and cattle to arrive last night. Exhibitors in every department employed the day n preparing and displaying their wares to the bost advantage, and by evening the display was very creditable, surpassing that at any recent fair. Inside the grounds quite a throng of vehicles were concentrated, awaiting the motions of their respechibitors in this department, having entered some thirteen machines for agricultural purposes. Foremost among these we observed Allen's Mowing Machine and a combined Mower and Resper from the same patentee. The former of these took the premium at the Washington County Fair, last June, where nine other machines were on exhibition, most of which have also been entered at this Fair. It is highly recommended by the farmers who have used it—combining simplicity, lightness of draft and free-ness from elegging. The combined Mower and Reuper also possesses similar advantages, and has heart, to whose cultivation I favite my brethren. It is that noble and excellent virtue that coverth sins; farnishes evidences of faith; justifies hope in the future; that makes men angels—and angels Gods—that I would ask you to cultivate and cherish. In social obligations I must not omit that it is our duty to warn a brother against evil, particularly should the influences of bad passions be leading him from the paths of duty and right. To love the country of or e's nativity or adoption—to cherish its institutions—to defend its honor, and die for its preservation and perpetuity, are solemn obligations of every Odd vast amount of labor accurately. It is said by those who know, to be the best machine new in use for this purpose. They also exhibit several of Cumthis purpose.
