Popular Song.

LAMENT OF THE IRISH EMIGRANT.

I'm sittin' on the stile, Mary, Where we sat side by side, On a bright May mornin'. long ago. When first you were my bride; Then corn was springin' fresh and green, And the lark sang load and high, And the red was on thy lip, Mary, And the love-light in your eye.

The place is little changed, Mary, The day as bright as then ; The lark's loud song is in my ear, And the corn is green again ! But I miss the soft clasp of your hand, And your breath warm on my cheek, And I still keep list'nin' for the words You never more may speak.

'Tis but a step down yonder lane, And the little church stands near- . The church where we were wed, Mary, I see the spire from here ; But the graveyard lies between, Mary, And my step might break your rest, For I've laid you, darlin', down to sleep, With your baby on your breast.

. I'm very lonely now, Mary For the poor make no new friends; But oh, they love thee better far, The few our father sends ! And you were all I find, Mary-My blessin' and my pride! There's nothin' left to care for now, Since my poor Mary died !

Yours was the good, brave heart, Mary, That still kept hoping on, When the trust in God had left my soul, And my arms' young strength was gone. There was comfort ever on your lip, And the kind look on your brow ;

I bless you, Mary, for that same, Though you can't hear me now.

I thank you for the patient smile, When your heart was fit to break, When the hunger pain was gnawin' there, And you hid it, for my sake ! I blezs you for the pleasant word, When your heart was sad and sore ; Oh ! I'm thankful you are gone, Mary, Where grief can't reach you more.

I'm biddin' you a long farewell, My Mary-kind and true! But I'll not forget you darlin', In the land I'm going to ; They say ther's bread and work for all, And the sun shines always there ; But I'll not forget old Ireland, Were it fifty times as fair.

The Greytown Victory! NAPOLEON it was, we believe, who said that the indignation of a people was not as fatal to not know he has any very brilliant ideas to hold a government as its contempt. This is being illustrated in the contempt and ridicule poured upon the administration for its prowess at Greytown. That splendid achievement is thus poetically celebrated in the N. Y. Evening Post :

Twas Captain Hollins led the flecce attack : A man of iron nerve and bendless back ; Long were his ears and proud his martial trend And calm his eye and very stout his head, No wonder, when they saw his vengeful frown, That Greytown's people fied the fated town, Nor left behind a single soul to dare The fearful storm that rose upon them there.

But when he saw his dastard foemen run, Nor wait the thunder of a single gun Redoubled courage swelled our hero's breast, And conscious victory perched upon his crest-"To arms," he cried, "bring all the guns to bear Beard the fierce lion in his very lair ; Bombard the town ! What coward soul will quake When foes have run and honor is at stake !"

Loud boomed the guns; and heavy fell the balls With crushing weight on empty shanty walls ; A hundred thousand feet of lumber good Was all destroyed, and several cords of wood; The peaceful pigs that roamed in street and lane Fell panting, bleeding, 'neath the iron rain ; And twice two score of bravest geese turned tail And sought on frightened wing the distant vale.

Like the Angels.

"Why ! you would have me like the angels!" exclaimed a young girl with whom a friend had been talking.

Truly we would have women like the angels. And why not? Is it any harm to be like an angel? We read that they are very beautifulfull of love, truth, purity, compassion, sinless. Are these forbidden traits? Angels slander not each other. They have no circles in their glorious home where characters are picked to pieces. Angels never wreath the face with smiles when envy is gnawing the very heart strings in twain. Angels never rejoice over the downfall of another. Angels lure not with the eye; and then coldly cast off with the lip. Angels suffer not passion to paint the brow dark with discontent and hatred.

Would you not wish eventually, to become an angel? Or does this thought never enter with the multitude that cross the mind's threshold ? Why not prepare, then, for this high destination ? Why not discipline the sublime thoughts and become beautiful in good deeds? 11 Cultivate you affections, be pure in thought gentle in spirit. Of the very best reading matter that capital can command from original sources, or taste relect from the vast mass of available material.

The aim of the editor will be to produce a publication which sholl be valuable in matter, and choice in taste and style; and he flatters himself, from the known talents of his contributors, that he will be able to present as many good original ar-ticles to his readers as any publication of the day. He shall not, however, hesitate to publish, from time to time, articles from English authors, and translations from the best German and French writers, provided the pieces have never before appeared in print in this country. Essays on impor-tant Political Subjects will likewise be inserted, and criticisms on the Literature of America and the movements of the Age. The Leview Department, in which a large and liberal spirit of criticism will always be maintained, will be extended. For the defence of American Diterature the editor will always be ready ; the maintainance of a cor-rect tone in the Magazine, he will, if possible, be with their business connections. still more watchful.

The aim of the editor will not be so much to increase the number of his engravings, as to secure for those he publishes the utmost finish the artist can give them ; for common wood-cuts are so easily multiplied, that the most indifferent publication may outrank in dreary display the choicest periodical

The Editor does not feel, that with his own readerst he can increase his claims to respect by insisting on any very great superiority of "Graham over several similar publications, but thinks he may safely confide in their friendship for the Magazine, and in its past management for its pre-sent list, and such increase as naturally grows out of an extended circulation in a country where readers are multiplying so rapidly. ## Party Prejudice.

A good anecdote is told of a countryman from New York who was visiting Washington at the time Mr. Van Buren was Vice President. Our friend was a red-hot democrat, and of course held Mr. Van Buren in the highest reverence. He sat in the circular gallery of the Senate, gazing at the Vice President with a mingled feeling of awe and state pride, when suddenly a tall and majestic form appeared at the side of the hall and beckoned to Mr. Van Buren. There was little business doing, and the Vice President calling a Senator to the chair, joined the person mentioned, when both seat ed themselves on a sofa both snuffed from the same box-the hand of the Vice President was laid playfully upon the knee of his companion, and ever and anon a hearty laugh would escape them, showing that whatever might be the topic, it was one which was agreeable to both.

"Is that Mr. Calhoun with the Vice President ?' said our country friend, turning to a person near him.

- 'No sir.'
- 'Is it Mr. Benton ?''
- 'No, sir.'
- 'Is it Gen. Wall ?'
- .No, sir.'
- 'May I ask who it is?'
- "Why, that is Mr. Clay." "Mr. CLAY !' almost shrieked the man; "and does Mr. Van Buren SPEAK TO HIM? Rot me if ever I vote for him again!' and the fellow stalked from the hall, firmly believing that the country was lost.

Origin of the Telescope.

The son of a spectacle maker of Middleburgh, in Holland, happened to amuse himself in his fathers's shop, by holding two glasses between his fingers and thumb and varying their distances, perceived the weathercock of the church spire opposite to him much larger than ordinary, and apparently much nearer and turned upside down. This new wonder excited the father's amazement; he adjusted two glasses on a board, rendering them moveable at pleasure, and thus formed a rude prospective glass. Galileo, hearing of the invention, set his mind in order to bring it to perfection. He fixed glasses at the end of long organ pipes, and constructed a telescope, which he soon directed to the surrounding heavens. He discovered four moons revolving around the planet Jupiter, spots around the surface of the sun, and the rotation of the globe around its own axis.

WHAT CAN BE GOT FOR $5 ..... The undersigned have entered into an arrangement by which they agree to furnish the Knickerbocker Magazine, (monthly,) the Home Journal, (weekly.)

Publisher of the Knickerbocker, MORRIS & WILLIS,

Publishers of the Home Journal. DYER & WILLIS. Publishers of the Musical World and Times.

375 Broadway, New York. GRAND LITERARY AND ARTISTIC COMBL NATION.

Arrangements have been made to furnish the Knickerbocker Magazine, the Home Journal, and the New York Musical World and Times, to new subscribers, for five dollars a year. This is cheap literature, with a vengeance. The Knickerbocker is $3 per annum the Home Journal, $2; and the Musical World and Times, $3; making $5 a year at the usual rates. ThIt three such works can be obtained for five dollars a year, is a fact truly wor-thy the Caloric age, which is just now being usherel in. Of the Knickerbocker Magazine, edited by Lewis Gaylord Clark, it is unnecessary to speak. For twenty years it has been the genial; humorous, and spley "monthly" in the world; and the present volume will be better than any which preceded it. The Home Journal, edited by Geo. P. Morris, and N. P. Willis, is well known as the best family newspaper in America; and the Musical World and Times, edited by Richard Storrs Willis with Lowell Mason, Geo. H Curtis, Thomas Hastings, Wm. P. Bradbury, Geo. . Root, and other musical writers contributing; and which gives, among other things, over $25 worth of music and a full course of instruction in harmony annually, is the very best musical Jour-nal ever published. These three publications will post a family up in regard to nearly everything worth knowing :- Art, Seivnee, Literature; Music, Painting, Sculpture; Inventions, Discoveries Humor, Fancy, Sentiment; the Newest Fashion and other attractions for Ladies ; Choice New Mu sie for the Sabbath, the Church, and the Fireside; Isle to a brother of the sable race, a co-laborer Reviews and Criticism of Musical Works, Performers and Performances ; in short, the very pick and cream of Novelty, Incident, History, Biography, Art Literature and Science; including whatever can be given in periodicals to promote Healthy Amusement and Solid Instruction in the family and help to make it Better, Wiser, and Happier, may be now obtained for FIVE DOLLARS. Address DYER & WILLIS, 275 Broadway.

Editors publishing the above three times, sending the papers containing it to Dyer & Willis, will receive the three works named, for one year, Aug. 25, 1854.
