A LITTLE MORE CIDER. I love de white gal and de black, And I love all de rest; I love de gal for loving me, But I love myself de best. I feel so very thirsty, I've just been down to supper, I drank four pails of applejack, And a tub of apple butter. Cherus-And a little more cider do,

A little more cider do, A little more cider for Miss Dine A little more cider do. When first I saw Miss Snowflake,

In Chestnut street I spied her, And oh how happy I'd have been, Just to have been beside her; She winked at me, I blinked at her, Until she crossed de street, And turning round, she smiled, and said, A little more cider sweet. A little more cider, &c.

I wish I was an apple, Miss Snowflake was another, Oh what a pretty pair we'd make, Upon the tree together; She smile at me, I'd smile at her, We both would look so neat, But oh how happy we should be When squashed in eider sweet.

SOFT-SOAPING IN THE DARK. We clip the following from a letter of the Yankee correspondent of the Galveston News Well, you see, I put up with a first-rate good natured fellow that I met at a billiard table. I went in, and was introduced to his wife, a fine, fat woman-looked as though she lived on laughin', her face was so full of fun. After a while-after we'd talked about my girl, and about the garden, and about the weather-in comes three or four children, laughin' and skippin' as merry as crickets. There was no candle lit, but I started for my saddlebags, in which I put a lot of sugar candy for the chil. Hides.

"Come here," said I, "you little rogue, and tell me what your name is." The oldest came to me, and says,"My name's Peter Smith."

"And what's your name ?" "Bob Smith."

dren as I went along.

The next said his name was Bill Smith, and the fourth said his name was Tommy Smith. I gave 'em sugar candy, and old Mrs. Smith was so tickled that she laughed all the time. Mr. Smith looked on, but didn't say much.

"Why," says I, "Mrs. Smith, I would not take a good deal for them four boys, if I had 'em; they are so beautiful and sprightly."

"No," said she, laughin', "I set a good deal on 'em; but we spoil 'em too much."

"No, no," says I, "they're rale well-behaved children-and by gracious!" says I, pretending to be startled by a striking resemblance between the boys and the father, and looking at Mr Smith, "I never did see any thing equal to it," says I; "your own eyes, mouth, forehead, and perfect picture of hair, sir," tapping the oldest on the pate. I thought Mrs. Smith would have died a laughin' at that; her arms fell down at her side, and she shook the whole house a laughin'.

"Do you think so, Colonel Jones," said she, looking towards Mr. Smith; and I thought she'd go off in a fit.

"Yes," says I, "I do raelly."

"Ha, ha, ha!" says Mr. Smith, kind o' half laughin', "you're too hard on me, now, with

A little afterwards, there was a whole family of relations arrived from the city, and turned the matter off; but the next morning I roller, designed as the commencement of a Gallery could see that Mr. Smith didn't like the remembrance of what I said, and I don't believe he'll vote for me when the election comes .-I 'spect Mrs. S. kept the old fellow under the joke for some time.

The aim of the editor will be to produce a publication which sholl be valuable in matter, and choice in taste and style; and he flatters himself. will be able to present as many good original ar-ticles to his readers as any publication of the day. He shall not, however, hesitate to publish, from time to time, articles from English authors, and translations from the best German and French writers, provided the pieces have never before appeared in print in this country. Essays on impor-tant Political Subjects will likewise be inserted and criticisms on the Literature of America and the movements of the Age. The Leview Depart ment, in which a large and liberal spirit of crit icism will always be maintained, will be extended For the defence of American Diterature the editor will always be ready; the maintainance of a corcet tone in the Magazine, he will, if possible, be still more watchful

GRAND LITERARY AND ARTISTIC COMBI-NATION. Arrangements have been made to furnish the Knickerbocker Magazine, the Home Journal, and the New York Musical World and Times, to new subscribers, for five dollars a year. This is cheap literature, with a vengeance. The Knickerbocker is 53 per annum the Home Journal, $2; and the cal World and Times, $3; making $8 a year at the usual rates. Thit three such works can be obtained for five dollars a year, is a fact truly worthy the Caloric age, which is just now being ushered in. Of the Knickerbocker Magazine, edited by Lewis Gaylord Clark, it is unnecessary to speak. For twenty years it has been the most genial; humorous, and spicy "monthly" in the world; and the present volume will be better than any which preceded it. The Home Journal, edited by Geo. P. Morris, and N. P. Willis, is well known as the best family newspaper in America; and the Musical World and Times, edited by Richard Storrs Willis with Lowell Mason, Geo H Curtis, Thomas Hastings, Wm. P. Bradbury, Geo. F. Root, and other musical writers contributing and which gives, among other things, over $25 worth of music and a full course of instruction in harmony annually, is the very best musical Jour-nal ever published These three publications will post a family up in regard to nearly everything worth knowing :- Art, Scivnee, Literature; Music, Painting, Sculpture; Inventions, Discoveries; Wit. Humor, Fancy, Sentiment, the Newest Fashions and other attractions for Ladies; Choice New Musie for the Sabbath, the Church, and the Fireside, Reviews and Criticism of Musical Works, Performers and Performances; in short, the very pick and cream of Novelty, Incident, History, Biograplay, Art Literature and Science; including what ever can be given in periodicals to promote Healthy Amusement and Solid Instruction in the family and help to make it Better, Wiser, and Happier, may be now obtained for FIVE DOLLARS. Address DYER & WILLIS, 275 Broadway. Editors publishing the above three times, and

"Household Words" is a modern journal for the people, devoted to common subjects, uncommonly treated, excellent in style in genius, in manner, and wonderfully fertile in subject. The pieces are the right length; they exhibit wonderful variety and are attuned to a harmonious key and remarkable unity of effect For the money, there is not the equal of "House-hold Words" for a family journal. Pleasant stories, useful knowledge, graceful anecdotes, charming essays, alternate in its pages. It is not always convenient to secure a copy of the weekly issue on the arrival of a steamer; in order to enjoy regularly this delightful work, we advise our readers to possess themselves of the handsome monthly reprint of McElrath & Baker, who bring out "Household Words" with commendable punctuali-ending the papers containing it to Dyer & Willis,
