I SAW HER IN CABBAGE TIME. Respectfully Inscribed to Mother Moore. I saw her first in cabbage time, She was a cutting crout-She'd stop the cutter, now and then, To turn her head about; And as she'd sait it in a tub.

And stemp it down awhile, Upon her fresh and rosy lip Reposed a witching smile.

I saw her next in winter time, And still she gaily smiled, For there upon the cooking stove, Her grub was being b'iled. Around the huge and greasy pot,

The steam came pouring out; And from the smell, I knew that she Was cooking "speck and krout." When next I saw her, in the spring, She smiled not as before:

A heavy weight was on her heart-The crout was "all no more!" The pot she used to cook it in Was eaten up with rust; The cutter hung upon the wall,

'Mid spider webs and dust. I've seen her often since that time, When all around were gay— When others laughed and talked the most, She'd frown and turn away, I've watched to see a ray of joy;

But watched, alas! in vain-I never hope to see her smile Till-cabbage time again!

Poetry,

SHALL FRIENDS MEET IN HEAVEN If you bright stars which gem the night, Be each a blissful, dwelling sphere,

Where kindred spirits re-unite Whom death hath torn assunder here; How sweet it were at once to die, And leave this blighted orb afar, Mix soul with soul to cleave the sky, And soar away from star to star.

But oh! how dark, how drear, how lone, Would seem the brightest world of bliss. If wandering through each radiant one, We failed to find the loved of this; If there no more the ties shall twine, Which death's cold hand alone can sever, O then those stars in mockery shine, More hateful, as they shine forever.

It cannot be, each hope and fear That lights the eye or clouds the brow Proclaims, there is a happier sphere Than this bleak world that holds us now. There is a voice which sorrow hears, When heaviest weighs life's galling chain, 'Tis Heaven that whispers "dry thy tears, The pure in heart shall most again!"

THE HEBREW'S PRAYER.

[There is a high degree of beauty and power in the following extract. It is copied from the 3d London edition of a poem called "The Devil's Progress." published in 1849, the title-page of which announcees the author to be the editor of the Court Journal, but the poem was written by Thomas J. Herver.]

A Hebrew knelt, in the dying light,-His eyes were dim and cold. The hair on his brow was silver white, And his blood was thin and old ! He lifted his look to the latest sun .-For he knew that his pilgrimage was done And as he saw God's shadow there, His spirit poured itself in prayer!

"I come unto death's second birth, Beneath a stranger air, A Pilgrim on a dull, cold earth, As all my fathers were; And men have stamped me with a curse,-I feel it is not Thine, Thy mercy-like you sun-was made On me as them-to shine! And, therefore, dare I lift mine eye, Through that-to Thee,-before I die.

"In this great temple built by Thee, Whose alters are divine, Beneath you lamp, that, carelessly, Lights up thine own true shrine; O! take my latest sacrifice .-Look down-and make this sod, Holy, as that, where long ago, The Hebrew met his God.

"I have not caused the widow's tears, Nor dimmed the orphan's eye. I have not stained the Virgin's years Nor mocked the mourning cry.

"The songs of Zion, in mine ear, Have ever been most sweet. And always, when I felt Thee near, My, 'shoes' were off my feet!

"I have known Thee in the whirlwind, I have known Thee on the Hill. I have loved Thee in the voice of birds, Or the music of the rill! I dreamt of Thee, in the shadow, I saw Thee in the light-I heard Thee in the thunder peal, And worshipped in the night All beauty while it spoke of Thee Still made my heart rejoico. And my spirit bowed within itself, To hear thy "still small voice." I have not felt myself a thing, Far from thy presence driven, By flaming sword or waving wing, Shut out from Thee and Heaven, Must I the whirlwind reap because, My l'athers sowed the storm? Or surink -- because another sinned, Beneath thy red right arm? Oh! much of this we dimly scan, And much is all unknown-But I will not take my curse from man, I turn to Thee, alone !-Oh! bid my fainting spirit live And what is dark reveal,

And what is evil-oh forgive,

And cleanse my nature from above

I know not if the Christian's Heaven

In the deep Jordan of Thy love.

And what is broken, heal,

Shall be the same as mine, I only ask to be forgiven, And taken home to thine, I weary on a far. dim strand, Whose mansiohs are as tombs, And long to find the father-land, Where there are many homes Oh! grant, of all you starry thrones, Some dim and distant star. Where Judah's lost and scattered sons, May love Thee from afar. When all Earth's myriad harps shall meet, In choral praise and prayer, Shall Zious harp of old so sweet, Alone be waiting there. The Christians scorn-the Christian's jest; But let me see-and hear-

From some dim masion in the sky. Thy bright ones and thy melody. The sun goes down with sudden gleam, As beautiful as a lovely dream And silent as the air-When the vision of a dark-eyed girl, With long and raven hair. Glides in-as guardian spirits glide-And lo! is kneeling at his side; As if her sudden presence there, Was sent in answer to his prayer (Oh say they not that angels tread Around the good man's dying bed?) His child-his sweet, his sinless child And as he gazed on her, He knew his God was reconciled, And this the messenger,— The promised bow before his eye! Earth's purest hope thus o'er him flung.
To point his hoavenward faith.
And life's most holy feeling strung
To sing him unto death.

And on his daughter's stainless breast, The dying Hebrew sought his rest!

LAZIEST YET.

During the summer of 1846, corn being scarce in the upper country, and one of the citizens being hard pressed for bread, having worn thread bare the hospitality of his generous neighbors, by his extreme laziness, they thought it an act of charty to bary him. Accordingly, he was carried toward the place of interment, and being met by one of the citizens, the following conversation took place:

"Hallo! what have you there?" "Poor old Mr. S."

"What are you going to do with him?" "Bury him."

"What! is he dead? I hadn't heard of his

"No, he is not dead, but he might as well be, for he has no corn and is too lazy to work

"That is too cruel for civilized people, I'll give him two bushels of corn myself rather than see him buried alive."?

Mr. S. raised the cover, and asked in his usual dragging tone. "I-s i-t s-h-e-l-l-e-d?" "No, but you can soon shell it." "D-r-i-v-e o-n b-o-y-s."

DF A certain congregation in the village of B-, was much annoyed by the "spiritual manifestations" of an ancient maiden lady, who, as the sermon progressed, became rather loud and frequent in her pious ejaculations, and gave strong indications of getting up a revival on her own individual responsibility .-At length the paster paused in the midst of his discourse, declaring that he could not proceed, until the noise ceased, or the cause of it was ejected from the church. These remarks only increased the evil; he then requested some member to reprove his adversary .ately volunteered to execute his request. They marched up to the offender, lifted her up it their arms, to carry her out, willing or unwi ling, and had proceeded about half-way up the aisle, with the eyes of the whole congregation upon them, when the lady cried out, in a loud, shrill voice: "Our Lord was carried into Jerusalem on one ass, but I am honored by being carried out by two!"

It is needless to add, that the two dropped their burden immediately, and fled from the church, while the lady walked back to her

PRAYING AND SHOOTING .- A correspondent in D ____ county, Ohio, relates the following incident as occurring in a village church in his neighborhood: At the close of the service last Sunday, these announcements were made, with due solemnity, of the fathers :-"Prayer meeting at Brother Wood's next Thursday evening; also, a shooting match" at Brother Rahn's on Christmas. We hope the lovers of the good cause, and good venison, will turn out generally on both occasions .-With respect to the latter, we may remark-Brother Rahn is a worthy man, though poor, and any assistance in his way will be thankfully received.33 An actual fact, without the slightest exageration.

No ACCOUNTING FOR TASTE .- In the early part of the 15th century, a farmer, from a little village near Tadeaster, was condemned to suffer the extreme penalty of the law, for cow stealing, his wife called to see him a few minutes previous to his execution, to take her last farewell, when she asked if he would dike the children to see him executed;' to which he peremptorily replied, No, what must they come for ?' . Humph,' replied the wife, won are just what you always were never willing that the children should see any fun.

A Countryman attended one of the President's levees, at which the ladies appeared in full ball costume, that is to say, with dresses cut very low in the neck, and leaving not so much to the imagination as potetry would require, as to the charms half concealed and half disclosed. GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE.-NEW VOLreceive orders for the New Volume, the editor dees not know he has any very brilliant ideas to bold out in large capitals to dazzle people's eyes-"Graham" will be pretty much what it has been Teeth extracted with all the care and dispatch | the last volume, with some improvements which experience suggests. No number will contain less than 100 pages of matter, and the readers of soraham' may rely with great confidence upon this the volume shall contain

OVER TWELVE HUNDRED PAGES! Of the very best reading matter that capital can amend from original sources, or taste select from the vast mass of available material. The aim of the editor will be to produce a publication which shell be valuable in matter, and choice in tasts and slyle; and he flatters himself, from the known talents of his contributors, that he ticles to his readers as any publication of the day. He shall not, however, hesitate to publish, from itae to time, articles from English authors, and translations from the best German and French writers, provided the pieces have never before ap-I inform the public that they have just opened peared in print in this country. Essays on impor-a new and splendid assortment of Goods of every tant Political Subjects will likewise be inserted. and criticisms on the Literature of America and For the defence of American Diterature the editor Caps. Boots. Shoes. &c., &c., of the best quality and will always be ready; the maintainance of a coract the lowest prices. still more watchful.

EACH NUMBER WILL CONTAIN AN ENGRAVING FROM A FINE STEEL PLATE IN ADDITION TO THE CHOICE

DESIGNS AND ENGRAVINGS OF DEVERUX, who will supply illustrations for the text in the body of the book. The aim of the editor will not be so much to increase the number of his engrayings, as to secure for those he publishes the utmost finish the artist can give them; for common wood-cuts are so easily multiplied, that the most indifferent publication may outrank in dreary dis-play the choicest periodical.

The Editor does not feel, that with his own readors, he can increase his claims to respect by insisting on any very great superiority of "Graham" over several similar publications, but thinks he may safely confide in their friendship for the Magazine, and in its past management for its present list, and such increase as naturally grows out

Of the January number the first edition will be will be so prompt in renewing old clubs, and extending the list among new ones, that the first dition shall be but half os what the year will ultimately establish, as the permanent circulation of Postagn,-Subscribers in any part of the United States may now receive the Magazine, by mail, RECUSEROLD WORDS .- A MONTHLY MAGAZINE AT S2 PER YEAR .- Only hose who rend the serial so promptly issued every week by Diekens, with thoughtful appreciation, know how to prize it. "Household Words" is a modern journal for the people, devoted to common subjects uncommonly treated, excellent in style, in genius, in manner, and wonderfully fertile in subject. The pieces are the right length; they exhibit wonderful variety and are attuned to a harmonious key and remarkable unity of effect. For the money, there is not the equal of "House-hold Words" for a family journal. Pleasant stories, useful knowledge, graceful anecdotes, charming essays, alternate in its pages. It is not always convenient to secure a copy of the weekly issue on the arrival of a steamer, in order to enjoy regularly this delightful work, we advise our reaers to possess themselves of the handsome monthreprint of Mchirath & Baker, who bring out Household Words with commendable penetualiy. at New-York.
