Popular Song.

THE AMERICAN GIRL.

Our hearts are with our native land, Our song is with her glory, Her warriors' wreath is in our hand Our lips breath out her story. Her lofty hills and valleys green, Are shining bright before us, And like a rainbow sign is seen Her proud flag waving o'er us. And there are smiles upon our lips For those who meet her formen; For glory's star knows no eclipse, When smiled upon by woman. For those who brave the mighty deep, And scorn the throat of danger,

We'v smiles to cheer, and tears to weep, For every ocean ranger. Our sighs are with our native lands. Our songs are for our freedom; Our prayers are for the gallant band

Who strike where honor lead them. We love the taintless air we breathe, 'Tis freedom's endless power, We'll twine for him an endless wreath Who scorns a tyrant's power. They tell of France's beauteous fair;

Of Italy's proud daughters. Of Scotland's lasses-England's rare, And nymphs of Shannon's waters. We need not boast their haughty charms, Though lords around them hover, Our glory lies in freedom's arms-

SHAPING TREES AND SHRUBS. Who has not observed the great difference in beauty between a handsomely dressed tree. and one of uncouth or distorted form of the same species? How often do purchasers of ornamental shrubs and trees anxiously search Dutch gardeners display so much skill in training vegetable growth in peacocks and hedgehogs, American gardeners may find an appropriate exercise of their skill in imitating the graceful and beautiful in nature.

At the present season, or during the commencement of vigorous growth, this desirable object may be most easily accomplished. By occasionally removing a needless shoot, but more frequently shortening-back such as are over-grown, or pluching in those that threaten to induce dormant buds to push where branches may be exercised, not unworthy of comparison ful statue from a shapeless block of marble.

Even small plants, which otherwise growtall its chokin' ye." and meagre, may be made to assume a bushyand thick appearance, by pinching off the ends of the leading shoots while they are young .-The English gardeners have acquired a skill patriotic individual rushed to the consul's resin managing in this way their pot plants intended for exhibition, that it is really astonishing to those who first witness the rich and symmetrical masses of flour and foliage which they are thus enabled to present to view.

A great error is often committed when flowering plants are placed in open ground, by crowding them too closely together, giving them too much the appearance of woods. They are much the best when every plant is allowed full room to expand. When crowded, the flowers are fewer and more imperfect, and the plants and foliage slender, and greatly inferior in beauty to the dense and rich mass of well developed leaves and bloom of a freely grown uncrowded plant .- Albany Cultivator.

SMALL POTATOES FOR SEED.

"Some eight years since, at the time of plant- | a lad six years of age, to a lady acquaintance potatoes; the largest being about the size of stole old Hickley's gimlet." common plumbs, but the most of them being smaller. I carried several bushels of these little things to the field, and commenced planting them, putting about from two to four in a hill.

"The potatoes in the different parts of the field came up at the same time, but the vines from the small potatoes were not as large and as thrifty as those from the large ones. At the first hoeing, there was some difference in the tops, but after that the tops from the small potaices looked as well as any of the field, and if they don't get out of his way." continued through the season. When I came to dig them, I found the potatoes, where the small seed was planted, to be as good, in every jack? respect, as those where the large potatoes were planted. There was as many in a hill, and the potatoes were as large, and with as few small ones, as those from the large seed.

Many of the farmers in this vicinity, after seeing the experiment fairly tried, are using small potatoes for seed. This witer I have had several applications from dealers in potatoes they purchase from are generally adopting the way of using small potatoes for seed."

PREPARE FOR LARGE CROPS. We have already alluded to the importance | plied the lady, it will become populous ! of farmers bestiring themselves the approaching season to make their farms produce large crops. As it is a maxim generally established with themeto make hay when the sun shines," they will readily see the importance of this when grain commands the prices they are now receiving-nor is there any probability of a material diminution in price for some time to come. The prospect of a bloody and protracted war in Europe, would seem to point to America as the producer, for the time, of the belligerant nations abroad. A judicious and wise farmer will prepare for the times, and with out impoverishing his soil, put his farm

A few days since, one of the most successful and enterprising farmers of Bucks county informed us that last year on ground he had manured in the spring his corn produed 75 bushels per acre-and on the same quality of soil, without manuring, it did not average 40 bushels per acre. He considered himself well paid under the best system of tillage.

PREACHING WELL APPLIED .- A certain bishop ordered his servant one festival day to go to a butcher whose name was David for a piece of meat, and then come to the church where the bishop was to preach. The bishop in his sermon brought authorities from the scripture to prove his discourse, in this manner, Isaiah says thus-Jeremiah says thus-Ezekiel says thus-at last happening to turn towards the door just as his servant came in, went on, and what says David?

Upon which the servant roared out-David swears that if you do not pay what you owe him you need never send to his shop again.'
