Popular Song.

ALL HAIL TO THE BRAVE AND FREE. All hail to the brave and free,

On land or rolling sea, Whose hosts advance with sword and lance, In the cause of liberty. And whether in triumph's car, They follow vic'trys star, Or patriots fall 'neath glory's pall,

They still are the pride of the war. Then hail th the brave and free, On land or on rolling sea, Whose hosts advance with sword and lance, In the cause of liberty.

Oh, who on the rolls of fame, Shall boast the highest name Or who shall bear, from woman fair.

Those smiles which the world would claim For whom shall the song arise, Which a people send to the skies? For whom shall bloom, on the battle tomb The laurel which never dies? Oh, none but the brave and free, On land, &c.

Then raise our flag on high, A meteor 'gainst the sky; With rolling drum, we'll proudly come, To guard it, or to die. Firm place the lance in rest, Against a faithful breast; The trumpets call, obey we all, And valor shall do the best. And then with the brave and free

A PROTESTANT Cow .- An Irishman who is the proprietor of a boarding house on the C. O. Railroad, east of this city, recently purchased a cow, which being rather wild, he had to halter her to lead her home. His better half opened the conversation, thus:

"Well, Pat, where did you get that brute?" "Sure, I got her of Mr. H."

"What!" said she, "did you buy a cow from a Protestant? But as you have done so, it won't be any harm to put a little holy water on

"Faith, that's well thought of," said Pat; so, without relinquishing his hold of the brute, he held out his hand to receive the holy water, and rubbed it on the animal's back, making the sign of the cross at the time of performing

It so happened that the woman handed him by mistake, a bottle of vitriol, and Pat being unaware of the fact, felt astonished that the cow should wince so under the operation, but on rubbing the supposed holy water a second time, the infuriated animal kicked up her heels, and broke loose from Pat, great to the astonishment of Biddy, who exclaimed:

"Howly mither of Moses! Isn't the Protestant strong in her yet?"

From the Lady's Amaranth. THE BAPTISM OF POCHAHONTAS.

The name of Pochahontas has descended to posterity as the great benefactress, the tutelary genius of the first successful colony planted within the limits of the United States, who when famine raged, or conspiracy menaced with swift destruction, ever interposed her benign and gentle influence to supply their wants and ward off their danger. From all that history and tradition have preserved, as well as from the testimonials of the object of her kindness and protection, from the particulars of her life that have come down to us, and from every authentic memorial now extant, she appears to have been both in mind and person, one of the choicest models the hand of nature ever formed. With the purest simplicity she united the kindest heart, and to the timidity of a spotless virgin she joined a sagacity of tence of the colony was at stake, prompted her to traverse the midnight forest alone, and brave the indignation of her kindred, to give advice and warning.

Inseparably interwoven as is the name and Palestine, gives the following description of history of Pochahontas with the very existence the women of the city of Nazareth. How long and earnestly the "winning of this one soul" had been looked to in the colony, and by its friends and promoters in England, numerous letters and chronicles of that day express in terms that cannot be mistaken for transient impulse. They placed their hopes of lasting prosperity in bringing the savage within the influence of the light of the gospel; and when the pure minded girl knelt at the altar of God, they indulged in pious exultation at the glorious beginning and prospect of peace, security and prosperity, that seemed to dawn upon the colony.

In obedience to the regulation of the town, the captain of the watch had gone his usual round, to shut the ports and place sentinels, and the bell having tolled the last time had searched all the houses of the town, to command every one, of what quality soever, (the sick and hurt excepted.) to repair to church, after which he accompanied all the guards. with their arms (himself being last) into the church, and laid the keys before the governor. The sergeants took their stations, and the Indians gathered about the place of ceremony, as Rolfe supported his destined bride to the rude baptismal font, hewn from an oak of her native forest. Nantequaas, her favorite brother, whom Smith calls "the most manliest, boldest spirit he ever saw in a savage," stood nearest to her own kindred; an elder sister, with her Indian boy, sat in mute, auxious interest and curiosity "Yes, sir-ee-on or off, or any other way, I in front, while her uncle, the sullen, cunning. yet daring Opechankanough shrunk back, and propably even then brooded over the deep laid plan of massacre which he so fearfully execu-"He is the best shot on our prairies or in ted years after, when that spotless Indian girl had gone to reap her reward in heaven.

DAM'L J. MORRELL, G. R. PEDDLE Dec. 5, '54.] SANDRSON R. MARTIN. MAGAZINE AT $2 PER YEAR.-Only those who read the sorial so promptly issued every week by Dickens, with thoughtful appreciation, know how to prize it. "Household Words" is a modern journal for the people, devoted to common subjects, uncommonly treated, excellent in style, in genius, in manner, and wonderfully fertile in subject. The pieces are the right length; they exhibit wonderful variety and are attuned to a harmonious key and romarkable unity of effect. For the money, there is not the equal of "Household Words" for a family journal. Pleasant stories, useful knowledge, graceful anecdotes, charming essays, alternate in its pages. It is not always convenient to secure a copy of the weekly issue on the arrival of a steamer; in order to enjoy regularly this delightful work, we advise our readers to possess themselves of the handsome monthly reprint of McElrath & Baker, who bring out Household Words" with commendable punctuality, at New-York. Frederick Parker, 35 Washington street is the Boston agent .- Boston Trans The articles, both in style and thought, are far superior to the trash that occupies the pages of so many of our popular magazines .- New York

The above are but a few extracts from numerous notices of the press lately received. Those who wish Household Words will receive it monthly by mail upon remitting the subscription price. Specimen numbers sent on receipt of five red postage McELRATH & BAKER, Publishers,
