

THE JOURNAL.

PENCIL NOTES.

Lively our village. Slimly attended—court, this week. Dead—Arista, Ex-President of Mexico. Unabated—the yellow fever at Norfolk. Unpleasant—the weather and the mosquitoes. Blown up—a Catholic Church in Sidney Ohio. Cant be beat—our ticket. See it in another column. A feast—the Locooco meeting last night. They're lost in a bog. In session—the Special Court. Judge Wilson, of Lewistown, is presiding. Query—How many Know Nothings voted at the Locooco primary election? Great hunting—keeping bachelors hall. We're down on it like a thousand of brick. Commencement—the Camp Meeting between this place and Curwensville, on Friday next. Behind—our paper this week. Cant help it—too much to attend to. Do better next time. Commencing in earnest—the fall campaign. There's fun ahead, "keep your eye skinned." Rich—the primary election in Beccaria. Two Locos and five Know Nothings! Crow yo roosters. Bound to be beat—the Locooco ticket nominated on Saturday. They cant shine—they're unper a cloud. Poor business—making windy speeches to empty benches, as the Locooco gas-pipes did last night. It wont pay. American meeting—We understand that there will be an American Meeting held on the Wednesday night of the regular court. Get the griddles ready.—The buckwheat crop throughout the country gives exceeding promise of an abundant harvest. New Goods.—Our friend W. F. Irwin, has just received a large assortment of fall and winter goods. Call and examine them. Thanks—to those subscribers who have called on us this week and paid their subscriptions. We hope there are more who will follow their example. Excited—the clerk to the Commissioners, on Saturday night. He would like to have seen some body "licked." You'd better take care of number one, Bobby. Great business—hoaxing the Locoocos with lost K. N. lists &c. We would suggest to our friends that the game is entirely to small to pay for the ammunition. Apologetic.—We are very busy this week, with court &c., and are unable to give the paper much attention. We hope our readers will look over all our discrepancies. Spirited—the Railroad meeting, last night.—We begin to think it will be made at last. Our citizens are, at length, beginning to act as though they were in earnest. Small pointless—the "tail end," of the Locooco gurtle, last night. The "yellow jacket," was there, but the "sting"—was long ago destroyed with rot-guany whiskey. Poor creature, we pity him. Larceny.—Quite an excitement was caused on yesterday morning by the arrest of "Dutch John," Hemphill's Oyster, on a charge of Larceny. It appears that in the night, Benj. Jury and Wm. Wells, two of Mr. Hemphill's guests, had their handkerchiefs and purse abstracted. In the morning as one of them was passing down street, John accidentally exhibited a corner of the yellow handkerchief, which was immediately seized by the owner who recognized it. John commenced "making tracks" down the alley, but he was soon arrested and brought before Esquire Frank, where, on examination, the missing purse, containing eight or ten dollars, was found in his boot. John was promptly committed to the kind hospitalities of Sheriff Stone. A Prayer.—Our neighbor, in his paper of last week, finds fault with one of the Superintendents of our Sabbath Schools, for talking Know Nothingism, and praying the Lord "to deliver us from Democratic rule." We dont know whether the "Sealer of weights and measures," did this or not, nor do we care. But certainly, if there is one thing above all others, for which a sincere Christian has to the welfare of his country at heart, should pray, it is that the Almighty would speedily deliver us from the "reign" of the present weak, corrupt, and imbecile Administration. Such a prayer might be offered with as much propriety as any other petition for deliverance from a pestilence, for it is fast getting to be a "stench in the nostrils of the nation," and is the source of every species of moral and political leprosy. Fusion.—Its Difficulties.—We commend the following sensible article from the Honesdale Democrat to those of our Editorial Brethren opposed to the National Administration, who ungenerously denounce Americanism. They are by far the strongest party in the North, antagonistic to Pierce Douglas & Co., and it is folly to think of success without their assistance. And that assistance is not to be obtained by vilification and abuses.— "The Triega Agitator is right in declaring that some general plan of operations must be agreed upon among the opponents of the Kansas swindle, or disaster is inevitable. We have seen that from the beginning, and consequently stood ready to unite in any plan of union that recommends itself to our judgment as practicable. But we have submitted, and we again submit, that sweeping and incessant denunciation of the Know Nothings in which the N. Y. Tribune, the Pittsburg Gazette, and many other advocates of fusion indulge, constitutes the great obstacle in the way of fusion. The mass of the Northern Know Nothings are heartily opposed to the Kansas villany, and are willing to co-operate with anybody and with every body to rebuke it; but they have convictions in respect to foreignism which they cannot and will not repudiate for the sake of co-operation with the editors of the Tribune, the Gazette, or any other class of persons. It seems as if these denouncers of the K. N.s were determined not to learn this fact until the great battle shall have been fought and lost."

Correspondence of the Journals'. PHILADELPHIA, September 1st, 1855. One subject only seems at present to fill the public mind, or the editorial columns of our daily papers. The heart-rending Railroad accident at the city of Burlington, N. J. It is really too distressing to enter into particulars. I have just returned home from the scene of the disaster, and words are wanting to give any idea of the condition of the sufferers, or the feelings that are excited by the awful destruction of our four feet more are likely to take place, so that the whole number will not probably be less than 30. But when we take into consideration the amount of agony the survivors have to endure, it seems, those who have met with a sudden death are in some respects not to be so much lamented for. Seeing only can give any idea of the destruction. The cars were literally torn to fragments, and the ground around it strewn with them too small to be gathered up mingled with the lining of the seats, the glass of the windows &c. I saw one poor man last evening who though living, seemed more like one dead, his face was cut and gashed in a frightful manner, his collar bone broken, and several ribs actually broken, and he was, yet not a groan escaped him, but he lay as if unconscious of pain. I was on the ground yesterday with the Coroner's jury examining the locality and the causes of the accident, to me it seemed four-fold though entirely the result of the most reckless carelessness. First the neglect of the Company (who enjoy the sole right of conveying passengers by railroad across the State of New Jersey) to provide a double track road. Second, the neglect of the Superintendent to issue his orders to the Conductors to await the arrival of the other train rather than run the risk of a collision. Third, the recklessness of the Conductor in running backward at a speed positively forbidden by law at that spot, and failing to keep the required look out while approaching a crossing, and, lastly the worse than folly, the madness of the driver of the carriage attempting to cross a railroad at a speed of 8 miles an hour (as he himself admits) without looking to see if a train was coming. I am so gratified that you will transfer the full particulars to your columns, so I speak of facts as though I had mentioned them. This is without exception the most distressing accident that has ever happened in the history of railroads within 20 miles of our city, but you can have no idea of the gloom that spread over Burlington, or the heart-rending scenes dealing death among the inhabitants, and marking its victims as it is doing at Norfolk this city would scarce presented a more sorrowful aspect. All mirth and pleasure was buried, and the citizens nobly turned out to render all the aid in their power, and many a parlor, where but a few moments before, was heard the gay laugh or the happy voice, now heard no more, but the stifled groan, or the hurried words of the attendants. The Physicians of Burlington as well as several from Philadelphia have been untrifling, from the first, to render all that medical skill could do, but alas in too many instances their kind offices will be unavailing. It is due to the Railroad Company to say that since the accident they have done all that they could to help the injured, but alas their assistance comes too late to many. That shortsightedness, which to save a few thousands, has cost them many more, must give way to a more enlightened policy or the people will take the matter in their own hands, and sooner or later they will find it out. This subject has so completely engrossed my mind that I have had to say anything else. Yet a few words about that Williams case. The innocent sufferer of Judge Kane's spleen is still an inmate of the prison, where his health seems to be suffering from confinement, though his spirit is as unbroken as ever. But a voice will go forth from that cell which will shake the strong hold of slavery, and the bell which Judge Kane has unthinkingly set in motion will not cease to toll until slavery shall be driven back to its death-bed. Kansas and Nebraska will be two free States now, or none at all. I believe the convention of the contemplated Republican party met yesterday, but no doings of theirs have come to light. I fear they are little to rely on in their views, and are only attempting to build up the defunct "Liberty party." I am not a full-blooded abolitionist, though a determined opponent of slavery. I believe in the sovereign rights of the individual States, but not of interference with each other, on local considerations, but new Territory is the property of all the States collectively, and there the battle must be fought and won. Business is still pushing ahead, rapidly, and western and Southern merchants are crowding our hotels. Money that all important article is plenty, and the usual out-door rate is 8 per cent for good paper, while the banks generally take all the first class paper offered. Two new banks go into operation on the 3rd. The accounts from Norfolk and Portsmouth of the yellow fever, are still distressing, and aid is still going forward from this city. Over $10,000 in money, besides nearly as much more in drugs &c. have been contributed here. Since this letter was written, I learn another accident occurred on the Camden and Amboy Railroad about nine miles from Philadelphia. Two horses were killed, but providentially the cars were not thrown from the track, or we might have had to record another fearful loss of life. Yours &c. O. O. MARRIED. On Sunday, the 28th ult. by Rev A. M. Barnitz, Mr. JACOB DREYER, of N. York, to Miss ELIZABETH SLOAN, of Clearfield Bridge. On Thursday, 30th ult. by the same Capt. J. DOWLER, of N. Washington, to Miss CORNELIA PATTON, of Curwensville. NOTICE is hereby given to all persons not to interfere or meddle with one bay mare and colt, and one black horse, now in possession of T. W. Horton of Boggs township, as the same belongs to me. He having them on hire only, and to be returned to me when called for. JAMES FORREST, Sept. 5.-31.
