made by the Liquor Leagues, and the opponents of Prohibition generally, about the result of the recent election in Maine. The simple fact that but one member of the Legislature of that State, who voted for the passage of the Liquor Law, has been re-elected, is held forth as conclusive evidence that the sentiments of the people have undergone an entire change, and the result is regarded as an indication that the reign of that law is over .-Grave discussions are had over it, and even ridicule and ribaldry are resorted to unsparingly, by those who would rejoice at the downfait of a principle so glorious as was involved in that law. The opposition papers teem with squibs and paragraphs, while the orators and devotees of the rum interest are in ecstacies, and anticipate that it must have a powerful effect upon the coming election in this State. It seems almost cruel in us to knock away with one blow the beautiful prop our enemies have thus set up to sustain their tottering fabric, but the love of truth and the cause we cherish commands us to do so. In the first place, then, the question of the repeal of the present Liquor Law of Maine was in to way made an issue at the recent election in that State The issues before the people, and upon which that election turned, were entirely distinct from the question of temperance in any shape. Principles purely political, measures of importance to the State, and, in some instances, men rather than measures or principles, were what guided and controlled the people of Maine during their recent canvass and at the polls. In their late sublime devotion to the single cause of prohibition, other matters of importance had become somewhat neglected, and to these it became necessary to attend. It was not, therefore, policy to return the same men to the Legislature who had been originally sent there to carry out a single object, many of whom, perhaps, were not fully calculated to legislate on general subjects. Of course, also, those men had brought themselves into odium with the opposers of the law, and it was better, under all the circumstances, that an entirely new class should be selected, and we cannot but appland the wisdom of the people of Maine in pursuing this course. But, as we said before, the question of repeal was in no wise an issue at the election. And then, in the second place, to break the prop in pieces after having pulled it down, the very men who have been elected are just as good temperance men as those composing the Legislature which created the present law. We have this on the most reliable authority. They even claim to be better men, and stronger advocates of the cause of Officers of Councils will see that the different temperance. They avowed these sentiments openly, before and during the canvass, and on such ayowal received the advocacy and support of the people and were elected. How absurd, then, to claim the result of that election probible that we will only issue a half sheet next as a triumph of the anti-Maine law men! It is completely falsifying the record, and building a structure on the rottenest foundation imaginable. If our opponents can bring to bear no better arguments, no truer facts than these, they must indeed feel that their cause | Jr., for settlement, is hopeless. We trust that our friends through-Our vote.-It is reported that the American out the State will give the extremest publicity

such perverted statements.

We have learned that some two or three weeks ago, a gentleman, representing himself to be a Mr. Ellis, Editor of the "Organ," a Know Nothing paper published at Washington, drove up to Mr. Weikert's store, and professed to be very solicitous to gain accurate information as to the strength and progress of the Know Nothing movement in Adams county. Mr. Weikert was unable to give the requisite Information. The stranger wanted to know how much money might be used to advantage in the approaching political canvass? estate of John Scott, dee'd, viz Mr. Weikert replied that he did not think the votes of our people could be influenced by money—that they were generally intelligent and thinking men, and could not be bought. The latter was then asked whether he would promptly deliver any Know Nothing papers that might be sent to the office-to which he replied that of course, as Postmaster, he would regard it his duty to deliver all papers sent to his office with names endorsed on them .-Whereupon the stranger drove off, not, however, without having had a conference with Keefauver, the accomplished successor of Mr. Weikert. This "Mr. Ellis," wno, by-the-by, has a rich Irish brogue to betray his mission, had a companion with him, who, however, did not make his appearance during the confer-ence with Mr. Weikert, but rejoined the buggy a few hundred yards from the store, and the two drove off. Mr. Weikert's next information on the subject was a notification from Postmaster General Campbell, that his servi-

EAR AND EVE. DES. Le BRUNE & DUFTON. Occulists and Aurists.

Deafness and Ear Diseases Radically Corel Deniness his INFALLIBLE AURAL REMEDIES which have been successful in nearly $,000 cases of confirmed deafness. These remedies comprise different courses for diseases of the internal, middle and external car, and have been pronounce by those celebrated aurists, Drs. Cramer, of Ber lin. Lard. and Delan, of Paris, Curtis, Pilcher and Yearsly of London, as being the MOST WONDER-FUL and EFFECTUAL ever applied for diseases of the internal and middle car. Dr. LeB., WARof the internal and middle ear. Dr. LeB., WAR-RANTS A CUPE in every case where the ear is perfect in formation. He has eighteen certificates of cures from those who had been DEAF AND DUMB, and whose hearing is now completely reserved. tored and are now enabled to learn the language. The names of 2,700 persons who have been cured by Dr. LeB., may be seen on application. Patients, by sending a description of the case, can have remedies sent to any part of the United States. In case of mucus accumulations in the Eustahain Tube and Tympanum, inflammation of the mucus memorane, pervous affections, diseases of the membrane (ympani, called "the drum," or when the disease can be traced to the effects of fewers or colds, the use of quinine or mercurial medicines, gatherings in the ears in children, &c., this treatment STANDS PREEMINENT. When the auditory is dry and scaly, with little or no secretion; when the doafness is accompanied with noise in the ear, like falling water, chirping of intects, ringing of bells, rustling of leaves, continuai pulsations, and discharge of matter, or when in stooping, a sensation is felt as if a rush of blood to the head had taken place; when the hearing is less accure in dulf. cloudy weather, or when a cold has been taken, this method of treating the disease is infalliate.

Dr. Dufton is the only Occulist in the United States who practices the new painless, and successful method in treating all the diseases to which the eye is subject. Where every other means have failed to afford relief, he asks from such a fair and impartial trial. TESTIMONY .- The undersigned practitioners in medicine in the city of New York, having had frequent occasion to witness the practice of Drs. LeBrunn and Dufton, in diseases of the Ear and Eye. laying aside all professional jealousy, freely admit, that the course pursued by them in treating diseases of these delicate organs, from the unparalleled success attending it, is well worth the attention of our professional brethren throughout the United States, feeling assured as we do, that Aural Surgery has not met with that attention which its importance demands. Their system of treating diseases of the middle and internal Ear, by "Medical Vapors." particularly in chronic or complicated cases, forms a new era in the practice of Aural Surgery; such cases yielding in almost every instance to this new and powerful agent.— This practice fills up a void which has long been felt by the general practitioner, enabling him to cope successfully with every case where perfect formation exists.

In diseases of the Eye, they seldom require to resort to the operation. As skillful Anrists and Oculists, enthusiastically devoted to their profession, we cordially recommend them to such as may require their aid
