This Institution of Learning bears the name of the graceful and accomplished American author, whose writings have erected for him a monument more enduring than the polished shaft which marks the resting place of many a brave and gallant spirit whose honors have been won amid the sound of clarion and clash of arms.

It has been established through the individual enterprise of Mr. Solomon P. Gorgas, a liberal-minded gentleman of the town of Mechanicsburg, in the immediate vicinity of which it is located. This town is in the heart of the great Cumberland Valley, which has long been noted for the fertility of its soil, the salubrity of its atmosphere, and the energy and industry of its inhabitants. A railroad passes within a hundred yards of the College, connecting at Harrisburg with the great lines of travel, leading to our large cities, thus rendering it easy of access from all sections of the country. A more beautiful and picturesque spot could not have been selected for its From the dome of the College, the most enchanting views spread out before the eye. The town of Mechanicsburg, reposing in queenly beauty just below, with its neat private dwellings and Christirn temples, whose spires proclaim the appreciative regard of its inhabitants for morality and religion ;-the highly cultivated farms, beautified with clumps of forest trees, and silvery streams which thread their way in various directions ;-and the bold, majestic mountain, which furnishes a sublime back ground to the whole, constitute a panorama of surpassing loveliness.

The College edifice merits special notice. It is built of brick, and is of sufficient dimensions to accommodate in the most comfortable manner, one hundred boarders. Its chambers are unusually large for an institution of this kind, and furnished in the most approved style. No pains seem to have been spared by its noble founder in his arrangements for the physical health and comfort of those who should seek instruction within its walls. Every room is furnished with registers for heat and ventilation, a most important feature in buildings erected for educational purposes. A neat fence surrounds the grounds, enclosing a great variety of trees and shrubbery, presenting a lovely spot for the healthful recreation of the young ladies who may be honored with the privilege of a sojourn within the halls of the Institute. At the last session of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, a charter was granted the College; and, in accordance with one of the provisions, the Faculty have power "to confer such literary degrees and acedemic honors as are usually granted by Colleges upon such pu-pils as shall have completed, in a satisfactory manner, the prescribed course of study."

In regard to the Faculty, the authorities have displayed great wisdom in the selection which they have made. Rev. A. G. Marlatt, A. M., the President, is a gentleman peculiarly adapted to the position which he has been called to occupy. A graduate of one of the first Colleges in the Union, he not only enjoys a fine reputation as a scholar, but combines in his character those superior elements which are so essential to one who presides over an Institution for the intellectual and moral training of young ladies. His excellent lady, too, is graceful and dignified in her bearing, of fine mental cultivation, of superior social qualities, and seems to have a strong hold upon the affectionate regard of the pupils who have been at the College the past year.

Mr. D. R. Coover, A. M., another momber of the Faculty, graduated at Princetod College, and has had considerable experience in teaching in one of the most flourishing Female Colleges in this country. He is a gentleman of fine qualities, and in every way fitted for his position. His estimable and accomplished lady has charge of the musical department of the College. I will close my notice of the Faculty with an allusion to Miss Homans, who is a member thereof. For several years, she has been engaged in teaching, and perhaps has few superiors. Her mild and gentle manners, together with her polished literary attainments, place her in the front rank of female teachers. Happy are the parents, whose daughters are favored with her instructions.

The Irving Female College went into active operation last fall, and has just closed its first year. The system of instruction embraces those branches which are usually taught in the first class institutions. On Thursday, June 25, the young ladies underwent their first examiselected for the occasion, in the presence of a large concourse of spectators. No particular This will make the land of inestimable value. had been divised for conducting the examination; yet the pupils exhibited great pro-ficiency in their studies, giving satisfactory evidence of a thorough acquaintance with the principles involved in the different branches they had studied. The evercises of the day were interspersed with performances on the plano, accompanied with singing by the Misses Porter, of Carlisle. These young ladies exhibited great compass and sweetness of voice, in the several pieces they sang; and are certainly destined to take a high position in this department of femble accomplishments. Un-Mrs.Ccover, the pupils were enabled to evince | West a proficiency in music rarely, attained in so short a period of time. During the day, a beautifui essay was read by Miss Adkins, ot Delaware. Taken as a whole, it would be difficult to find a more interesting class of young ladies in any of our Institutions of learning.

delivered by Rev. Dr. T. Daugherty, A. M., of the East Baltimore Conference. He selected at his theme-"Woman's Proper Sphere," and in a neat, concise, and brilliant manner, shewed his audience, which was large and appreciative, that woman could only be conducted to her proper circle by the refining and elevating influences of Christianity. Some passages of the address were of great beauty, and won for the Reverend gentleman golden opinions from the ladies of the College; and, we have no doubt, but that the resolution was formed in their hearts to reach the distinguished position to which their attention had been directed.

On Friday evening, the President's levee took place. The occasion brought together a great throng of the friends of the college.— Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Carlisle, and the smaller towns and villages of the beautiful Cumberland Valley were well represented. The spacious parlors, the verandas, and even the grounds in front of the College were crowded. tial provision can be made The tables in the refreshment hall were spread most profusely, and adorned most beautifully with everything that could attract the eye and please the taste. As the interesting groups moved in different directions, in many instances exhibiting the highest styles of beauty, I felt that there were those around me, "Fresher than the morning Rose. When the dew wets its leaves, unstained and pure As is the Lily on the mountain snow."

In closing this article, it may be proper to say, that this Institution has already received patronage from nine different States, in the four leading divisions of the Union. Parents wishing to have their daughters educated in a healthy locality, combining every possible advantage, free from all sectarian influences, may be favored with such a place, at Irving Female College. It also has an abundance of the best quality of Coal and Iron. First—The soil is a rich limestone, capable of raising the heaviest crops, owing to which this set-tlement has attained its present great prosperity. DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, WASHINGTON, D. C., 7 Feb., 1850 Six: I have used your Pills in my general and headtal practice ever since you reads them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathurtic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, chasquently they are an admirable remedy for decangements of that organ. Insised, I have seldem found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them.

Fraterhally yours. ALONZO BALL, M.D.,

Physician of the Marine Hospital. Dysentery, Relax, and Worms. POST OFFICE, HARTLAND, LIV. Co., MICH., Nov. 16, 1855. DR. AVER: Your Pills are the perfection of medicine. They have done my wife more good than I can tell you. She had been sick and pining away for months. West off to be doctored at great expense, but got no better. She then commenced taking your Fills, which soon cared her, by expelling large quantities of worms (doad) from her by expelling large quantities of worms (doad) from her-body. They afterwards cured her and our two children of bloody dysentery. One of our neighbors had it bad and my wife cured him with two doses of your Pills, while others around us paid from five to twenty dollars doctors' bills, and lost much time, without being cured entirely even then. Such a meeticine as yours, which is actually good and honest, will be prized here.

HONORID SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on exerteisting neutralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until, by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackanzie, I thied your Phis. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them I am now entirely well.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmenary compliants have male it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and faver yet the communities any where which have not among them seeme living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the Custer Percorat saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, for hay, lect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away.
