TYRONE & CLEARFIELD RAILROAD.

Letter to the editor of the 'Raftsmans Journal'.

S. B. Row, Esq. - My Dear Sir: It has afforded me much pleasure to learn that the late 'excursionists' over the Tyrone and Clearfield Railroad, have expressed themselves highly pleased with the progress of the work upon the Division now under contract and further...

ISMATICAL.

What a word! will most likely be the exclamation of nearly every one whose eyes may happen to fall upon the heading of this article. What a word! say we also, for we believe no lexicographer has yet introduced it into his vocabulary; but that is no reason why it should not be placed among the seventy or eighty thousand words now used in the English language.

A due consideration of the vast importance of this subject to the growth and prosperity of our country, has induced me to call your attention to the many interests involved, as well as to the necessity of adopting the proper measures to consummate the ends we have in view. I am very anxious upon this subject at present, on account of the progress of certain movements in the East, bearing directly towards the prosecution of our enterprise, and I sincerely trust that all those who desire to witness the rapid rise of this section of our State to the position to which its great natural wealth entitles it, will embrace the present opportune moment of securing the completion of our great artery to the Lakes. My reasons for urging this upon your attention, are given in the following remarks:

A few days since, the Committee of the Board of Trade of Philadelphia, to whom was referred the memorial of the Sunbury & Erie R. R. Co. asking for additional capital, etc., made a lengthy report in reference to the condition and affairs of that company, and concluding by recommending most strongly that sufficient means be obtained at once to complete the Eastern Division to Farrisville, and the Western Division from Erie to Ridgway, leaving the middle or mountain Division, embracing 106 miles and the most expensive part of the road to be finished whenever the necessary amount could be raised for that purpose.

On the other hand, the distance to be closed by the S. & E. R. R., is a connected line, amounting to one hundred and six miles, exclusive of the distance yet to be completed to Farrisville, attended with an estimated cost of over $4,000,000. It is not possible to predict where sufficient capital can be raised to authorize the completion of such an expensive piece of work. I do not wish to overstate the prospects of speedily completing our western link. The completion of the above division, with that of our first link to Philadelphia, would leave but a gap of about 70 miles or so to be completed by our own company to furnish a route with an unbroken gauge from Philadelphia to Lake Erie.

On the other hand, the distance to be closed by the S. & E. R. R., is a connected line, amounting to one hundred and six miles, exclusive of the distance yet to be completed to Farrisville, attended with an estimated cost of over $4,000,000. It is not possible to predict where sufficient capital can be raised to authorize the completion of such an expensive piece of work. I do not wish to overstate the prospects of speedily completing our western link. The completion of the above division, with that of our first link to Philadelphia, would leave but a gap of about 70 miles or so to be completed by our own company to furnish a route with an unbroken gauge from Philadelphia to Lake Erie.

There is not a point on the middle division of the S. & E. R. R. that cannot be made tributary to our own road. Every one who is acquainted with the topographical formation of the country along our proposed route, knows that its centre lies along, or parallel with the ridge that forms the watershed of the union, and that, consequently, all the waters naturally made to branch out from the main stem to afford outlets to the wealth of every township. Now, my dear sir, you will agree with me that with a knowledge of the above facts and figures, some steps should be immediately taken to bring the subject clearly before the capitalists of our State. Our citizens do not yet appreciate the many advantages to be derived from the completion of our road, and are indifferent to their realization. We have no every inducement to encourage us in making one more effort to consummate this truly great undertaking.

Now, my dear sir, in consideration of the above facts, I cannot too strongly urge upon you and upon all those who are interested in this matter, the importance of striking while the iron is hot. No time should be lost in bringing this matter before the people both East and West, and in arousing them to a full sense of its importance. All that is now necessary to secure this consummation so devoutly to be wished, is to demonstrate that this road from Philadelphia to Ridgway can be built for less than $1,000,000, the estimated cost of the middle Division of the Sunbury & Erie Road. The entire cost of our first link to Philadelphia, including graduation, superstructure, watering stations, complete, will not reach $200,000 per mile. Double this sum even, and we assume the distance as 70 miles, and we have even then the total cost of our middle division, $2,800,000. This I hold to be over the mark, and so confident am I that it is a large margin, that I do not hesitate to say that it could be built for a much less sum. But this could be very easily ascertained and should be at once.

In conclusion, my dear sir, let me express the hope that you will arouse some action in behalf of this measure. A mass meeting should be called at once, a preliminary survey run through with all possible dispatch, to obtain certain data to act upon, and a committee appointed to bring the matter before the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., and the Councils of the city of Philadelphia. Now, is beyond doubt, the time to move, and I hope there will be no hesitation about taking advantage of it. I have been lengthy on this subject, but knowing its great importance, I am willing to undergo censure for the offence, if success in arousing the citizens of our country to a full appreciation of their present claims.

I remain, my dear sir, Very truly and respectfully, Your obedient servant, S. B. ROW.

POLICY OF THE FREE-STATE MEN OF KANSAS.

The Chicago Tribune says: The Free-State men of Kansas have chalked out a bold, straightforward programme, and are indeflexibly resolved to follow it, and to adhere to it in the most perfect manner. They will pay no taxes to the usurpers, nor recognize the validity of any of their acts.

In the next place, a census will be immediately taken of all the inhabitants and voters in the Territory.

Fourthly: Free-State men will attend to the polls this Fall, at the Territorial election, and secure both the Legislature and the delegate to Congress; which Legislature, when it assembles, will immediately repeal, repudiate, wipe out and obliterate every vestige of the acts and appointments of the late Legislature.

Fifthly: Said Legislature will submit to a vote of the People the Topeka Constitution, which of course will be ratified by an overwhelming majority. This document will then be forwarded to Congress, and admission asked into the Union.

Sixthly: If the Constitution about being framed by the Border Ruffians be submitted to the people, it will be quietly voted down; but if none be allowed to vote upon it but just those who have been registered, the Free-State men will refuse to vote, just as they have done at the recent election. Then the two Constitutions will come before Congress—one of them the work of Pro-slavery ruffians, the other embodying the will of the vast majority of the bona fide settlers of Kansas.

The Indians in Florida all told, men, women and children, hardly muster 200 in number, while the menable to bear arms are less than half a hundred. The country which they occupy is a miserable swamp, the larger part of it several feet under water, and its chief products, as it has been facetiously said, some 500 bushels of frogs to the acre, and some 200 of alligators to the mile. This statement, however, leaves out the musketoes, which have as fair a claim as either the frogs or the alligators to be enumerated among the staples of this miserable district.

The United States, not content with the six or seven millions formerly spent on these Indians, are now spending some hundred thousands more. It may, by careful nursing, cost up to a million or two—by way of continuing this bad job. The power of the United States Government is found quite insufficient to cope with the 200,000 Seminoles and State assistance has to be called in.

Beside large detachments of regular infantry and artillery employed in this service, the State of Florida has been and still is called upon to furnish additional troops. At the last accounts, Captain A. D. Johnson's company of mounted volunteers was being mustered out of the service, their term of enlistment having expired, but to supply their place Governor Broom has been authorized by the War Department to raise ten companies of mounted volunteers, and a boat company 45 strong was also being mustered into the service. Meanwhile, it is a long time since we heard of any Indians killed or even of any squaws or papooses captured, notwithstanding the high price set upon them.

'LAW AND ORDER' DEMOCRACY.—The Democracy's love for 'law and order' is governed entirely by the circumstances with which they are surrounded. The latest intelligence from Minnesota furnishes evidence of the respect for law and the legally expressed will of the people, entertained by the branch of the sham-democratic family located in that territory. It will be remembered that at the recent election held there for delegates to a convention to form a State Constitution, the Republican party succeeded in carrying a fair and effective majority of the delegates to the convention, and the Democrats were elected. The democratic minority, who on other occasions, have claimed to feel such a holy reverence for the vox populi, not only refuse to meet the majority in convention, but actually propose to get up a separate and distinct organization, and thus expose their hypocrisy and double-dealing in its proper light. Their depreciation of the higher law doctrine—their professions of love for the Constitution—and their much vaunted respect for the voice of the people, wherever manifested, are as hollow and unsubstantial as any of the other high-sounding pretensions, by means of which they have been too long permitted to impose on the American people. How long will the people submit to the rule of this dangerous party! Surely the day of deliverance is at hand.

WHAT THE MORMONS THINK.—Brigham Young's organ, the Deseret News, thinks that the Dred Scott decision sanctions polygamy as well as slavery, and we incline to the belief that the people will in any of the Territories of the United States, and Uncle Sam can attend to his own legitimate business without troubling himself any further about them.

MURDER MOST FOUL.

From the solemn hanging of a horse thief by a band of regulators, to the shooting of a political opponent for an offensive expression of opinion, to the killing of two old persons for the sake of a little money, is says the North American, a considerable descent in crime, though, perhaps, not so great as an unreflecting public may imagine. There is always some incentive to the sacrifice of human life whenever it is taken by violence. The atrocious act of killing a man in a political contest is usually perpetrated as done in an unprovoked rage, and under provocation. The robber, on the other hand, who breaks into a farm house, kills the aged farmer and his wife, and steals the money so carefully hoarded up, is stimulated by the appetite for plunder. In either case a murder is committed; and, as there are few robbers who desire to kill their victims, while there are many general brawlers who stand ready with a loaded pistol or a bowie knife to inflict mortal wounds on slight provocation, perhaps, after all, the latter is more of a nuisance than the former.

But there is something revolting in a murder committed for mere plunder, and however we may reason on the subject, human nature stands aghast in horror of as the deepest atrocity in all the dark catalogue of crime. More especially in cases like the murder at McKeesport, Allegheny county, do we shudder to find relatives of the poor victims conspired in the fatal plot to obtain a little money at such a dreadful cost. The telegraph informed our readers on Monday that the three wretches who were arrested, as the murderers of the Wilson family, have been convicted of the deed. It is so rare to witness the execution of a woman, that possibly the female, Charlott Jones, who is among the convicts, may escape in this case; but such mercy is a great wrong upon the community. If ever a criminal deserved hanging, she certainly does; and we hope that no manly sympathy will be shown in her behalf to secure her immunity from punishment. She was the niece of Mr. Wilson and his aged sister. These two poor old persons have given her shelter at their farm house many a time; and only a few days before the murder she had been staying there, leaving no where else to go. She it was who found out the fact of her uncle having saved some hundreds of dollars which he kept in his house. She left her hospitable roof to consort with robbers, and aid in their desperate scheme of plunder. She appears, from the revelations made upon the trial, to have been an utterly abandoned wretch. Her brother was in the gang and saw her practices. The murder was deliberately planned, as she has confessed. In pursuance of the arrangement, she went with her uncle and aunt, at the dead hour of midnight, to her uncle's house, knocked at the door and sought admission. Unsuspectingly, the old man descended and let her in. She had told us that there, under the roof to which she was welcomed, she stood by and saw her uncle and aunt murdered before her eyes by the men whom she had guided there to commit the deed. She showed them the money which was concealed and shared it with them, and then they all escaped. Suspicion was fastened upon her as soon as the murder was discovered. It was known that she had been staying at the house, and her reckless character and destitution of means supplied the motives. She was not going in a different direction to that she had indicated when she first left her uncle's house, and her contradictory accounts of herself increased the suspicion. She was arrested, and her accomplices were also soon taken. She confessed her participation and told the story. If ever a set of criminals deserved hanging, she and the two men who have been convicted with her, do beyond all doubt. The atrocity of the deed exceeds anything of recent date.

DAVID WILMOT.—The Berks County Press of a late date says: It is not our purpose to-day, to go into a lengthy argument to establish the superior merits and claims of David Wilmot over his competitors for the office of Governor. It should suffice that he is a disciple of Thomas Jefferson, and being such, if no other consideration could be advanced, that alone in this age of ours, he is the only one of every freeman of this 'great Republic' of ours. But there are many others, and foremost among them is his sterling integrity—his transcendent abilities—his irreproachable character as a man. We have the honor of an acquaintance and knowledge of himself and his history as a laborer on the Erie Canal, as a law student, as a member of Congress, or as President Judge of the Bradford district, there are many others, and foremost among them is his sterling integrity—his transcendent abilities—his irreproachable character as a man. PENNSYLVANIA ITEMS.

Centre County.—The weevil is making sad havoc in the wheat in the neighborhood of Bellefonte. A negro man, one day last week, driving a pair of horses in a carriage through the streets of Bellefonte carelessly, run over a small child of Mrs. Keaf, fortunately it was not injured. The negro was somewhat saucy when remonstrated about it. He should have been punished for jeopardizing the life of a child—and there are others that deserve to be for similar recklessness. A bear, weighing 400 pounds, and measuring 9 feet 6 inches in length, was killed in Greens Valley, Walker township, on the 7th inst., by James Fulton and Jas. R. Bathurst. The 'Varmint' was an old offender, having ranged the mountains for a number of years, committing depredations, but always escaped, though several times wounded. Two old bullets were taken from under the skin of his neck. Three negroes, two males and one female, were arrested in Halfmoon, on the 14th, on a charge of stealing, and in default of bail were committed to prison.

Indiana County.—On Friday evening, the 10th, a horse attached to a buggy, in which were Dr. Davidson and lady of New Alexandria, commenced kicking while opposite the Indiana House and broke the shafts and dashed the animal to the ground by the bridge by several gentlemen close at hand. The Dr. and his lady escaped without serious injury. Mr. Samuel Daymond, of Montgomery township, harvested a field of wheat on last Tuesday, the 17th inst.,—being probably the first that has been cut in this county the present season.—So says the Register.

VENANGO COUNTY.—A hail storm passed through the northern part of this county on Friday last, injuring the crops considerably. One perhaps more destructive, passed through Sandycreek township on Saturday last. We have not heard of its extent, but whole fields of grain to our knowledge were entirely destroyed. Robert Martin, for one, had a field of Rye—thirteen acres ruined and corn and other grain much injured. Mr. Stroman's growing grain, was also much injured.

York County.—Last week, in Spring-garden township, a young girl, named Loy, was stored by a vicious dog, that entered her mouth, tearing her face in a shocking manner. On Wednesday, a young girl, daughter of Mr. Solomon Oil, residing in Spring-garden township, was bit on the arm by a spider. Shortly after, her arm swelled to an enormous size, causing her intense pain, and she now lies in a critical condition.

LANCASTER COUNTY.—A small child of a Mr. Rice, master of a canal boat at Lockport, was burned to death on the 9th, in a shed which was accidentally set on fire. Mrs. Rice was trying to destroy bed bugs with camphene, which ignited. In attempting to save her child, her clothes caught fire, and she only saved herself by jumping in to the canal, though her recovery is doubtful.

CATHOLIC PATRIOTISM.—The Roman Catholic Sabbath School, paraded through the streets of Danville, on the 4th of July, with all the American flags reversed, showing it a side down. What did it mean? Can anybody tell what these better citizens intended by the movement? Can anybody read the political lesson impressed upon the minds of the children on that occasion? Can either of their apologists in this place inform the public? Whether it was through ignorance or design? We pause for a reply.—American.

Bayard Taylor is about to be married to Miss Marie Hansen, a daughter of the eminent German astronomer of that name. The wedding will take place at Gotha, the residence of the bride's family, in the Autumn, after Mr. Taylor's return from the North Cape. The happy couple will spend the next Winter at Moscow. This event will not prevent the execution of Mr. Taylor's plan of an expedition to Central Asia previous to his return to this country.

Good actions are the best sacrifice.
