SHORT CHAPTER ON SEEDS .- True, a seed is a seed; but it is a good deal more than a seed. It is a history, and it is ready for another history. A whole summer is wrapped up in that pea. A whole summer spent its time about that ear of corn. It came forth small as a needle. It stood tremulous and vellow for weeks, it waxed space in June, it stood up the noblest of grasses in August, with a many-fringed band of flowers on its lap, and with a little baby ear on its breast, with silken hair hanging down uncombed yet untangled, spotted and powdered with pollen. This is the time to wander in corn ! You are hidden at six steps. It is a pet forest. People ride past and wagons roll within a few rods BOARDS, &c., is prepared to fill, on the shortest of you, and you are unseeing and unseen. The wind comes in gentle pufls, and sets all the pliant sword leaves a-quake. Little birds . that do not know that you are there, fly in and alight within hand reach, but at a glance, seeing their mistake, fly as if the tassal was hot and Mechanic streets, one door South of Dr. R. V. and burned their feet! We see all that, in those barrels of Tuscarora corn, in that white flint corn, and in that yard-long ear of yellow flint .- H. W. Beecher.

Down with the Weeds .- Have you ever considered how much ruin to future farm crops lies in the patch of weeds yonder? They are sapping the land now, but this is nothing in comparison with their future history. It is perhaps a group of thistles. Pull off one of those ripening heads, and count like arrows in a quiver. Every one of these seeds is provided with a feathery tail, that will expand and float seeds in the air, like a balloon. The seeds in that single thistle head will probably be scattered over twenty acres, before the snow falls. And every plant has will be sold on accommodating terms. The land some curious provisions for scattering seeds far and wide. Some are so light they float in the air, others will just float in water, and the winter rains carry them to a great distance from their birthplace. The only safeguard against the spread of weeds is the eternal vigilance of the farmer. Cut up the weeds, by the roadside, under the walls, in the gardens, on the manure heap, in the cornfield, everywhere. At no future time can you abate this nuisance so easy as now.

FOR THE CURE OF Bronchial affections, Coughs, Colds, Pleurisy, Broa chitis, Asthma, and all other diseases of the throa and lungs, except Consumption. This invaluable remedy is no quack nostrum, but is prepared from the recipe of a regular physician, who during a practice of twenty-five years, used it with unparalleled success. It is a combination of expectorant remedies, simple in their character and used every educated physician. It is easily taken, produces no nausea or other disagrecable effects, and gives almost immediate relief. In this everchanging climate, where coughs and colds so frequently end in consumption and death, no family should be without this CERTAIN CURE.

It would be easy to follow in the wake of the venders of patent medicine, and multiply certificates got up for the occasion, of miraculous cures, but no adventitious aid is necessary in introducing this preparation to the public. Its real value, and never failing success, in accomplishing all promised for it, cannot but give it a wide circulation, and recommend it to all those afflicted with diseases for which it is a remedy.
