Por the "Rafstsman's Journal." THE FLOWER. BT JOHNNY.

"O, the charms, the charms that Natare has !"

Behold the beautiful flower! These were the words which were almost unconsciously of the live animals as he did about the gun spoken as I was one day walking along a well they gave him. They placed him where the beaten path in a musing mood. My eye had deer was to pass, and told him to fire as soon caught sight of a beautiful boquet, which had as he saw him. He stood and trembled. Soon been formed by the delicate and tasteful hand he heard the baying of the hounds, and before of nature. Hard by the wayside it stood, in long there was a cracking of bushes, and a the open wood. It looked so lovely, so charmon its rare beauty. I looked around, and, lo! asked him why he did not shoot. His lips it seemed companiouless. No others of its trembled as he answered, "I saw nothing but Ione, all alone; but catching myself, as a and his handkerchief sticking out behind." voice seemed to whisper, "my companions are the shrubbery of the fields of nature and the tall oaks of the forest." The rock-oak, which had mocked the rage of many a wintery storm, waved gently in the summer breeze, above its head. The pines of the surrounding hillocks sung in low, sweet, plaintive notes, as the wind passed through their branches. The place seemed to be pervaded by an air of peacefulness. The sun, from his noonday throne, strove vainly to look through the thick foliage which overshadowed this small flower. It was shut out from the smile of "the king of day," except when the passing breeze would form a crevice in the branches of the trees. I stood and gazed upon it till consciousness of my long lingering bid me resume my journey.

Months have been numbered with the past since I beheld this pleasing sight, yet while I vividly before my imagination. In vain have at a raffle." I strove to banish it from my mind. If ever the busy cares of life banish it from my vision, still in the hours of relaxation, in the moments of vacant or wild musings, the lovely flower which grew on the side of the hill and which I saw that day, rises with my thoughts. catches my roving mind, and seems to sweetly woo'my wanderings to quiet repose. Methinks I can see it !

O, lovely flower how oft dost thou steal into my silent musings, and compose my feelings with thy imaginary presence; and ask me to pass upon thee a few moments of thoughtfulness! Aye, and I have not been dumb to thy voice. Thou hast taught me a useful lesson. Long may I remember it. Thou hast taught me to be contented in my humble state. Reader, learn the same. And while I see others rising high around me, as did the tall oaks around the modest flower, may I content myself with simplicity, humility, and purity. While others become mighty "and spread themselves as the green bay tree," may I have no other attainments than modest worth. Then if I rise I will rise worthily. If I fall as I am the Broadway order, went into the country, and they invited him to a deer hunt. He had seen the antiers of a deer, and had a lively notion of venison, but he knew about as little magnificent deer rushed by with immense anting, that it was almost impossible to resist the lers and tail crect. The city chap stood still temptation of stopping to feast one's eyesight and trembled. The huntsmen came up, and

An Irishman coming from the Fourth of July considerably bewildered, and seeing the houses and everything else going in a queer manner, concluded that the easiest way to get quickly home was "to stand still until his own loor passed him, and then make a drive for it."

An English writer says, in his advice to young married women, that their mother, Eve, "married a gardner." It might be added that the gardner in consequence of this match lost his situation.

"Now, look'er yer, Charlie, Jim mout be an honest nigger, and then again he montent, but if I was a chicken, and knowed he was about the yard, I tell yet wot, nigger, I'd roost high, I would."

M. WEAVER.

The Tribune was first issued as a Daily on the 10th of April, 1841. Its Weekly edition was commenced in September of the same v ar ; its Semi-Weekly in May, 1845. It was the first daily n America to issue a double or eight-page sheet at a low price, and it has kept at least even with the foremost of its rivals in the rauid expansion of Newspaper enterprise, which the great extension of Railroads, and the establishment of the Telegraph system have crowded into these last sixteen eventful years. No larger journal is afforded at so low a price in any quarter of the world; none in America, no matter at what price issued, pays an equal amount, weekly or monthly, for intellectual labor. It employs correspondents regularly in the leading capitals of Europe, and at the most important points on this continent, with a liberal staff of writers and reporters at home, regarding full, early and accurate information as the first ob-ject of a Newspaper, and the timely and thorough elucidation thereof as the chief end of its Editorials. In that spirit, "The Tribune" has been and will be conducted, extending and perfecting its correspondence so fast as the increase of its patronage will justify the expense. Should the cur-rent attempt to connect the Old with the NewWorld by the magnetic wire prove successful we shall very soon, at a heavy cost to ourselves and, we trust, a corresponding advantage to our readers publish each morning a synopsis of the preceeding day's occurrences throughout Europe. Northern Africa and Western Asia, with regular reports of the markets, the monetary aspects and harvest prospects of hither Europe. With a good atlas beside him and his daily paper on his fireside table, the American farmer or artisan within a day's ride of the city may then study each evening the doings of the civilized world throughout the day preceding; and it seems hardly possible that any who can read, but especially one who has children to ducate, will longer deny himself the pleasure and profit of a daily journal. The same is true mea-surably of those who live further inland ; though, where mails are infrequent, a Semi-Weekly, or even a Weckly, may seem sufficient. The Tribune deals with questions of Political Economy, Public Policy, Ethics, Material Progress and whatever may affect the Intellectual. Moral, Social and Physical well being of mankind, dogmatic Theology alone excepted. Its leading idea is the honoring of honest useful Work in whatever sphere or capacity, and the consequent elevation of the Laboring class in knowledge, virtue and general esteem. It is necessarily hostile to Slavery under all its aspects. to Intemperance in whatever form or degree with its accessories, to War save in the defense of Country and Liberty against actual invasion, and to every form of Gambling. Desiring to see Production extended and encour aged, while wild Speculation and uscless Traffic are curtailed, it favors the policy of sustaining and diversifying Home Industry by a discriminating Tariff-a policy which tends to increase the price of Grain to the farmer while diminishing that of Bread to the artisan, by reducing the distance across which their respective products are exchanged and, of course, reducing the cost of their transfor. Regarding Fillibusterism in all its phases, and every form and device of National covetousness, with unqualified abhorrence as the bane of Republies and in their triumph the grave of Equal Human Rights, we seek by every means to woo and win the attention of our countrymen from pro jects of aggrandizement abroad to enterprises of development and beneficence at home, foremost among which we rank a Railroad through the heart of our territory to connect the waters of the Atlantic with those of the Pacific. Believing that the goods of this life are not yet fairly distributed and that no one ready to work should ever famish in unwitting idleness, it lends an open car to every suggestion of Social improvement which does not countervail the dictates of cternal Morality nor war upon that natural right of every one to whatsoever he has fairly produced or honestly ac-quired, whose denial must sink mankind into the haos and night of barbarism and universal squalor. With a profound consciousness that idlers, drunkards, libertines and profligates can never be other (in the main) than needy and wretched, it bears aloft the great truth that Prevention is better than Punishment-that the child trained up in the way he should go, will rarely in after years desert that way for the thorny paths of Vice and Crime-that a true Education-Religious; Moral and Industrial as well as Intellectual-is the most effective temporal antidote to the errors and woe Recognizing in the most degraded of our race. specimen of Humanity a divine spark which should e reverently cherished, not ruthlessly trodden out, we have charity for all forms of evil but those which seek personal advantage through the debasement of our fellow-beings. The champion of no class or caste, the devotce of no sect, we would fain be the interpreter to each other of men's better impuses and aspirations, the harbinger of general concord between Labor and Capital, and among those whom circumstances or misapprehensions have thrown into unnatural antagonism. A cotemporary once observed that he never knew a hard, grasping, niggardly employer who did not hate 'The Tribune,' nor a generous, large-souled, kindly one, willing to live and let live, who did not like it. We ask no higher praise, no warmen attestation The circulation of The Tribune is at this time as follows : Daily, 32,000 copies; Weekly, 176,800 copies; Semi-Weekly, 16,000 copies; California and European, 6,000 copies; Total, 230,800 copies That of the Semi-Weekly and Weekly we believe to be exceeded by no other newspaper published in the world ; that of the Daily falls behind that of some of our cotemporaries. Had our hostility to Human Slavery and the Liquor Traffic been more guarded and politic, our baily issues would now be some thousands heavier and our Advertising far more lucrative : but of 'our patronage generally we have no reason, no wish, to complain. Of late, a concerted effort has been made to diminish our rural circulation through the influence of the Postmasters, some of whom embark in it eagerly, others under political restraint, while a large number, we are happy, for the sake Human Nature, to state, refuse to be dragooned into it at all Still, we have been made to feel the heavy hand of Power, and have doubtless lost thousands of subscribers in consequence. Pretexts to which no individual in his private capacity would have stooped have been relied on to justify the stoppage of our papers within reach of their subscribers and rightful owners, and their retention in the Post-Office till their value was destroyed. Postmasters have been schooled by rival journals-several of them living on their self-proclaimed ability to serve as an antidote to The Tribune-as to their political duty to promote at our expense the disemmination of gazettes of adverse politics. We shall outlive this warfare, but we do not affect indifference to it. In the open field of discussion we fear nothing; but in the tens of thousands of rural neighborhoods where the Posmaster can induce many of his quiet neighbors to take the journal he recommends we have already lost some patrons, and expect to lose more as our subscriptions for this year expire. We appeal, therefore, to the hearty, faithful, fearless advocates of Free Labor and Free Soil throughout the land to take eare that this official warfare on our circulation be not prosecuted without counteraction. We employ no travelling agents, for we will not consent to have the public harrassed with the solicitations of strangers in our behalf We strike the name of each subscriber to our Weekly and Semi-Weekly from our books as soon as his term has expired, for we will not haunt our patrons with duns for arrears which they may say they never intended to incur. for papers which perhaps they never read ; we rely for the renewal of our subscriptions solely on the volunteered efforts of those who. liking our paper, believe its influence salutary and worthy to be extended; and thus far our reliance has been justified, as we trust it may continue to be. The Tribune is printed on a large imperial sheet. 321 by 44 inches, folded in quarto form, and mail-ed to subscribers at the following

AGRICULTURAL.

CORN AND HOGS .- From carefully conducted experiments by different persons, it has been ascertained that one bushel of corn will make a little over 10¹/₂ pounds of pork-gross. Taking the result as a basis, the following deductions are made, which all our farmers could do well to lay by for a convenient reference-That:

When corn costs 12% cents per bushels, pork costs 12 cents per pound. When corn costs 17 cents per bushel, pork costs 2 cents per pound.

When corn costs 25 cents per bushel, pork costs 3 cents per pound.

When corn costs 33 cents per bushel, pork costs 4 cents per pound.

When corn costs 50 cents per bushel, pork costs 5 cents per pound.

The following statements show what the farmer realizes in his corn when sold in the form of pork :

When pork sells for 3 cents per pound, it brings 25 cents per bushel in corn.

When pork sells for 4 cents per pound, it brings 32 cents per bushel in corn. When pork sells for 5 cents per pound, it brings 45 cents per bushel in corn.

AN EXTENSIVE FARMER .- A correspondent of the Silver Creek Mirror says that Colonel Jacob Carroll of Texas, is the largest farmer in the United States. He owns 250,000 acres of land, (nearly four hundred square miles,) in this and adjoining counties. His home plantation contains about 8,000 acres, nearly all valuable bottom lands, along, the Guadalupe river. On this farm he has over six hundred acres in cultivation, on which he raises annually about three hundred bales of cotton, worth at the plantation from seventy-five to highest price. [Oct.16.] WM. IRWIN. one hundred dollars per bale, and twenty thousand barrels of corn, worth about one dollar and fitty cents per barrel. He has a force of about fifty field hands, and he works about sixty mules and horses, and fifteen yoke of oxen. Colonel Carroll has. on his immense ranges of pasture lands, about one thousand horses and mules, worth $50,000; one thonsand head of cattle, worth $7,000; six hundred hogs, worth $2,000; three hundred Spanish mares, worth $15,000; fifty jennies, worth $2,000; fifteen jacks, worth $9,000; and five stallions, worth about $2,500. Colonol Carroll's property in stock and negroes, is worth at least $100,000; and the value of his landed estate will swell to to over a half a million of dollars. His annual income from the sale of stock amounts to from $5,000 to $10,000 and from the sale of cotton to from $15,000 to $20,000. ----
