THE RAFTSMAN'S JOURNAL,

AGRICULTURAL.

KEEPING POTATOES IN WINTER .- Potatoes spoil in winter, if buried, from three causes. First and greatest, want of ventilation. Secondly, and nearly allied, dampness. Thirdly, and more rare, freezing. Farmers find most of their potatoes spoiled at the top of the heap; where they suppose they became frozen; but this is not the usual cause, the damp, foul, steamy air ascended there, and could not escape, and this spoiled them. A hole made in the top, with a crowbar, and closed with a wisp of straw, would have allowed egress to the confined air, and saved the potatoes.

The best way to secure potatoes out-door, is to take large heaps, say 50 or 60 bushels; see that they are dry and clean, by digging before wet weather comes on ; cover them all over with one foot of packed straw, and three inches of earth. The straw will prevent dampness, and the few inches of earth will favor ventilation. A farmer who raises many potaoes, and practices this mode, does not lose a peck, on the average, in 50 bushels.

HENS AND EGGS .- For several years past I have spent a few weeks of the latter part of August on the Kennebec river, in Maine. The lady with whom I have stopped is a highly accomplished and intelligent housewife. She supports a "hennery," and from her I derived my information in this matter. She told me that for many years she had been in the habit of administeing to her hens with their common food, at the rate of a teaspooninl of cavenne pepper each alternate day, to a dozen fowls. Last season, when I was with her, each morning she brought in from twelve to fourteen eggs, having but sixteen hens in all. She again and again experimented in the matter, by omitting to feed with the cayenne for two or three days. The consequence invarifive or six per day. The same effect of using the cayenne is produced in winter as well as in the summer.-Boston Transcript.

VALUE OF STRAW IN MANURES .- It is found by careful chemical examination, that different kinds of straw possess quite different values, to work up into manure. This relative value is very nearly determined by the quantity of nitrogen they contain. Barley straw is the poorest of all; oat and rye straws are about one-third better; wheat is nearly double in value to barley ; buckwheat is rather better than wheat ; meadow hay or corn-stalks are far ahead of any of these, being five times as rich in nitrogen as barley straw; and red clover hay and pea-straw are each about eight times as rich as barley. Whether these substances are mixed directly with manure, or eaten first by animals, they produce their relative effect.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE, 1857-8. BACK AGAIN IN THE OLD SHOP, ON THIED STREET. the 10th of April, 1841. Its Weekly edition was commenced in September of the same y.ar; its Semi-Weekly in May, 1845. It was the first daily in America to issue a double or eight-page sheet at a low price, and it has kept at least even with the foremost of its rivals in the rapid expansion of Newspaper enterprise, which the great extension of Railroads, and the establishment of the Tele-graph system have crowded into these last sixteen if application be made soon. eventful years. No larger journal is afforded at so low a price in any quarter of the world; none in America, no matter at what price issued, pays an equal amount, weekly or monthly, for intellectual labor. It employs correspondents regularly in the leading capitals of Europe, and at the most important points on this continent, with a liberal staff of writers and reporters at home, regarding full, early and accurate information as the first object of a Newspaper, and the timely and thorough elucidation thereof as the chief end of its Edito-rials. In that spirit, "The Tribune" has been and will be conducted, extending and perfecting its correspondence so fast as the increase of its pa-tronage will justify the expense. Should the cur-rent attempt to connect the Old with the NewWorld by the magnetic wire prove successful, we shall ve-ry soon, at a heavy cost to curselves and, we trust, a corresponding advantage to our readers publish each morning a synopsis of the preceeding day's occurrences throughout Europe, Northern Africa and Western Asia, with regular reports of the markets, the monetary aspects and harvest prospects of hither Europe. With a good atlas beside him and his daily paper on his fire-ide table, the American farmer or artisan within a day's ride of the city may then study each evening the doings of the eivilized world throughout the day preced-ing; and it seems hardly possible that any who can read, but especially one who has children to educate, will longer deny himself the pleasure and profit of a daily journal. The same is true mea-surably of those who live further inland ; though, where mails are infrequent, a Semi-Weekly, or ven a Weekly, may seem sufficient. The Tribune deals with questions of Political Economy, Public Policy, Ethics, Material Progress and whatever may affect the Intellectual, Moral, Social and Physical well being of mankind, dogmatic Theology alone excepted. Its leading idea is the honoring of henest useful Work in whatever sphere or capacity, and the consequent elevation of the Laboring class in knowledge, virtue and general esteem. It is necessarily hostile to Slavery under all its aspects, to Intemperance in whatever form or degree with its accessories, to War save in the defense of Country and Liberty against able was, that her product of eggs fell off to actual invasion, and to every form of Gambling. Desiring to see Production extended and encour-aged, while wild Speculation and uscless Traffic are curtailed, it favors the policy of sustaining and diversifying Home Industry by a discriminating Tariff-a policy which tends to increase the price of Grain to the farmer while diminishing that of Bread to the artisan, by reducing the distance across which their respective products are exchang ed and, of course, reducing the cost of their trans-far. Regarding Fillibusterism in all its phases, and every form and device of National covetous ness, with unqualified abhorrence as the bane of Republics and in their triumph the grave of Equal Human Rights, we seek by every means to and win the attention of our countrymen from projects of aggrandizement abroad to enterprises of developement and beneficence at home, foren among which we rank a Railroad through the heart of our territory to connect the waters of the Atlantic with those of the Pacific. Believing that the goods of this life are not yet fairly distributed. and that no one ready to work should ever famish in unwilling idleness, it lends an open car to every suggestion of Social improvement which h does ot countervail the dictates of eternal Morality nor war upon that natural right of every one to whatsoever he has fairly produced or honestly acquired, whose denial must sink mankind into the chaos and night of barbarism and universal squal-With a profound consciousness that idlers, drunkards, libertines and profligates can never be ther (in the main) than needy and wretched, it bears aloft the great truth that Prevention is bet ter than Punishment-that the child trained up in the way he should go, will rarely in after years desert that way for the thorny paths of Vice and

Gloves, Bolting Cloths, &c. | Aug. 1, '55,-1y, GEORGE W. COLLADAY, Conveyancer and Land Agent, No. 3, Goldsmith's Hall, Philadelphia, will faithfully attend to all business

In the days of his young manhood, be was workman on the farm of a very wealthy landholder in the State, and there sprung up between the young laborer and the old man's daughter, what is often called a "secret attachment."

By the by attachments are generally secret. Ben and his Dulcina made out matters in proper time, without the knowledge or consent of his intended father-in-law. Indeed the old man had never suspicioned that the aspirations of the youth were tending towards an alliance with his family-and if it had ever occured to him he would have always spurned the thought. Ben was aware of his aristoeratic notions and of the existence of almost insurmountable objections to the match. So one day, consulting the ingenuity of nature, he devised ways and means to bring it about.

Going to the old man, he told him that, unfortunately he had conceived a liking for the daughter of a wealthy farmer in the neighborhood-that it was impossible to gain the consent of the girl's father-that he loved her and she loved him; and asked what course he would advise him to pursue.

"Won't she run away with you ?" said the old man.

"She might," answered Ben, "I could make the arrangements. Do you think it would be honorable for me to take the advantage of that 122

"Certainly," replied the originator of the plot. "There would be nothing wrong."

Ben so enlisted the old man that he made him a tender of his horse and buggy, and a few dimes to carry out the enlopement. The place of meeting was arranged and-reader you know what followed.

Ben ran off with the old man's daughter, a fact which the old fellow snuffed in the next mornings breeze, and one which chagrined him not a little. Winding up as novels do, Ben and his wife were forgiven.

COLLDN'T OBEY THE SCRIPTURES .- Two boys were fighting a few days ago, when a gentleman, seeing the larger one pummeling the other rather severely, seized him and pulled him into his store. The boy in a blubbering tone said, "look he has given me a black eye," and for papers which perhaps they never read ; we restarted to re-attack him. "Stop," said the gentleman, detaining him, "don't you know we are commanded by the Scriptures, when smitten on one check to turn the other?" "Yes," replied the boy, still blubbering, "that would be a h- of a note ; then I'd have two black eyes."

AN INTERESTING SPECTACLE-the Democracy in the City Hall Park, New York, rejoicing over a victory by consuming a generous quantity of powder at fifty cents a pound, and having for spectators a crowd of starring people smoking segars.

WHEN we see a man sitting on a corner, on a moonlight night, trying to convince his own shadow that it is improper to follow a gentleman, we usually set him down as a good subject for a sign at a whiskey shop.

That of the Semi-Weekly and Weekly we believe to be exceeded by no other newspaper published in the world; that of the Daily fails behind that of some of our cotemporaries. Had our hostility to Human Slavery and the Liquor Traffic been more guarded and politic, our Daily issues would now be some thousands heavier and our Advertising far more lucrative; but of our patronage generally we have no reason, no wish, to complain. Of late, a concerted effort has been made to diminish our rural circulation through the influence of the Postmasters, some of whom embark in it eagerly, others under political restraint, while a large number, we are happy, for the sake Human Nature, to state, refuse to be dragooned into it at all. Still, we have been made to feel the heavy hand of Power, and have doubtless lost thousands of subscribers in consequence. Pretexts to which no individual in his private capacity would have stooped have been relied on to justify the stoppage of our papers within reach of their subscribers and owners, and their retention in the Postightful Office till their value was destroyed. Postmasters have been schooled by rival journals-several of them living on their self-proclaimed ability to serve as an antidote to The Tribune-as to their political duty to promote at our expense the dismmination of gazettes of adverse politics. shall outlive this warfare, but we do not affect indifference to it. In the open field of discussion, we fear nothing; but in the tens of thousands of rural neighborhoods where the Posmaster can induce many of his quiet neighbors to take the journal he recommends, we have already lost some patrons and expect to lose more as our subscriptions for this year expire. We appeal, therefore, to the hearty, faithful, fearless advocates of Free Labor and Free Soil throughout the land to take care that this official warfare on our circulation be not prosecuted without counteraction. We employ no ravelling agents for we will not consent to have the public harrassed with the solicitations of strangers in our behalf. We strike the name of each subscriber to our Weekly and Semi-Weekly from our books as soon as his term has expired, for we will not haunt our patrons with duns for arrears which they may say they never intended to incur. ly for the renewal of our subscriptions solely on the volunteered efforts of those who, liking our paper, believe its influence salutary and worthy to be extended; and thus far our reliance has been justified, as we trust it may continue to be.
