THE RAFTSMAN'S JOURNAL.

THE JOURNAL.

CLEARFIELD, PA., MARCH 17, 1858.

We direct attention to the advertisement of George Shuitze, who has opened a new Boot and Shoe Shop on Main Street, opposite the jail, Clearfield Borough.

BREAK UP .-- For some three or four days past the weather has been very moderate here. and finally, on yesterday, there was a general breaking up of the ice on the river and creeks. "Rafting-in," as the process of constructing rafts is termed, will doubtless commence immediately, and if the water rises a little more, and keeps up, in the course of a few days we expect to see rafts descending the river.

LUMBER TRADE .- It appears that an enormous amount of lumber has been hauled out, and prepared for market, during the past few weeks; and, as the people in the lumber region are suffering from a tightness in the moncy market, it is presumed that all the lumber on hand will put into market at almost any price ...

We copy the above item from the Middletown Journal, of the 11th inst. Whether designedly or otherwise, it is calculated to create wrong impressions. The quantity of lumber hauled out, if the remarks in the above paragraph are intended to apply to this region, is not so "enormous" as to excite any alarm here. We have made inquiry into the matter, and, as stated last week, we are well satisfied that the quantity this season will not be quite as large as usual. It is true enough that financial affairs are tight here-just as they are all over the country ; but still we do not apprehend that our lumbermen are so "hard up" that they will put their stock into market "at almost any price," or at a sacrifice. If the prospects are not favorable, many of our dealers are in a situation to keep their lumber at home for another year, or run it to Port and float it themselves. It is high time, we think, that our lumbermen adopt some measures to

For the Journal.

Rafting time is at hand. The business of rafting is a hard and laborious job. In order to save some hard work, I venture some suggestions to the many raftsmen. I will mention the oars, as they are the main dependance. Now, to make a good oar, you want to study the philosophy of it. It is the lever power that makes it work the raft with case. I have met with some men who said the lever power is of no use, and a good oar is way out in the water ; but such men are not the kind that I write to, and the quicker they kill themselves proceedings of the late State Conrention. in illuswith their club oars, the better. Now, you acterized its proceedings. An apt illustration. that want to save your bones, make good oars; Adjourned-the Virginia Legislature, sine have them with as much lever in your favor as possible; have broad blades, and light and stiff stems. With a good oar made right, a man can work a raft with ease and one-third the bone labor. With an oar that is longer into the water than it is out, your strength opcrates as much to move the raft back as forward : like as if you get into a tub and try to lift yourself up by the handles-your feet push down as much as your hands pull up. Or, like a boy whom I saw once in my time. He that Sam lives again in 1858, and that in the meanwas in the bow of a skiff, and it started out time his numerous offspring have attained full age from shore. The stern was next to shore ; the boy got the chain and pulled back like a fine fellow, but the skiff went on out. He did not know that his feet pushed as much out as his hands pulled in. He was just such a philosopher as some of our oar-makers. Some of them are under a grand mistake by some means or other; but it is a self-evident fact that the oar with a leverage works more on the raft in the direction you intend it, for if you are close up to the oar pin your feet push back as much as your hands push forward. A second tho't as your hands push forward. A second tho't will convince any man of the truthfulness of Royal of England, learned the trade of a composthis fact. FOR THE CURE OF Bronchial affections, Coughs, Colds, Pleurisy, Bron chitis. Asthma, and all other diseases of the throa and lungs, except Consumption. This invaluable remedy is no quack nostrum, but is prepared from the recipe of a regular physician, who during a practice of twenty-five years, used it with unpar-alleled success. It is a combination of expectorant remedies, simple in their character and used by every educated physician. It is easily taken, produces no nausea or other disagreeable effects, and gives almost immediate relief. In this everchanging climate, where coughs and colds so frequently end in consumption and death, no family should be without this CERTAIN CURE. It would be easy to follow in the wake of the venders of patent medicine, and multiply certificates got up for the occasion, of miraculous cures, but no such adventitious aid is necessary in introducing this preparation to the public. Its real value, and never failing success, in accomplishing all promis-ed for it, cannot but give it a wide circulation, and recommend it to all those afflicted with diseases for which it is a remedy.
