WALDENSES COMING TO WESTERN VIEGINIA. -A communication has been published in several of the religious and secular newspapers, from the Rev. Mr. Lorriaux, who has been for some time laboring for the spiritual benefit of the French population of Boston, designed to every additional insertion 25 cents will be chargawaken the sympathy and call forth the beney- ed. A deduction will be made to yearly adverolence of the American people in behalf of a large number of pious, fragal, and industrious six months, and no paper will be discontinued un-Waldanses anxions to emigrate to this land of til all arrearages are paid, except at the option of Waldenses, anxions to emigrate to this land of civil and religious liberty. The reasons given for this desire, were the limited territory to which they are confined at home; the sterility of the soil ; the prospect of continuous poverty to themselves and their descendants; the excessive taxation ; the constant attacks upon their holy religion; and the annoyance to which they are exposed from a Jesuitical and Inquisitorial priesthood. It is now stated, on reliable authority, that Mr. Lorriaux has secured three thousand acres of good land, to be occupied by his congregation about to come to this country-numbering some five hundred Coroner. . . . George Richards, . souls-in Monongalia county, Virginia, within eight miles of Morgantown, and only twenty miles from the Pennsylvania line, at the low price of seventy-five cents per acre. This gentleman supposes the report of this purchase will induce many thousands of French Protestants to seek new homes in the same, or similar localities, leaving their own country, where their dearest rights are always in danger, and where land commands a price of from $200 to $500 per acre. Whilst the old world cannot well afford to lose such people, they will be welcomed to this. A blessing to any community will be those who profess the faith of the Huguenots, of the Jays of New York, and of the Marions of South Carolina. The history of the Protestantism and piety of the devout French and Swiss of former days, is not now as generally known as it should be, or as it will be .- Pres. Banner.

AN EXPERIMENT IN DRAINING .- When we witness the change of a sterile soil into a fertile one, through the influence of draining, it is conclusive evidence of the value of labor so applied. Such has recently come under our notice, and we shall recall it for our readers. It not unfrequently happens in hilly or gently undulating districts, that intervales and damp family articles generally. springy soils abound, requiring draining before it can be brought into profitable cultivation. The instance in question was a field of fair surface, quite free from stone, but receiving from more elevated land a continual supply of clear, cold, soft spring water, which ran over nearly the whole surface. The owner, faithless at reclaiming the lot, was yet desirous of collecting the water to supply a reservoir for cattle. This was mainly accomplished by cutting a drain across the slope of land near the upper side of the field, for about a hundred rods in length, which did so much for draining the surface that other ditches were cut, completing the work. The drains were finished with the flat stone usual in such districts, carefully laid and covered with a good coat of straw, before replacing the dirt. Now of the change produced. A crop never grew upon this lot from the time it was cleared until after it was drained. Water grasses and weeds were the only product; but since draining, it has produced annually over two tons of good hay per acre, without any manure. The appearance of the soil is wholly changed from a tenacious blue clay, adhering to one's boots like tar, to a clear, black, clay loam-just such a soil as always produces remunerative crops to the farmer .- Country Gentleman. Two murders were perpetrated in New York city on the 8th Feb. One victim was a man named Davis who was stabbed by another named Tynon, in a low dance-house-the other, a colored woman, was chopped about the head, in a horrible manner, by her daughter, while asleep, for her money, in order that she might have the means of living with her black lover. The details are frightful. The mother had $55; to procure this, and to gratify their lust unrestrained, the criminal lover induced the daughter to commit the crime. The first cut of the axe gave but a ghastly wound, and as the poor old woman rolled over the floor, several more cuts had to be given before the tragedy was finished. A traveller in Norway, writing to the Boston Recorder, gives an account of the northermost paper in the world, the Tromsoe Times. It is printed at Tromsoe, a little island village of about 4000 inhabitants, on the coast of Nor-ly occupied by Hon. G R Barrett, where he can way, at three degrees within the Polar circle. The summer sun kindly looks in at the office windows at midnight, to see that the forms are properly set up. The "Times" is a four paged semi-weekly sheet, with only two columns on a page, and is about the size of a quarto book form. The style of type is the Gothie, which has been discarded in Sweden, and to a considerable extent both in Germany and Denmark. The latter are the only nations which retain the Gothic hand-writing.
