THE EUROPEAN WAB .- At last Europe is paipably on the very eve of that great war, the approach of which has been clear to all discerning eyes since the beginning of the present year. The Niagara, which arrived at Halifax last Thursday, reports that on the 20th ult., Austria addressed to Piedmont an ultimatum to whose demands an affirmative answer was required by the 24th. These demands are that Piedmont shall immediately disarm, and especially shall dismiss the volunteers who have been gathering to her standard in considerable numbers from all parts of Italy within the last two months. If these conditions are not complied with in the time specified. Austria will at once declare war; and this menace is supported by the movement of a torce of 80,000 men upon the Piedmontese frontier, in addition, it is said, to those already collected there. This army is of course intended for the immediate invasion of Piedmont, and will proceed to cross the line the instant war is formally proclaimed. Austria has evidently been forced to take this step to Pittsburgh with a hand-car and brought the gain time, and conquer Piedmont before the French can relieve the latter. Such a victory will, however, be of little avail to Austria, for there are a number of circumstances which indicate that the present complications were set on foot by Louis Napoleon, with the consent of the Russian Government, and that the design of the parties is simply to reduce Austria to a secondary place in Europe. In this during the day, and the jury believing that they may succeed; but a war once begun in Europe may not be so easily terminated, and will in all probability revive the revolutionary spirit, which, not many years since, caused nearly every crowned head upon the eastern continent to fear and tremble.

Judge Cadwalader, of Philadelphia, occasionally does some queer things on the bench. A few days since he sentenced Judge Vondersmith, who was convicted of forgery, to pay a fine of $5,000, and to undergo an imprisonment of twenty years; but accompanied it doubtless threw herself into the River. . . On with the remark that if the prisoner would pay $30,000 into the Treasury, he would sign washing, was thrown from the wagon, and a memorial for the remission of ten years of falling against the horse, was so badly injured the imprisonment. The severity of the sen- by his kincks that she died on Sunday. . . A tence is of itself extraordinary; but the idea of suggesting to a man to restore a large sum of money, under a promise that he may have a chance of a pardon after undergoing ten years' imprisonment, is an absurdity. It is doubtful whether such a sentence can be carried out. The prisoner, though he deserved to be punished for the frauds he perpetrated, will probably be discharged on habeas corpus before the Supreme Court, or pardoned by the President, and the ends of justice be defeated, through the fault of the Judge.

LUMBER FOR THE HOLY LAND .- The Savannah Republicun reports a schooner loading there, destined for Beirout, one of the seaports would have supposed that In the course of human events the pine forests of Georgia would Baalbek, to modernize the ancient city of Damascus, both of which are in the vicinity of Beirout, or to frame anew the domes and palaces of the Holy City! Yet time, in its wonderful revolutions, has made it a living reality, and in future days the Georgian, who shall make his pilgrimage to that distant land, can mingle the associations of his own home with the sacred memory of a soil that was trod by the Savior of mankind. THE SLAEVRY TROUBLES IN TEXAS .- The difficulties between the inhabitants of Fannin county, Texas, and the anti-slavery Methodists located in that quarter, have been temporarily settled by the latter agreeing, for a time, to abstain from preaching. The Texas Advocate, the organ of the Methodist church South, fully and warmly endorses the proceedings of the people, and urges the thorough and immediate eradication of the Methodist church North, in Texas, with whatever force 6 months. may be necessary.

The municipal election held in Philadelphia on the 3d inst., resulted in the success of the People's party. Brown, their candidate for City Treasurer, is elected by 2200 majority, and Neal, their candidate for City Commis- the Pottsville Miner's Journal, thus hits off sioner, is elected by 2265 majority. The same party have a majority in both branches of the tor General on the Lecompton platform,) has City Councils. There was little excitement.

The following officers of the Grand Lodge of the I. O. of O. F. were elected at the recent meeting in Philadelphia: M. W. Grand Master, Henry Lambert; R. W. D. G. Master, Dr. Washburn; R. W. G. Sec'y, Wm. Curtis: R. W. G. Treasurer, M. R. Muckle; R. W. G. Representative, James B. Nicholson.

PENNSYLVANIA ITEMS.

BLAIR COUNTY .- An affair transpired in the borough of Altoona on Saturday afternoon, the 30th April, which created considerable excitement. A merchant of that place, it is said has been rather too intimate for some time past, with a servant girl of his family, much to the annoyance of his wife and the scandal of the neighborhood. On Saturday matters culminated to a breach of the peace between him and his wife, on account of her to you concerning the Lake Superior country, insisting on the discharge of the girl, and his I am satisfied that I came here. Many young is stated that he drew a pistol on her, threatening her life, and the result was that she procured a warrant for the arrest of both him and the girl. LETTER FROM THE NORTH-WEST.

FURNISHED FOR THE RAFTSMAN'S JOURNAL. We have been handed for publication the following interesting letter, by the gentleman to whom it is addressed :-BAYFIELD, La Pointe County, Wisconsin, April 16, 1859. DR. WM. CAMPBELL: - My dear Sir : Since I arrived at Bayfield, which I have selected as my permanent residence, I have often promised myself to communicate some information to you concerning the Lake Superior country. as firmly insisting that she should remain. It men are anxious to settle down in large and well-established societies. In this, some are influenced by relationship, some by association, some by money or hope of making it, some by popularity, and some by love of ease. crowd of excited citizens collected around This was not my desire. I concluded that I could render myself more useful by fixing myself in a new place with a hopeful future before it, and where my services would be needed. This I hope I have done. In many of our old communities, professional men and mechanics have scarcely elbow room, and many scarcely a living. This is not a necessity, but it is a proof, in some cases, of a want of manly energy. Why not go to the great West and Northwest, which are fast settling up. In this vast country, hundreds of towns and cities are springing up, which want the services of ministers, physicians, lawyers, teachers and was supposed to have been set on fire by two | mechanics. Farmers are needed also. Here boys who were playing in the barn with fric- no worthy young man will be at a loss to find a situation. He must be a man. Quacks, sluggards and intruders should stay with their mothers. This country is filling up with energetic men; those of a different stamp will not be likely to come.

I trust I shall not be prejudiced in making my statement; nor shall I exaggerate. I own no property here, nor have I any pecuniary interest to gain. I came as a benefactor of my countrymen. If I can in any way benefit society, my object is gained. This is a high end, and that for which all should live. I am confident your services would be appreciated here, and that you could render yourself very useful in helping to mould this society, which is now in process of formation. I write with the hope of your coming. Bayfield is located on the southern shore of Lake Superior, and about 80 miles from its extreme western terminus. On a recent map you will see the Apostle Islands, 20 in all. They are covered with fine timber, and the soil is good-some of which is under cultivation. La Pointe is a town, an old trading post, and is situated on Madaline, the largest of the Islands. The average width of Madaline is 2 miles, and its length is 13 miles. It is about 2 miles from the main-land. Directly oppolief that her death was altogether the result site this island the shore forms a gentle curve on which is the town of Bayfield. It is on a large and very beautiful bay, which extends about 17 miles into the northern part of the State of Wisconsin. The group of islands named lie at the entrance of the bay. Bayfield is a respectable town for its age. Three years ago the place was a wilderness, with here and there a wigwam. There are two piers, one common school, and a project on foot to establish a classical school, and two organized churches. Notwithstanding the revulsion in business, the town has improved during the last year. The Presbyterians have built a respectable house of worship, and several dwellings have been crected. The stage road to Hudson, on the St. Croix River, was considerably improved before winter set in. The company, some of whom are excellent men, are determined to spare no pains to make Bayfield one of the first places on Lake Superior. The Land office for this district will be located here, the revenue cutter will lie at this port, and the railroad (which is already surveyed) from St. Paul to Lake Superior, will terminate here. The work has been commenced on it at Hudson, and will be commenced at this place next summer. These considerations show that Bayfield occupies an important position. But this is not all.

The location of Bayfield is the best I ever saw. The earth in every direction gradually rises to the confines of the town plot, on the highest parts of which are springs of clear, cool water, which supply the town. Few towns are favored so well with water. The harbor of Bayfield has been pronounced the best natural harbor in the world. This is the opinion of a gentleman of Washington City, who was here last fall, and who had been with the Japan Expedition. This gentleman and others with him, were so well pleased with Bayfield that they selected lots, and have had houses put upon them, in which they intend living in the hot seasons. This is wise. The harbor is protected in every direction by islands and projecting points of the main-land. It is nearly three miles wide, and its average depth is sixty feet. It has two entrances, the northeastern and southeastern. These channels are deep and safe. Vessels can run into this harbor at any time. This is their only refuge, in time of a storm on the western part of the lake. They cannot run into the ports of Ontonagon and Superior, the former 80 miles east of Bayfield, the latter 80 miles west, in time of a storm. I have known them to come back, after they left our port, on account of storms on the lake, while our bay was calm.

The geographical position of Bayfield, as well as its safe and commodious harbor, gives best and most natural outlet for produce and tural country west and north of St. Paul. Here allow me to quote from the speech of the President of the St. Croix and Lake Superior Railroad Company, which he made last fall to on the house of John McCarty, at Stone's the citizens of Hudson and St. Croix counties. when the road was commenced: "It is a well known fact that Bayfield stands in the same relative position, as to distance by water communication, to Buffalo and New York, as do Milwaukie and Chicago, showing conclusively that freight can be landed at Bayfield as cheap as it can at either Chicago or Milwaukic. The distance from Chicago to Dunleith is some 220 miles by rail; while the distance from Lake Superior to the city of Hudson, is only 140 miles; thus showing in favor of this route some 80 miles of railroad carriage, and some 400 miles of river navigation. When we compare this route with that of the Milwaukie rail road, the results are nearly as satisfactory. The distance from Milwaukie and Prarie du Chien or La Crosse being each 200 miles by rail, and from thence to Hudson or St. Paul, as follows: Prarie du Chien 300 and La Crosse 200 miles; showing a saving of 60 miles by rail in favor of the St. Croix and Lake Superior road in order to reach the waters of St. Croix and Mississippi rivers; and besides this a river navigation of from 200 to 300 miles in distance. The result sums up as follows: Hudson and St. Paul by this route are some 450 miles nearer New York markets than by way of Dunlieth and Chicago, and some 300 miles nearer than by way of La Crosse, Prairie du Chien and Milwaukie." If you doubt these figures take a map and make the calculation yourself.

Bayfield is 950 miles from Cleveland and 140 from Hudson. Travellers would do well to take this route into consideration. There are several lines of steamers and propellers running from Chicago and Cleveland during navigation. They could take a steamer at Cleveland and in three days they would be at Bayfield, having enjoyed a pleasant, comfortable and cheap passage, with the pleasure of witnessing the most picturesque scenery. After viewing The store of A. Newmyer, Lock Haven, was the country about Bayfield, and becoming reon the 27th ult. robbed of $25 worth of goods. freshed by its invigorating climate, they can

Our country does not afford a more interesting tour than this. The Lake Superior country is now claiming a large share of public attention. It is worthy of it. Hitherto it has been comparatively unknown. The general impression has been, which still extensively prevails, that it is a cold, barren, desolate and inhospitable region. This is an erroneous impression. The mean annual temperature is 41d 4m. The mean temperature of summer is 61d 4m. The mean temperature of winter is 21d 1m. We are in the same latitude of Montreal and the northern part of Maine. But the cold is not near so intense as in those regions, because of our being near a large body of water. The waters of Lake Superior, which "cover an area of 32,000 miles, exercise a powerful influence in modifying the two extremes of heat and cold. The ice only forms a few miles from the shore." This winter it only formed a little in the bays. "The temperature of the water rarely, if ever, changes, and is almost always 40d Fahrenheit, the maximum density of water. In midsummer its climate is delightful beyond comparison, while, at the same time, the air is softly bracing." For the reasons above given the cold in this country is not so intense as several degrees further south. The mercury, in Bayfield, has not reached 20d below 0 this winter, while in New York and other places of the same latitude it reached 38 and 40d below 0. Draw your own conclusion. The climate is very uniform. The air is comparatively free from chilly effects. All who come here like the climate and country. Our winters are very delightful. We have so much sunshine and cleer blue sky. I suffered more from cold in Pennsylvania than here.

As to its healthfulness, it has no comparison n our country. The South is enervating, this is bracing and exhilirating. Eminent physicians now recommend invalids to come here. It has cured people of weak lungs, dyspensia. scrotula and other diseases. It is especially good for these diseases. I know persons to be cured of them. I wonder that this is not more of a resort for invalids. Let them throw away their patent medicines and spend a portion of time here. If they stay here six months they will not wish to leave. Such a thing as fever and ague is unknown here. The enjoyment of good health is a sufficient inducement for any man to come here and make it his home. Now, if I could persuade any despairing, melancholy and cheerless dyspeptic or consumptive to come here and recover health, I should feel adequately compensated. I know many who have come here and have recovered their health and are stout. What is life without health? The fishery of Bayfield is very productive. Its fishery, in view of its position, has advanages equal, if not superior, to any on the Lake. The variety of fish are Salmon, some of which weigh as high as 150 lbs.; Siskowit, a very fat and delicious fish and excellent in winter; Trout and White fish, the choicest, and equal in flavor to the Mackerel and Shad ; Herring and Brook Trout. There are other varieties. The varieties named are very abundant. Energetic men could make money in working this fishery. All that is wanting is a small capital and energy. Lake Superior fish are the finest, because its water is the purest.

the Southwestern and Northwestern coasts of erior, and extending m back, have a very productive soil. My own observation since I came here convince me of the truth of this remark. I have farmed in Pennsylvania, and believe that this soil will compare favorably with the soil of that state, and is easier, generally speaking, to cultivate. Here within my view are thousands and thousands of acres waiting for the industrious farmer. The land is now open to preemptors. In May it will be in market and will be cheap. It is covered with varieties (oak, birch, pine, ash, &c.,) of thrifty timber and well watered. There are large bottoms of maple land. This timber is very valuable in view of its fine quality. Out of the sugar maple the Indians make thousands of lbs. of good sugar which is a large proportion of their living. This soil produces the grains and vegetables of the middle states, all of which come to perfection very rapidly. Winter wheat will do better here than in a prairie country, because it is protected by the snow. I should prefer having a farm in this locality to one in a prairie country, because of its good timber, fine water and healthy climate. I subjoin a few condensed facts from a report lately read before the Bayfield Lyceum : Elisha Pike, a farmer near Bayfield, off of three acres of Timothy and Clover mixed, cut five tens of hay .-Twentieth of last Aug. he sowed grass seed with his turnips, which matured and yielded a half crop. Some of the Timothy grew to the height of 31 to 4 feet, and some of the heads measured 7 inches. His Indian Corn yielded about 40 bushels per acre. He is from Pennsylvania and says his crops of grass, corn, oats, potatoes, &c. are as good here as ever he raised. The potatoes are of the richest flavor and yield abundantly. The oats is more substantial and brings 10 cts. more per bushel than Ohio Oats. Spring and Winter wheat yield a good crop and is strong in the straw and full in the grain. The soil contains a good proportion of lime. Mr. Pike, from half an acre, raised 200 bushels of rutabagas and turnips. He sowed the seed the 20th of June. His crop of peas, beens, outons, beets, &c., was good. He raised an onion from the seed measuring 4 inches in diameter, and a beet weighing 11½ lbs. Mr. Day raised a head of Cabbage, which when stripped of its loose leaves, measured nearly 4 feet in circumference, and weighed nearly 18 lbs. From a surface 6 feet by 78 feet he raised 184 bushels of rutabagas. Rev. James Peet raised a turnip in circumference 43 inches. Mr. Armstrong, on one of the Islands, from 22 bushels of seed harvested 400 bushels of potatoes. He picked out 55 potatoes that measured a half bushel. His corn yielded 40 bushels per acre. But time forbids my giving any more facts. In a wild state we have strawberries, goose berries, elderberries, raspberries, cranberries, wild plumbs, currants, &c., The tame currents, gooseberries and strawberries do exceedingly well. Cherries, peaches, apples and such fruits have not been tried, excepting cherries which have been raised on Madaline Island. I saw them myself. The season however is too short for most fruits. I believe apples can be acclimated. We have a substitute in the cranberry and other wild truits. There is a gentleman in this country who is getting rich in gathering raspberries and preserving them. He sends them in jars to the eastern market. But I must close this long letter. Many things I must pass by, such as the geology of Lake Superior, and its vast resources of Copper and Iron. It has the greatest and best Copper and Iron resources the world. The exports last year were $2,000,000. There are as yet few mines ooch, The scenery is most grand.

England, Prussia and Russia have each protested against the conduct of Austria towards Sardinia. An alliance, offensive and defensive, has been concluded between France and Russia. All the indications portend war.
