ANOTHER BUBBLE EXPLODED .- The Pike's Peak bubble, if any reliance is to be placed in the reports which have come to hand during the past week, has, as was anticipated, at last exploded. The St. Joseph correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat notices the arrival at the first named place of 100 Pike's Peakers, who give deplorable accounts of mining prospects and suffering on the Plains. It is estimated that 20,000 men are now on their way, all or most of whom, destitute of money and the necessaries of life, are perfectly reckless. Desperate threats are made of burning Omaha, St. Joseph, Leavenworth, and other towns, in consequence of the deception used to induce emigration. Two thousand men are reported west of Omaha, in a starving condition. Some of the residents of Plattesmouth have closed up their business and fled, fearing violence at the hands of the enraged emigrants. If these accounts are correct, they present a deplorable state of affairs. If none but those who are at fault would suffer from the vengeance of the miners, few will be disposed to complain; but it is to be hoped they will not commit any acts of violence against the towns of Kansas, for by doing so the innocent would suffer with the guilty. As for ourselves, we always had doubts of the existence of auriferous deposits at Pike's Peak in sufficient quantities to make mining operations pay, and therefore discouraged all who talked of going to the new gold region. Other papers did the same; but it is extremely doubtful whether the warnings given were heeded. The fever was upon thousands, and go they would. Madly they rushed on, many of them having left comfortable homes and encouraging prospects. Along the road, interested parties cheered them with glowing accounts of the success of those who were at the mines; and on hurried the throng with a firm reliance that their fortunes would soon be made. The disappoint-Deceived, penniless, hungry and starving, although they have themselves much to blame, is it any wender that these men, as they come plunging homewards in thousands, should threaten to revenge themselves upon the towns and villages that helped to dupe them ?

SUNBURY & ERIE RAILEOAD .- The Board of Managers of the Sunbury and Eric Railroad met in Philadelphia on last Thursday. The route for the middle division-which begins on the East at the mouth of Sinnemahoning and terminates at a point near Warren-by way of West Creek, St. Mary's, Ridgway, Clarion rivfourths of the work on or before the first day of January next, and the remainder by the 1st of July following. Thus the whole line of the Sunbury and Eric road is under contract. The Eastern division has long been open to Williamsport, and it will be opened for business as far as Lock Haven by the latter part of next month. From thence to the mouth of the Sinnemahoning the Eastern division is already graded, and the laying of the track will proceed with all proper speed. The Western division of sixty-live miles, from Erie to Warren, is progressing rapidly, and it is expected that it will be open for business by the first of October of this year. The middle division will then be the only part left unfinished. The contractors to whom this division has been awarded being men of experience and energy, it is confidently believed that the entire road will be finished and ready for business by November, 1860.

Col. Forney puts the enormity of the most recent phase of the doctrine of "non-interventlon" with slavery in the Territories thus strongly: "The Washington Constitution, speakecutive must be committed the duty of enforcing non-intervention by the people of the Territories, are to be substituted by Executive intervention. Such is the new position of Mr. Buchanan, his Cabinet, his dependents, and his organ. It is impossible to conceive anything at once more dangerous and revolutionizing than this assumption."

FILLIBUSTERISM EXTRAORDINARY.

It is more than intimated by Washington letter writers that President Buchanan is concentrating troops on the Mexican frontier, with a view to interfere in the affairs of that country, and obtain a portion, or all, of the State of Sonora, which lies most contigious. A correspondent of the Cincinnati Times, writing forth the beauties of that province in the fol-Sonora, at this time, is truly deplorable. A civil war, carried on in a style of barbarity which would disgrace the dark ages, between the parties of Gaudara and Pesqueira, has desolated and impoverished the country. The able-bedied men are pressed into an atrocious military service, and in many cases the prisoners taken by each party in battle have been inhumanly shot. Every town and precinct has been, and now is, distressed by robbery, under the name of 'forced loans'-the wretched of tood to satisfy the rapacity of their oppreson false charges, banishment and persecution, has driven most of the wealthy families from the State, and broken up many flourishing business houses. It is impossible for any one, native or foreigner, to engage in business with any decent security for the capital they invest. They are liable to be arrested, plundered, and thrown into prison, without notice, trial, or provocation, except that their property attracts the capidity of some revolutionary leader.

The number of ex-Congressmen in Kansas is large. John A. Allison, formerly of the Beaver District, Pennsylvania, is in the lumber trade at Atchison. Thomas L. Aiken, late in real estate in Leavenworth. Fred. P. Stanton, who for ten years represented one of the Tennessee Districts, is practicing law at Lecompton. Epaphroditus Ranson, formerly Representative from, and afterwards Governor of Michigan, is Register in the Land Office at Fort Scott. J. W. Whitfield, who twice misrepresented Kansas in the House (to which he was elected by Missouri votes), holds the same position in the Land Office at Kickapoo. Gen. 'Jim' Lane, who in 1854, was a member of the National Congress from Indiana, is practicing law in Lawrence. John Pettit, who, while a United States Senator from the same State, was so epigramatically anathematized by Benton as a "great liar, and a dirty dog, falsifying public history, and slandering private character," divides his time between drinking whiskey and sitting upon the Supreme Bench of the Territory. AVERY NATURAL INQUIRY .- The President's organ at Washington, recently contained leader composed chiefly of interrogateries, under the head of "What would the country gain by the triumph of the Opposition." It is very natural that the President should be solicitous to know what his successor will do; but he has only to wait quietly and he will be sure to know all about it. The Constitution imagines that when the Opposition come into nower 44the most atrocious want of American patriotism will be construed into merit." It is not novel enough to be alarming.

> THE SLOW PROGRESS OF THE AUSTRIANS EX-PLAINED .- Much surprise is expressed by many persons that the austrians, after crossing the Ticino, should tave made such slow progress in their march of invasion, when every hour to them is so important. It is stated in a letup the bridge at Buffalora, felled trees across overflowed the fields this side the Ticino. the Austrians. Many of the roads across the was to the stone wall ! plains of Sardinia, now the seat of war, are or were lined with rows of full-grown trees, and the roads, for two or three days at least.

KANSAS AND NEBRASKA .- According to late ple of southern Nebraska are earnestly agitating for the annexation of so much of that Territory as lies south of the Platte river, to Kansas, so as to secure her admission into the ing for Mr. Buchanan, in editorials dictated Union at the next session of Congress. Neither of them would confess. Bell was then hung up until life was nearly extinct, and then taken down and placed in a shallow grave, to make his wife believe he was really dead. She was then hung in the same way, and until life was nearly extinct. In the meantime, finding that Mrs. Bell would not confess, they took her down and removed her husband from his grave, and with much difficulty resuscitated them, and left that city. They all appeared at the office, them to go home as they best could. The "conversion" of Lola Montez is announced. She has, it is said, quietly settled down a humble, peaceful, exemplary, religious woman, in her own domicil in Piccadilly, London, having amassed a sufficient sum to purchase and pay for a house, which is now the receptacle and center of a large number of wealthy and pious enthusiasts of London, on the night of the 11th from one of the stamale and female. Between the 1st of February and the 7th of March, she knit two pairs of long stockings, of yarn spun by herself since she was 100 years old. Gen. Washington staid at her father's house one night during the Revolution. She was spinning, with some other young ladies, when he arrived, and she says that he sat down and "talked as chipper as any young boy." In answer to an inquiry, "What sort of a looking man he was," she said, "He had dark hair, braided in a long one, earlocks handsome as a picture."

Evans and Christian Jacobi, who were convicted of the murder of their wives, were executed at killed his wife on the 10th of May, 1858, whilst half intoxicated, he having taken to drinking in consequence of financial reverses. Jacobi killed his wife sometime last June. He had been on a visit to Troy, New York. In the evening on which he returned, he went away with his wife, who was never afterwards seen a live. Her body, with several pistot shots, was found some time after. Jacobi declined mu-king any remarks. Evans spoke fully an hour, declaring his innocence. At the close of his speech, both men were placed upon the gallows, the final preparations made, and the drop fell at 2 o'clock. Both men struggled severely. The execution was private, and but few persons were permitted to be present. A fellow named John Caraghty, was arrested in Pittsburg, the other day, charged with having seduced three young women of each with a little responsibility in her arms. Since then, a fourth has made a similar complaint against him, so that, altogether, he has about as much of this business on his hands now as he can well take care of.

THE EUROPEAN WAR.

The steamship City of Baltimore, from Liverpool, arrived at New York on Monday. No battle had yet taken place. The Austrians apparently exhibited much indecision, and kept occupying places and then abandoning them. A bulletin from Vienna explains that the Austrians had taken up a position between the Po and Sezia rivers, to await better weather, before resuming the offensive. The Emperor Napoleon, accompanied by Prince Napoleon, unitted Paris on the 10th, for Genoa. The Empress is proclaimed Regent during the Emperor's absence. The Sardinian General, Del la Marmora, had made the river Dora his strategetical line. The Austrians were fortifying their position on the Sezia. Marshal Canrobert was said to be directing the operations of the allies from Alessandria. The Austrians were suffering much from sickness. The Sardinians were preparing a grand reception for Napoleon at Genoa. The Austrians were expected soon to have three quarters of a million of men under arms. The Austrians had declared Ancona in a state of siege. The Pope had protested against this action, and Austria was to reconsider it. The French at Rome are to be increased and placed on a war footing. The latest Turin telegraph says that the Austrians were recrossing the Sezia in haste.
