Somebody emptied upon a wharf in Philadelphia a quantity of cherries which had been used to flavor rum. About twenty pigs partook of the fruit, and were made very drunk thereby. Being intoxicated, they began to squeal, and in other ways to make themselves ridiculous. In the foolish gravity of their countenances they were said to resemble incbriated humanity very closely.

SELLING A JUDGE .- Bob Harper, who lived on Kittle Creek, in Wilkes county, Georgia, was fined five dollars by Judge Dooley during court week. Bob was a wag, and said he would have the worth of his money out of the Judge. It happened the Judge was on his circuit, (on horseback in those days.) and was passing by Bob's house on the creek, which was swollen by a heavy rain, when he wanted to know if the creek was swimming.

"I reckon it is," said Bob, "you will get a cold bath if you try it." "I'll strip and make my horse swim it if you will go up the creek and bring my clothes over," said the Judge.

Off went his nether garments and over went the Judge, his horse not going in over his knees, the creek being broad but shallow. As the Judge got over, several persons were enjoying the fun from a store piazza, neither Rob nor his clothing making their appearance. The Judge was wrathy, cold and shivering. Rob, still on his own side of the creek, bawled out, "Judge, you can have your breeches for five dollars."

"Bring them over," said the Judge; "I'm sold ; you may fight at the next court all the week, and I'll not fine you."

MIXING UP THE BABIES .- The Weaverville, California, Journal gives the following account of an affair which, however it may move the laughter of our readers, we fancy to have made some of the parties concerned "laugh on the wrong side of their mouths :"-

"Some time ago there was a dancing party given 'up north;' many of the ladies present had little babies, whose noisy perversity required too much attention to permit the mothers to enjoy the dance. A number of gallant young men volunteered to watch the young ones while the parents indulged in a cbreakdown.' No sooner had the women left the babies in charge of the mischievous fellows, than they stripped the infants, changed their clothes, giving to one the apparel of another. The dance over, it was time to go home, and the mothers took each a baby in the dress of her own, and started, some to their homes, ten or fifteen miles off, and were far on their way before daylight. But the day following there was a prodigious row in the settlement; observation disclosed startling physiological phenomena; mothers discovered that a single day had changed the sex of their babies; and then commenced some of the tallest female pedestrianism. Living miles apart, it required two days to unmix the babies, and as many months to restore the women to their natural sweet dispositions. To this day it is unsafe for any of the baby mixers to venture into the locality."
