A rash young man has threatened to apply the Maine liquor law to his sweetheart-she intoxicates him so.

The people of Paraguay have improved on the Georgia costume-a shirt collar and spurs. They wear only a hat.

A woman, purchasing cups and saucers, was asked what color she would have. "Why, I ain't particular," says she ; "any color that won't show the dirt."

A Farmer charged a hired man with having an offensive breath. "Lightning !" said the man, "do you expect a man to breathe musk and roses for $6,00 a month ?"

The fashionables of Cincinnati, of the "masculine persuasion," have adopted the latest style of cravats-a shoestring tied in a bosom. .

Dean Swift hearing of a carpenter falling through the scaffolding of a house he was engaged in repairing, dryly remarked '-that he liked to see a mechanic go through his work promptly.

An inventor has made application at the patent office, for what he calls an "improved lever." He professes to be "able to raise anything with it." We wonder if it will answer for raising children and raising the wind.

Gen. Taylor's "all the world and the rest of mankind" is memorable, but Mr. Buchanan matched it in his speech in North Carolina, when he said : "I do believe that mankind, as well as the people of the United States, are interested in the preservation of the Union."

A Double Entendre .- A gentleman inspecting lodgings to be let, asked the pretty girl who showed them.

"And are you, my dear, to be let with the ledgings ?"

"No," answered she, "I am to be letalone."

"If a man steals my umbrella," says Hunker, "it's no use makin' a fuss-it only shows that an umbrella equilebrium has been broken. Now, if I take one from some one else, that restores the equipoise. There is really no umbrella lost; and an umbrella is only lost when it is used up."

No man or no woman is safe who has once formed the fatal habit of looking to drink for solace, or cheerfulness, or comfort. While the world goes well, they will likely be temperate ; but the habit is built, the railroad to destruction is cut ready for use, the rails are down, and the station houses erected ; and the train is on the line waiting only for the locomotive. Well the first great trouble or hopeless grief is the locomotive ; it comes to us, it grapples us, and away we go in a moment, down the line we have been years constructing, like a flash of lightning.
