THE RAFTSMAN'S JOURNAL.

There are 992 rivers in the United States ; ; their whole length added together, is 89,089 miles. Their average length is 89 miles and a fraction.

Philosophers tell us that the images of all the objects we see are painted on the retina of the eye wrong end up. Then how can we be expected to see things as they are ?

It has cost Uncle Sam some $80,000 to substitute benches for desks in the House of Representatives, when a thousand ought to cover every expense. But this is the way the public money goes under a Democratic dynasty.

Much excitement prevails in Crawford, Warren and Venango counties in relation to the "Oil Springs." Hundreds of persons are now residence, on Second street. engaged in prospecting for it, with apparently the best hopes of success. In and near Franklin, a number of claims have been taken, and parties have commenced boring for the oil basin.

The Whigs of Missouri, and all the conservative elements of opposition to the Democratic party, are to have a State Convention in Jefferson City on the 28th of December next, to nominate State candidates, and for the further purpose of carrying on the Presidential campaign in 1860. Missouri will present the name of Hon. Edw'd Bates for the Presidency.

ENGAGING MANNERS .- There are a thousand. pretty, engaging little ways, which every person may put on, without running the risk of being deemed either affected or foppish. The sweet smile, the quiet, cordial bow, the earnest movement in addressing a friend, or more especially a stranger, whom one may recommend to our good regards, the inquiring glance, the graceful attention which is so captivating when united with self-possession -these will insure us the good regards of even a curl. Above all, there is a certain softness of manner which should be cultivated, and which, in either man or woman, adds a charm that almost entirely compensates for lack of beauty .- Taylor .-

the following account of the death of the great Pitts : "Pitt died at his house on Putney Heath, near the spot where Canning and Castlereagh fought their duel, and in a very neglected state, none of his family or friends being with him at the time. One who was Kylertown, Clearfield county. May 11, 1859. sincerely attached to him, hearing of his illness, rode from London to see him. Arriving at the house he rang the bell at the entrance gate, but no one came. Dismounting, he made his way to the half door, and repeatedly rang the bell, which no one answered. He then entered the house, wandered from room to room. till at last he discovered Pitt on a bed-dead, and entirely neglected. It is supposed, that such was his poverty, he had not been able to pay the wages of his servants, and that they had absconded taking with them what they could." -----

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.-The Tribune-now more than eighteen years old. and having over Two Hundred Thousand subscribers, or constant purchasers, diffused through every State and Territory of our Union-will continue in essence what it has been-the earnest champion of Liberty, Progress, and whatever will conduce to our national growth in Virtue, Industry, Know!dge and Prosperity. It will continue to urge the emancipation not only of the Black Inborer from chattleism and legal impotence, but of the White likewise from Land Monopoly, Intemperance, Ignorance, and that dependence on remote Markets which paralyzes exertion by denying to Toil any adequate and morally certain reward. Believing that the chief evil of our time is the inordinate multiplication and disproportion of Neg-Producers, it will continue to war against whaterr tends to degrade Manuel Labor or deprive it of is just and full recompense. It will inflexibly ommend the policy of winning hither from Europe the Useful Arts, and, wherever they may be needed, the Artisans as well, for whose products our country is now running recklessly into debiwhile our laborers roam in fruitless quest of employment, leaving their children in want of bread, hough the farmer is too often compelled to sell hiscrops at most inadequate prices In short. while battling against Fillibusterism and every other manifestation of that evil spirit which seeks thro' the spoliation of other countries that aggrandissment which is to be truly attained only through the due development and cultivation of our internal resources, it will urgently advocate a more effectively discriminating Tariff, the Freedom of the Public Lands, the construction of a Railroad from the navigable waters of the Mississippi to those of the Pacific, and every other measure which seems to us calculated to enhance the dignity or the recompense of Labor and premote the well-being of Mankind.

The "irrepressible conflict" between Darkney and Light, Inertia and Progress, Slavery and Freedom. moves steadily onward. Isolated acts of folly and madness may for the moment give a seemig advantage to Wrong ; but God still reigns and Ages are true to Humanity and Right. The year 1860 must witness a memorable conflict between these irreconcilable antagonists. The question-"Shall Human Slavery be further strengthened and diffused by the power and under the flag of the Federal Union ?" is now to receive a mo mentons if not conclusive answer. "Land for the Landless, versus Negroes for the Negroless" is battle-cry of the embodied Millions who, having just swept Pennsylvania. Ohio and the North-west, appear in the new Congress, backed by nearly every Free State, to demand a recognition of every man's right to cultivate and improve a modicum of the earth's surface wherever he has not been anticipated by the State's cession to another. Free Homes, and the consecration of the virgin soil of the Territories to Free Labor-two requirements. but one policy-must largely absorb the attention of Congress through the ensuing session, as of the People in the succeeding Presidential canvass; and, whatever the immediate issue, we cannot doubt that the ultimate verdict will be in accord at once with the dictates of impartial Philanthropy and the inalienable Rights of Man. Having made arrangements for fuller and more graphic reports of the doings of Congress, and of whatever else transpiring at the Federal Metropolis shall seem worthy of public regard, and having extended both our Forsign and Domestic Correspondence and strengthened our Editorial staff, we believe The Tribune may safely challenge a comparison with any rival, whether as an exponent of principles or as a reliable mirror of the passing world. We purpose not to be surpassed nor anticipated in the collection or presentation of intelligence, though we eschew that reputation for enterprise which is acquired by bribing measengers and elerks in public offices to connive at the premature publication of treaties or other official documents. We prize accuracy of statement quite as highly as promptitude, but endeavor not to sacrifice the latter while securing the former. Essentially, The Tribune will be what it has been, while we shall constantly study to improve its every feature, and "make each day a critic on the The general verdict of the Press and the last Public has affirmed the success of our past labors, and those of the future shall be by equal carnest ness and assiduity. We ask those who believa the general influence of our journal to be salutary to aid us in extending that influence through an increase of our subscriptions. The New-York Daily Tribune is printed on a large imperial sheet, and published every morning and evening (Sundays excepted.) It contains Editorials on the topics of the times, employing a large corps of the best newspaper writers of the For side hill ploughs go to Merrell & Bigler's. | day: Domestic and Foreign Correspondence; Proceedings of Congress; Reports of Lectures; City News; Cattle, Horse, and Produce Markets; Reviews of Books: Literary Intelligence; Papers on Mechanics and the Arts, &c. &c.
