

S. B. ROW, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

CLEARFIELD, PA., MAY 2, 1860. FOR PRESIDENT.

GEN. SIMON CAMERON, Eubject to the decision of the Chicago Convention FOR GOVERNOR. HON. ANDREW G. CURTIN.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF HIM IN 1857.

Henry D. Foster is the candidate of the Democracy of Pennsylvania for the responsible position of Governor. He is most extravagantly lauded by the press of his party. His nomination, say they, was a "spontaneous" affair. His popularity, they contend, is unbounded His political career, they would have their followers believe, has been of the most unexceptionable character. It is mere pretence and gammon to talk thus of his nomination and popularity. There were too many office-holders and other wire-pullers in and about the Convention to prevent any movement that did not accord with the wishes of the National Administration; and the fact that he was beaten over 1,000 votes by "glory-to-God" Covode, as some Locofoco editors call him, at the last Congressional election, does not place the "popularity" of Gen. Foster in the most favorable light. As to his political acts, at least regarding one of the most prominent, we have no objection to leave some of his "friends" speak We allude to the course he pursued in the winter of 1856-57, when Simon Cameron was elected U. S. Senator over John W. Forney. Mr. Foster was a member of the Legislature that winter, refused to support the Democratic caucus nominee, and permitted himself to be voted for in joint Convention. Our readers doubtless remember the manner in which the Demoeratic papers pitched into the "bolters." The Clinton Democrat seems to have been particularly severe in its denunciations, and the Lock Haven | the Dred Scott Decision, and a loud call for the Watchman has resuscitated some of its articles, the first of which is as follows :-

"He (Foster) is a lawyer, has served two or three terms in Congress, and is now a member of the Le-gislature. He did not distinguish himself in either of these positions, and he may not be as able as his friends represent him to be, for they have a fashion of making great men of rather scanty maternal in the western part of the State."

In the Democrat of Jan. 23d, 1857, appeared the following article relative to the election of a Uni-

"THE SENATORIAL ELECTION .- When we spoke of this shameful event in our last issue, our information was derived from telegraphic dispatches : we have the full history of the occurrence now. Forney, Democrat, had 58 votes; Cameron, Republican, 67; Foster, Traitor, 7; and Mr. Foster him-self voted for Mr. Wilkins. What excuse these rascals make for their treachery, or whether any, we are not informed. To style them Judases is to slander old Iscariot, for though he betrayed his Lord, he was decent enough to hang himself im-mediately afterwards, which these traitors, we regret to say, have not as yet done It is mockery of language to attempt to characterize their conduct. There is nothing meaner than an ingratenothing so villainous as a traitor, and Foster is guilty of both The motive of the act is clear-no other than pecuniary profit."

There are other extracts given, but these will suffice to show how some of the Democratic editors talked only three years ago of Gen. Foster, their present "spontaneous" combustion candidate -the "seanty material" of which they are trying

It may not, however, be amiss to add a paragraph for the purpose of showing how the conduct of the "bolters" was regarded by the Clearfield Republican. In an editorial article, in its issue of the 24th January, 1857, censuring Seth A. Backus, Esq., for easting his vote for Gen. Foster, it says :

"For this conduct Mr. B. has forfeited all claim to the confidence of his constituents as a politician. We can draw but slight distinction between voting for a disorganizing Democrat in the person of Gen. Foster, and an open and avowed enemy in the person of Gen. Cameron. In either case, it was a fatal stab to the Democracy, and at one of the most critical moments of its existence."

If the Republican in 1857 could see "but slight Democrat in the person of Gen. Foster, and an open and avowed enemy," how can it now? The disorganizer" is no better now than he was then, and we are not aware that he ever made atoneasked forgiveness for the "fatal stab" he gave the " the Democracy of Pennsylvania that he may well "be proud of, and to which his enemies will as-

FEGITIVE SLAVE CASE.—Great excitement was caused in Troy, N. Y., last Friday, April 27th, by a United States Deputy Marshal arresting a negro named Charles Nalle, claimed as a fugitive slave by B. W. Hansborough, of Culpepper County, Virginia. Upon identification before a United States Commissioner the negro was remanded, when a writ of habeas corpus was issued by Judge Gould. By this time a thousand persons had assembled, and, surrounding the officers having the negro in charge, rescued the latter and conveyed him across the river to West Troy, where he was again arrested. Again the crowd assembled, and again the negro was rescued and conveyed, in a carriage, to parts unknown. The rescuers were composed principally of negroes. Pistols and clubs were freely used, but no one was seriously injured.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION.

This body assembled at Charleston, S. C., on Monday, April the 23rd, at noon, for the purpose of selecting candidates for President and Vice President. The Convention consists of 303 members, of whom 183 are from the eighteen free States, and 120 from the fifteen slave States. Two-thirds of the whole number are required for a choice, consequently the successful candidate must receive 202 votes. The Convention was organized at noon by making F. B. Flourney, of Arkansas, temporary chairman, and after the appointment of committees on organization, and on credentials, the convention adjourned until Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock, when it reassembled and the proper committee reported the name of Hon. Caleb Cushing as permanent President, and one Vice President and Secretary from each State. After a short speech by the President it was agreed that a majority of a State delegation cannot compel the minority to vote with them as a unit, unless so instructed by the convention that appointed them; and also, it was decided that the Platform shall be adopted previous to balloting for candidates. A committee on platform, consisting of one from each State, was then announced. On Wednesday, the Committee on Credentials reportagainst the Wood delegation from New York and the Illinois Lecomptonites, and confirming the Soft and Douglass men in lheir seats. A rather spicy discussion sprung up on the rule reported by the Committee on Organization, in which Mr. Josiah R. Randall, of Pennsylvania, took an active part, and was reproved by Mr. Richardson, who referred to the fact of Mr. Randall having but lately come into opinions on Democracy to but little consideration. He did not desire, after a life service in the cause, to be reproved by the recruits of yesterday. During Thursday much excitement prevailed in regard to the platform. On Friday, no less than three platforms were reported. The majority report affirms, in guarded language, the new Southern dogma, which allows any single slaveholder to convert at pleasure any Territory into a Slave Territory. The minority report-backed by all the Free satisfy the South with the Cincinnati Platform. acquisition of Cuba. Mr. Butler, of Massachusetts, made a third report, being the Cincinnati platform, with a resolution for the protection of all citizens, whether native or naturalized. A warm debate and much confusion ensued. On Saturday the excitement increased, and amidst a scene of the wildest confusion, the platforms were all referred back to fell. 28th-A similar fround to the last, the committee without instructions. All sorts of propositions and motions to adjourn were made. A hundred persons were addressing the Chair at once, all shouting at the top of their voices. The President said that if this contest and uproar continued, he would feel bound, in duty to himself and the Convention. to leave the Chair, as it was physically imposand clamor. Finally, at 10 o'clock at night, the Convention adjourned till Monday morning. On Monday the proposition of Mr. Butler was rejected. The President having decided that a recommendation by a State Convention was equivalent to an instruction to its delegation, an appeal was taken and carried. This will give Douglas a couple votes more than he would have got otherwise. There is no telling yet who will be nominated.

A Fist Fight at Charleston.

On Saturday, a fist fight took place in Charleston between two of the delegates from Pennsylvania. It seems that when Hon. H. B. Wright, in committee, cast the vote of Pennsylvania for the minority resolutions, Senator Bayard of Delaware told him that he, Wright, was instructed to vote with the Southern members of the Committee. Wright said this could not be correct, as the delegation from his State had passed no such instructions. Another member said he had seen the instructions, when Wright started out to ascertain ling him. Cries of "Let him go," were raisthe facts. On his way to the Keystone State he met Messrs. Dawson, Bigler and Collector Baker. distinction between voting for a disorganizing Dawson handed him a paper purporting to be the instructions, which Wright refused to recognize, as there had been no meeting of the delegation. Hereupon Baker flew into a rage and called Wright a falsifier. The latter calling him a liar, ment, or even got down on his marrow bones and Baker struck Wright, accompanying the blow with profane epithets. Wright is much the oldest man party by assistsng to defeat Col. Ferney, who, and has been in impaired health since he left from thenceforward, was, in the language of the home. It is positively asserted that no instruc Republican, to "occupy a place in the affections of tions had been adopted, but that Dawson, Bigler British public, is loudly and vehemently exand Baker had secretly prepared the paper and pressed. It It was well known that Mr. Heenan would not also tells a good one that happened in the Convention afterwards. When Dawson was calling up the delegates and giving them directions how to vote, Owen Jones cried out, "Yes, gentlemen, come up and receive your orders." Dawson denied giving orders, but Jones repeated his assertion in a louder voice, and Dawson "dried up."

It was now plain that Sayer's right arm was not of much avail to him, from the repeated stopping of blows, and Heenan's hand also became much swollen from the repeated use he had made of it. 34-Sayers hit out rapidly, twice giving it to Heenan both on the nose and mouth. Heenan, however, followed Sayers up, struck him heavily on the mouth, and sent him to the ground 35th-The two soon closed, and Sayers getting hold of Heenan by the neck, hit him severely over the left eye. 36-The two closed; Sayers was thrown. 37th-Heenan gave Sayers one in the mouth, the latter falling. 88th-Sayers closed and fell and Heenan gave Sayers one on the head when he had almost reach ed the ground. This was a question of foul, but was not persisted in, being deemed an accident. 40th-Heenan got his arm around Sayers' neck, and to all appearance was stranged. THE PAPAL EXCOMMUNICATION.

The English papers, received by the Australasian, publish in extenso the long threatened "major excommunication" hurled against the crowned enemies of the Church in general, and the King of Sardinia in particular. This is the last desperate resort of a disappointed and feeble tyrant, and will excite no other feelings than those of ridicule and contempt, in quarters where it was designed to strike terror. It is a counterpart of the Chinese military device of alarming the enemy with grotesque masks and hideous noises. It is a very wordy and long document, containing a great many strong phrases, as applied to the enemies of the Church, calling them wicked "innovators," who seek, by "cunning dissimulation" and "lying bypocrisy," to destroy the Pope's secular power. The Sardinian government comes in especially for some hard knocks, and is accused of sparing no fraud nor sin to rouse sedition and subject the Papal provinces to its power. The Pope then declares that, having " invoked the Holy Spirit, in private and public prayers, and taken the advice of the reverend brethren, the Cardinals," in " accordance with the authority which we hold from Almighty God and the most holy Apostles Peter and Paul, and also in accordance with our own authority, all those who have taken part in the sinful insurrections in our provinces, in usurping, occuping and invading them," be anathematized, and not to be "absolved from these censures by any one but the Pope himself, unless they are at the point of death; and even if they should then be absolved, they are to re-incur the censures if they should perchance recover, until they retract and annul all they have committed, and give the Papal power full satisfaction." The letter of excommunication is ordered to be posted on the doors of the Lateran and other churches, as it cannot be safely published everywhere, and especially in such places as most require it." In the meantime, Sardinia, under the government of its wise and energetic monarch, will assume its place among the leading nations of Europe-and will at once become the pioneer of freedom for the whole of Italy, which has nothing to dread so much, in the future, as the patriarchal supervision" of the political priests at Rome. The anathemas of the latter are harmless, but their government is intolerable, as the experience of the past has demonstrated .- Pittsburg Gazette. -

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.
It is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to ac complish this desired object, the true rourse to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausca Flatulency, Loss of Appetite. or Bilious complaints arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps. Dysentary, Cholic, Chol-era Morbus, &c., these Bitters have no equal.

Diarrhœa, dysentery or flux, so generally conracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspep sia, a disease which is probably more prevalent. in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to de rangements of the digestive organs, can be cure without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bit-ters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infallible? All nations have their Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthener of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science

FEVER AND AGUE .- This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the bo-dy of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTER'S. Further, none of the above-stated diseases can be contracted, even in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healty digestion, and the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in Advanced Years. who are suffering from an enfeebled consitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of della Ginestra. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before to doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Stomach Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness
