THE RAFTSMAN'S JOURNAL.

A sailor, looking very serious in a chapel, was asked by the minister if he felt any change. "Nary red," said Jack.

One Jones who had been sent to prison for marrying two wives, excused himself by saying that when he had one she fought him, but when he got two they fought each other.

A LADY making inquiries of a boy about his father,an intemperate man, who had been sick for some time, asked whether he had regained his appetite. "No, ma'am," replied the hopeful, "not exactly-his appetite is very poor, but his drinketite is as good as ever."

Two Irishmen sat down to dine on a Yankee stew; they liked all but the dumplings, which they were afraid to attack, not knowing what they were. At length one thought of trying the house-dog with a dumpling and accordingly handed him one piping hot. The animal burning his mouth at the first bite, set up a dismal howling, and commenced brushing with his fore-paw. "Oh bedad !" exclaimed the Irishman, "I know what it is now-it's a dog's jews-harp !"
