New Goods .- Attention is directed to the new stock of goods which has just been received by Ed. A. Irvin, at the "corner store" in Curwensville. His stock is extensive and varied, and the prices reasonable. Persons in want of goods should call and examine his stock before making their purchases.

Goder's Lady's Book for May .- The May number of this valuable Magazine is on our cable, and contains the usual variety of interesting literary matter. The embellishments are-a colored Fashion plate, a superb Steel engraving "Butter-cops and Daisies," "Dawning of Genius," "new Chevron dress," "a splendid Cloak," and a number of patterns. etc. Our Lady readers will remember that this is the best Magazine published in the United States; and should receive their hearty support. Price, $3 per annum.

PUTRID SORE THROAT .- A lady, says the New York Tribune, who has experienced the benefit of the following simple remedy, is very anxious that others should be acquainted with it and its value: "Mix one gill of strong apple vinegar, one table spoonful of common salt, table spoonful of drained honey, and a half pod of red pepper (or half tea spoonful of ground pepper,),boil them together to a proper consistency, then pour it into half a pint of strong sage tea. In severe cases half a tea spoonful every hour for a child; one tea spoonful for an adult. As the cancer decreases. decrease the frequency of the doses.

THE RIVER, &c .- On Friday evening last it commenced raining and continued to fall copiously during the night. On Saturday morning the river began to rise rapidly, and in the tampered with for his vote in favor of a bill. afternoon several raf's started from this place. On Sunday and Monday, however, a large number passed down. On Tuesday we had some rain and snow, and as the river is still in they will reach market safely. We have been adjournment. That's right, gentlemen; earn informed that there exists a scarcity of hands | your money and receive it with a clear conalong the river, and, if this be true, much of the timber will have to remain back, unless the waters keep up until those who have gone below can return and supply the deficiency. It is presumed, however, that a sufficient quantity of timber will reach market to supply the immediate demand.

A Good One .- On last Tuesday, whilst a number of raft hands were returning from the toot of the falls, they concluded to take a "short cut" from near Bald Hills School house dutch and half english" finger-boards were uncertain guides. Coming to a road that turned in the direction they wished to go, they at once took it. After traveling some distance they approached a house, and on inquiry found that they were going to Leconte's mill. They at once "beat a retreat," but not wishing to retrace their steps to the starting point. turned in on a timber road, and followed that until they came to a habitation, and were much rejoiced at being "out o' the woods;" but lo, "presto, change !" they were at Leconte's will. Fortunately, our friend Alex. Murray was at the mill, who unhesitatingly agreed to pilot the lost crew to a safe harbor.

STORE ROBBED .- We have been informed that on Sunday night, the 14th, the store of Ed. A. Irvin in Curwensville, was entered by several seoundrels, who first broke into the cellar, and from thence into the store-room. Fortunately, however, they did not succeed in carrying away any great amount of goods, as they were seen jumping from a window by a man belonging to a raft, who hallooed and asked them what they were doing; whereupon the thieves dropped four carpet-sacks, which they had well filled with goods, and took to their heels. Only a few small articles are missing. The thieves were not recognized by the person who caused them leave so hastily without their budget of stolen goods.

N. B. Perhaps, the thieves only designed tampling Eds stock of new goods, which he had just opened, for the purpose of recommending them to those who may wish to buy.

EXPAND THE CHEST .- Those in easy circum rances, or who pursue sedentary indoor emsloyment, use their lungs but little, breathe but hatle air into the chest, and thus independently of positions, contract a wretchedly small chest, and lay the foundation of the loss of health and beauty. All this can be pefectly obviated by a little attention to the manner of ireathing. Recollect the lungs are like a bladder in the structure, and can be stretched open to double the size with perfect safety, giving a noble chest and perfect immunity from consumption. The agent, and the only agent, required, is the common air we breathe, supposing, however, that no obstacle exists, external to the chest, such as tying it around with stays, or having the shoulder to lie upon it. On rising from your bed in the morning, place yourself in an erect posture, with your chest thrown back, and the shoulders thrown entirely off the chest; now inhale all the air you can so that no more can be got in; now hold your breath and throw your arms off behind, holding your breath as long as possible. Repeat these long breaths as often as you please. Done in a cold room it is much better, because the air is so much denser and will act much more powerfully in expanding the chest. Exercising the chest in this manner,

THE FAMINE IN INDIA .- The news from India is frightful in the extreme, "famine is devastating the country." The London Times of the 29th, in an article on the subject, after alluding to the fact that the famine is created by drought, says: "It is a drought in a land where the sun bakes up the soil almost to the hardness of pottery, and where the earth, without rain in the accustomed season, is an impenetrable crust. Where irrigation works exist the scanty waters will suffice to produce scanty crops, but where there are no such works there is no vegetation to be found. Mr. Edmonstone, the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-western Provinces, had himself seen that in a march of twenty miles there was not a green blade in any direction. Families were fleeing away from the death which were drooping and dying by the way. And all this, we are told, is but the beginning of the terrible calamity which threatens to involve a population reckoned by one of the speakers at the Mansion bouse at seven millions and a half. Of these it is stated that two millions and a half are actually starving."

THE MOTIVE FOR WAR .- The Mobile Mercury recognizes the necessity for precipitate action on the part of the Confederate authorities, as the only means to check a reaction in favor of the Union. Alluding to the large forces concentrated at Forts Sumter and Pickens, apparently doing nothing but consuming the resources of the Confederacy, it says: "The country is sinking into a fatal apathy, and the spirit, and even the patriotism of the people is oozing out under this do-nothing policy. If something is not done pretty soon, decisive, either evacuation or expulsion, the whole country will become so disgusted with the sham of Southern independence that the first chance the people get at a popular election they will turn the whole movement topsy turvy so bad that it never on earth can be leave their guns. righted again."

WAR COMMENCED!

Fire Opened on Sumter!

Anderson Returned the Fire!

FORT SUMTER'S GUNS SILENCED

Surrender of the Fort!

On the 10th Gen. Beauregard was instructed from Montgomery to demand of Anderson the immediate surrender of Fort Sumter. On the 11th Anderson replied, "it is a demand with which I regret that my sense of honor and my obligations to my Government prevent my compliance." He added, "I will await the first shot, and if you do not batter us to pieces, we will be starved out in a few days." Gen. B. telegraphed this reply to Montgomery, whereupon he was directed to say, that if Maj. Anderson would state the time at which he would evacuate the fort, it should not be bombarded." To this Anderson would not consent, and upon his refusal hostilities began.

Fire was opened by Gen. Beauregard on Friday the 12th, at 4 a. m., from 7 batteries. Maj. Anderson promptly returned the fire, and a brisk cannonading was kept up all day. The fire of Fort Sumter was principally directed against Fort Moultrie and the floating battery. The latter work it is said was struck by 15 or 18 shots, but not the slightest impression was made upon its iron sides. On the other hand, two of Anderson's guns were silenced and a breach made in the south east wall of Sumter. At 6 p. m. only two persons were hurt in Fort Moultrie, and at night-fall firing ceased on both sides, except from the mortar batteries, which continued to play during the night. Three vessels were reported as being outside, but could not get in on account of the rough sea.

On Saturday the 13th, early in the morning, the attack upon Sumter was resumed by all the batteries in the harbor. The cannonading was fierce, and Anderson replied constantly with the heavy guns of Sumter. At 9 o'clock a dense smoke poured from Sumter's walls, the wood work inside being on fire; and several explosions occurred shortly after, when Anderson ceased to fire for about an hour, during which time he was engaged in putting out the flames. At 2 p. m., he lowered the federal flag to half mast, signalling distress, and ceased to fire. At about 4 o'clock, the bombardment ceased, as Maj. Anderson had hauted down the stars and stripes and displayed a flag of truce, and shortly after he surrendered the fort unconditionally. Anderson's men, under guard, were conveyed by J. G. boats to Morris Island, while he was taken to the city as the guest of Gen. Beauregard. The Confederate troops took possession of the John Barmoy, Valentine Huffman, c. Fd A Irwine Cr some few persons wounded on both sides.

On Sunday the 14th, the steamer Isabel conveyed Gen. Beauregard to Sumter, which was turned over by Major Anderson to the Confederate States.

On Monday the 15th, at 11 o'clock, Major Anderson and his men left for New York, in the Isabel. In saluting his flag before leaving, a pile of cartridges exploded, killing two men and wounded four others. One was buried in the fort with military honors, and the other is to be buried by the Carolina troops. The wounded were taken to Charleston. The Confederate and Palmetto flags were raised on the fort. Major Anderson had about 70 men engaged in the fight, and the Confederate army numbered about 10,000 men. Col. Wigfall received the sword surrendered by Major Anderson, and then complimented his bravery by returning it to him.

PILADELPHIA, April 15 .- Much excitement was created at Fourth and Chestnut streets, by a crowd assembled before a printing office, where a small secession sheet called the Palmetto Flag was published. An American flag J. C. Brenner, was displayed and the excitement subsided.

Market street was the next point of excitement. One of the firm of Martin & Smith was charged with having made a disrespectful remark about the National flag. This the crowd took upon themselves to resent, the timely closing of the establishment, and the promise to display the Stars and stripes as soon as they could be procured, was all that saved it from being emptied of its contents. Men of all parties are participating in the excitement and declare themselves for the U-

Washington, April 15 .- President Lincoln has issued a Proclamation, calling on the several States for volunteers to the aggregate of 75,000 men, and appeals to all loyal citizens to favor, facilitate and aid this effort to maintain the honor, the integrity and the existence of the Union, and the perpetuity of the Government. He has also called an extra session threatened them. Emaciated multitudes of Congress, which is to assemble on Thursday the 4th day of July.

> LANCASTER, April 15 .- Secession has no followers here. All parties are united in sustaining the government at all hazards.

> Ex-President Buchanan remarked to one of his most intimate and political friends to-day, "That the government had gone to the utmost verge of forbearance, and it was now the duty of all good citizens to stand by the government.

BALTIMORE, April 15 .- The Union feeling in the city is strong this morning. The Minate Men, an organization 2,500 strong, which has been drilling ever since the Presidential election, threw out the Stars and Stripes this morning from their headquarters, with the motto "the Union and the Constitution."
