THE RAFTSMAN'S JOURNAL.

THE LATE DEFEAT NOT SO BAD.

The report of the repulse of our troops at Manassas Junction, published in our last issue, turns out to have been greatly exaggerated. After obtaining the facts, there is but little to discourage our men or to help the rebels.

It appears that the rebels numbering about 90,000 were strongly entrenched, under the command of their ablest Generals, Beauregard, Gen. McDowell numbered near 50,000, attacked them, but not more than about 25,000 were brought into the fight. The attack was begun | escaped. Her husband is also safe. on Sunday morning and lasted nearly all day. Our solbiers fought most bravely. They were snccessfully carrying one battery after another and repulsing the enemy wherever they met in the open field. Everything was going on prosperously, when the rapid return of some of our soldiers to the baggage wagons for ammunition, made the impression on the team-It seems as if the Clearfield Republican was sters that they were retreating. Suddenly a to be left alone in its condemnation of Presipanic seized on the teamsters, and the civilians dent Lincoln for suspending the writ of habeas who were there as spectators. They rushed acorpus in the Merriman case, and for assuming way with horses and wagons as fast as they could other responsibilities, which alone saved our go. The panic soon communicated to the Government from instant destruction and the troops, and a portion of the volunteers fled in National Capital from being seized by the wild disorder. Others, however, fell back and Rebels under Jeff. Davis. The New York retreated in good order. The enemy made but Herald, which has heretofore been regarded little pursuit at the time. It is alleged that as very good authority by the editors of the they were badly cut up and thought of retreat-Republican, in its issue of July 25th, in dising themselves; and either were unable to cussing the question whether Mr. Lincoln has make a vigorous pursuit, or supposed our rethe courage and capacity for the present emergency, speaks of the acts referred to above treat to be a mere feint to draw them out from their entrenchments. The loss of the enemy in killed and wounded was about 2000 whilst that on our side does not exceed 1000. We however, lost some prisoners. But this will still not make our loss as great as that of the enemy.

When we consider that our soldiers fought at a great disadvantage against an enemy superior in numbers and posted behind strong entrenchments, we have reason to be proud of their bravery and efficiency.

One good effect resulting from the defeat is, that immediate steps have been taken to reorganize the army so as bereafter to exclude all incompetent officers from command. A commission has been appointed to examine into the conduct of those engaged in this battle. The incompetent, if any, will be dismissed; those who did their duty retained; and those who distinguished themselves, promoted. Gen. MoClellan has been appointed to command, and his presence infuses new life and The Herald, desperate as it is, has not the hope into the army. Fresh troops are poureffrontery to find fault with the President's ing into Washington by thousands. All offiacts, which, it says, "are applauded by every cers are hereafter to undergo a strict examiintelligent, loyal citizen in the land." This nation by a Board of military men to test dirty task has been voluntarily undertaken by their qualifications, and if found incompetent they are not to be commissioned. New vigor, and watchfulness are to be instilled in every department pertaining to our militury service. Thus, we believe, that this repulse will turn to our advantage, and a temporary defeat pave the way to a permanent victory.

INCIDENTS OF THE BATTLE.

One of the New York 71st had a furrow ploughed through his hair by a grape shot. Had his hair been short, an Irishman would have said that his head would have been cloven. Mrs. Katy Bronwell, daughter of the First Rhode Island Regiment, who marched sixteen miles, side by side with her husband, on the march to Frederick City, where she was presented with the flag she carried through this city on Tuesday last, a week ago, and for whom Johnson and Jeff. Davis. Our army under such great inquiry was made, has returned, after having a very narrow escape, being fired upon six times. Drawing a pistol, she shot one of her pursuers, and fled to the woods and

Dr. J. H. Irwin, surgeon of the Second Wisconsin Regiment, was chased by one of high water. Maj. Van Horn's force was atthe Black Horse Cavalry, who fired when with- | tacked while at dinner. They planted their in ten feet of the surgeon, at the same time flagstaff in the ground, never giving way an shouting, "Surrender, you d-d Abolition scoundrel !" The ball grazed the head of Dr. who, at the same time, made a big leap into clump of woods. The trooper rode around to head him off but his opponent meantime force of twenty-three men. managed to load his rifle, and when the trooper next appeared shot him through the chest. He fell sideways, the saddle turning with him, and the frightened horse galloped off with its dead or wounded rider dangling by the stirrups.

Lieut. Prime, of the engineers, narrowly escaped falling into the enemy's hands after the battle of Bull's Run. He rode up to a party of soldiers to inquire of the whereabouts of some of the officers engaged from whem to learn the particulars of the affair. Where is Col. Sherman's brigade, he asked. Don't know. What regiment are you ? Fifth North Caroli- to Martinsburg, where they were soon afterna. Lieut. Prime had the presence of mind to continue the conversation, until, finding out where to water his horse, he rode away for the purpose. As soon as he had the hill between him and the enemy he galloped away out of their reach.

During one of the charges of the Fire Zouaves upon the Mississippi Rifles, a Zouave and a Mississippian came in contact on an open space, both with discharged rifles. Simultaneously they attempted to draw their revolvers, and the Mississippian having succeeded before the Zouave in drawing his, the latter cried out, "Blaze away, Mississippi ; I'll take the last shot." The Mississippian Instantly did so, missing the Zouave, who, having drawn his weapon, discharged it at his foe, piercing his heart and instantly killing him.

One of the enemy's cavalry rode up to a wagon containing a wounded German soldier of Captain Longworthy's company, Second Wisconsin regiment, and, dragging him out by the hair ol the head, pierced him through the body with his sword, yelling, "I'll teach vou d-d black Abolitionists to come down here to fight us !" The trooper then rushed upon the driver of the wagon, and, with a back cut of his sabre, nearly severed the man's head from his body, and he fell hfeless among his horses.

Prominent among the returning veterans was Thomas Francis Meagher, (pronounced May her,) the Irish orator and poet. He stood the brunt of the fight as calmly as if the hero of a mimic battle. All parties speak of him as a true soldier, and being pointed out, when passing through Philadelphia, a great crowd oursued him from place to place. He was reported dead, but escaped with a slight wound upon his upper lip, a bullet having grazed his nose, and cut off a part of his moustache. The Ellsworth Zouaves are lions everywhere. If we had a few more regiments like them they would be invaluable. A few moments ago we noticed one passing up the Avenue with his arm off just below the shoulder, and as merry as ever. Two came in last night who had been taken prisoners and put under a guard at Fairfax Court House. Both were wounded, one in the leg and one in the hand, but during the night they watched their opportunity and murdered the guard and escaped. Among those out of the ranks of the army who were on the battle-field were Geo. R Smith, State Senator, Pa. He was in the thickest of the fight, and his carriage was struck and shows marks of bullets in several places. When the men began to retreat he mounted a fence, and in patriotic appeals he urged them to stay by the guns. He was the last to leave, and remained with the wounded all night, attending to their wants. A Minnesota boy, at Manassas, was rushed upon by four colored soldiers-full-blooded Africans; three were shot by Zouaves, the fourth attempted to pin him to the ground with his bayonet, which he parried, which gave a slight wound upon his thigh, and run nto the ground its whole length, and, before he could extricate it, the boy shot him through the body, which was so near that the blaze of throw a projectile, weighing sixty-four the gun set his clothes on fire. The ensign of the First Rhode Island Regiment remarked to his comrades at an early part of the engagement, "Now, boys, stick to your guns and 1'll stick to your flag." Scarcey were the words uttered when he fell. The colors were taken up by a brave fellow, who, repeating the words so earnestly uttered by the fallen color-bearer, waved them in the air, and was, in a few moments, shot down. In the thickest of the fight, one of the 71st tarrying in the entrenchment after his comrades had abandoned it, was overtaken by a daring rebel. The two wrestled, and the 71st fell upon his back, with the rebel's knee upon his chest. The latter drew his knife, but in service. The Massachusetts was slightly damthe act of striking, was shot dead by one of aged in the rigging. the 71st, who had clambered up the parapet again to look for his comrade. When Col. Burnside tell from his killed horse, he conversed a moment with a rebel officer, who asked him whether he was wounded, when he replied, "Only slightly." "I am mortally wounded," said the rebel, "and can have no object in deceiving you. I assure you that we have 90,000 men in and within forty minutes of Manassas Junction. It is related by an eye-witness that a young soldier of one of our Regiments, left wounded upon the field, begged for his life at the hands of the rebels, but was shot while upon his knees. At last accounts the Rebels were engaged

SUMMARY OF WAR NEWS.

JULY 20.-By a special messenger at Kansas city, Missouri, we learn the following : On the 18th, at half-past two p. m., Maj. Van Horn's command of United States Reserve Home Guards of this place, numbering 170 men, were attacked by 500 rebels under Capt. Duncan, three miles north of Harrisonville. The fight lasted four hours, during which time a continual firing was kept up on both sides. At half-past six the rebels withdrew, leaving the Union men victorious. The loss of the rebels was fourteen killed, including two officers. The Union men continued their march crossing Grand river, but they were compelled to leave three of their baggage wagons on the bank of the river, owing to the inch nor moving the flag till after the rebels withdrew. The enemy attempted to flank them on the left with a company of cavalry, but were completely routed by a detailed Sharpe to the latter's home in a buggy, when they were fired upon by parties concealed in the bushes by the roadside. Col. Sharpe was severely wounded in the back. Their horses taking fright ran wards overtaken by a party of mounted rebels, and in spite of their entreaties that their lives might be spared, they were both taken out and hung.

JULY 23 .- The advices from North Missouri are to the effect that on Sunday morning a body of Col. Smith's Missouri Zonaves went to Danville and arrested four men engaged in hanging Colonel Sharp and Lieutenant Jeagar, and took them to the outskirts of the town where they were shot. One of them was Robert Ferrell, a lawyer, formerly an editor of the Danville Herald. Two other men concerned in the same outrage were shot dead near Mexico, Indiana county, by a company of cavalry under Captain Smith. Four others escaped on horseback. One of the men shot was the captain of a company of rebels at Mexico, named Moultrie.

An infernal machine, intended by the Confederates to blow up some ships of war, washed ashore in the Hampton Roads this morning. It is of an ingenuous construction. This is the second attempt of this kind, and one of the atrocious methods of warfare employed by the high-minded chivalry. It landed within a few rods of Floyd's house.

The Roanoke steamed up the roads this morning. She has been as far south as St. Augustine. During her cruise she burned a confederate vessel, supposed to have been a privateer, the name of which she did not learn. The crew escaped to the shore in small boats.

he has received private advices from Richmond, to the effect that Monday was a day of mourning rather than rejoicing in the city, on account of the great numbers of the rebel troops who were killed in the action at Bull's Run. This statement confirms previous reports of the heavy loss sustained by the enemy. in the following plain terms:

"All who know Mr. Lincoln concur in pronouncing him an honest, intelligent, humane, patriotic and exceedingly amiable man. We know, too, from his proclamations calling out a great army, and strengthening the navy,

from his embargo of the ports of our revolted

States, and from his suspension, in a case or two, of the writ of habeas corpus, in advance of the authority of Congress, that he is a man who can assume the responsibility when instant action is required to save the government from a revolutionary armed occupation.

In these acts he stands not only justified by Congress and the country, but applauded by every intelligent loyal citizen in the land. In assuming these responsibilities he saved our capital from a revolutionary coup d'etat; for, had he hesitated to act from constitutional technicalities and delicate quibbles of law, we all know, from the astounding developments of the last six months, that the government of the United States would have been forcibly cjected from Washington by the armed followers of Jefferson Davis."

OUR COUNTY CONVENTION.

It will be seen that a county Convention for the nomination of candidates for the different offices has been called, to meet at Clearfield on Friday the 16th day of August. In some places party lines have been disregarded in this hour of the nations trial, and all have been united by the common purpose of upholding the Government to put down treason and traitors. But in Clearfield county a very different spirit seems to prevail among the leading spirits of the Democratic party. They seem to be of the Breckinridge and Vallandigham stripe ; having nothing to say against the rebels, but a great deal against the Administration that would put down rebellion. The Clearfield Republican, the organ of the Breckinridge wing of the party, gives timely notice that now is the time for party Rich Mountain, which resulted in the surrenorganization, and exhorts its followers with great carnestness to organize their forces. There is, therefore, nothing left but for those of different sentiments to do likewise. Then let those rally who are in favor of sustaining their country, preserving a united government, and opposing this infamous rebellion. There can be but two parties on the groat question of the day; those who are for the traitors and those who are for the Union, Let all patriots ponder the subject, and place themselves on the side of their country.

SPEECH OF HON. J. HOLT .- On our first page will be found the speech of Hon. Joseph Holt, of Kentucky, delivered on the occasion of a public reception at Lexington on his return home from Washington. The speech is worth a perusal. It will be remembered that Mr. Holt was Postmaster General during President Buchanan's Administration, with perhaps two months, during which time he was Secretary-of-War ; and therefore, should be good authority on the subjects which he discusses. When such men as Holt of Kentucky, Johnson of Tennessee, Robert J. Walker of Mississippi, Rosseau of Kentucky, and Foster of North Carolina declare "that the Union must be preserved at all hazards," it is time that those in the North who sympathize with Secession should reflect on the subject. Indeed, the loyalty of such Southern men, as we have named, should cause the cheeks of every Northern Secessionist to blanch with shame,

AN ASTONISHED SOUTHERNER .- The Northampton (Mass.) Courier says that a gentleman arrived in that town last week from Columbus City, (Miss.) who believed, until he reached the loyal States, that Congress was in session at Chicago. The belief that it is doing business there, and that all the archives of the Government have been removed there, is universal at the South. He was greatly astonished to learn that Congress was quietly in session "at the old stand" in Washington.

GEN. ROSENCRANS .- Brigadier General Rosencrans, who so gallantly won the battle of Rich Mountain, is to succeed General McClellan in command on the upper Potomac. General Wm S. Rosecrans is a native of Ohio and a West Point officer, having entered the Millitary Academy in 1838. He was breveted Second Lientenant of Engineers in July 1842, and was subsequently Assistant Professor of Engineering, and of Natural and Experimental Philosophy in 1847. A few years after this he resigned his commission in the army, and in the year 1754 settled in Cincinnati as an architect and civil engineer, from which position he was called at the opening of the present war to take command of a regiment of Ohio Volunteers. He was soon after appointed to the command of a brigade, in which position he fought and won the admirable battle of der of the rebel leader, Golonel Pegram, and his forces, and the rout of General Garnett's army at Beverly. Gen. Rosencrans is in the full vigor of manhood, and enjoys the reputation of a skillful and valiant officer. It is, therefore, to be hoped that he will prove a worthy successor to General McClellan, in command of the important department over which he has been placed.

IMPRESSMENT IN TENNESSEE .- We observe that the Legislature of Tennessee has passed an act "for the relief of volunteers," which authorizes the Governor to impress into the army all the free negroes of that state, between the ages of fifteen and fifty years, being sound in mind and body. These "volunteers" are to perform such menial services in the camp as may be required, and to receive therefor regular rations, with eight dollars per month as wages. Might it not be well to go one step further and impress the slaves into their service, the latter to perform such "menial" work as fighting, and above all, carrying their masters away from the field, whether living or dead ? It is lamentable that chivalry who are unaccustomed to physical drudg. ery, should be compelled to carry heavy loads, shoot or stab under broiling sun, and especially that they should have to run ten, fifteen or twenty miles on a stretch, after the "glorious victory." Let Sambo be impressed, and set to perform all such disagreeable and dangerous work.

THE FEELING IN WASHINGTON .- Every man is ready, says the correspondent of the Press, to shoulder his musket and march to the rescue of our country, now menaced by a partial defeat in front of an army of traitors. No excitement lequal to that of the present hour ever visited our city ; but it is based on a determination not to let an hour pass unnecessarily before the enemy is met and humbled. Men equal to the emergency will rush from every corner of the Free States. The cry to arms! to arms! will echo from the Capitol through every valley and over every hill-top, until a nation of freemen who in their manhood feel now that freedom, to be maintained for themselves and their children, must be defended by the rifle and sword. Onward ! Onward ! brave men, to the capital and the rebel batteries. Send us generals who are equal to the emergency, and brave spirits whose solomn vow is victory or death.

JULY 24 .- The President and Secretary Seward visited the fortifications over the river to-day. Arriving at Fort Cocoran they were received by the gallant New York Sixty-ninth with great enthusiasm. The President asked if they intended to re-enlist ? The reply was "they would if the President desired it." He announced emphatically that he did, and wrote them a letter complimenting them upon their brave and heroic conduct, and expressing the hope that the whole regiment would reenlist. This was received with cheers, and determination expressed to go in for the war and stand by the government and the old flag for ever.

The President's appointment of Gen. Mc-Clellan, who is now on his way here, to command the grand army, has given unbounded satisfaction, and created great enthusiasm among the soldiers. They are worthy of being led by so great a general as McCiellan, who has recently given such decisive proof of his abilities. This city is very quiet to day, if we except the immense movement of newly arrived troops. The old excitement has entirely subsided.

The ordinance department at the Navy Yard, is turning out rifle cannon with an extra force. One hundred are nearly finished, which will pounds, four and a halt miles. The gun weighs 10,000 pounds. There is great activity in the ordinance department, night and day. The gun boat Penguin, stationed at Newpart News, yesterday allowed a heavily laden schooner from Norfolk to pass up James river. She was probably loaded with cannon destined for Richmond. Only six shots were fired at her. The confederates in the vicinity are allowed to do quite as they please.

Until the ships of war in the harbor and to the this work is performed, they have no time to Naval Brigade. Back River is properly an arm of the sea, about midway between Old Point and York River. The expedition was entirely successful. Lieut. Crosby burned nine sloops and schooners belonging to the Seventy-ninth, (Highland,) at the moment rebels, and brought off one valuable prize schooner laden with bacon, corn, and furniture, the last articles belonging to parties about to take refuge up the Rappahannock river. A special despatch to the Louisville Courier, dated Lynchburg, July 23, says that the rebels captured 68 cannons, 25,000 stand of arms, 1,-200 horses, and all the stores and provisions, valued at one million dollars. A buggy and epaulets marked General Scott was captured. The rebel loss is reported at 250 killed and 1000 wounded. The fourth Alabama regiment y in two by a canister shot which struck him suffered severely, as did Wade Hampton's South Carolina legion. Another account says the confederates lost 2000, that the feder-

A French merchant vessel lately lay in great peril during a storm near the shoals of Caprers. A man in a red shirt came alongside with a fishing boat, leaped on board, took the belm and saved the vessel. When he was departing the captain offered him money, and on his refusing it, discovered his savior to be-Garibaldi.
