

CLEARFIELD, JAN. 22, 1862.

MAIL COMMUNICATION WITH THE REBELS.

The following is an extract from a letter of John A. Kasson, Esq., First Assistant Postmaster General, and may serve as a final answer to all inquiries on this subject: The facilities afforded by sending letters to the rebel States under a flag of truce are not intended, and cannot be permitted, to cover general correspondence, as it would impose a labor upon the commanding general at Fortress Monroe, the performance of which would be wholly incompatible with the discharge of his more important military duties; but only the correspondence of such prisoners as may be held by the United States or their enemies, and the families of such as may be prisoners in the rebel States or United States. Such letters, properly prepaid, may be forwarded direct to Old Point Comfort. The arrangement is for the accommodation of prisoners on both sides.

Disposition of Fugitive Slaves.—Some time ago Gen. Hooker asked Gen. McClellan what he should do with 50 or 60 fugitive slaves, who were within his lines at Budd's Ferry. Gen. McClellan replied with an order, directing him to inquire in each case whether the fugitive from bondage had or had not been employed in the military service of the enemy. If he had been, General Hooker should employ him; if he had not, he should exclude him from his lines, thus temporarily liberating him and leaving the final disposition of the bondmen to the civil authorities. It is understood that a similar rule will hereafter be applied in every case occurring within the army of the Potomac. Further than this Gen. McClellan is believed to be unwilling to go in the absence of other legislation than that of the July session of Congress.

NOTEWORTHY.—Mrs. Rose O. H. Greenhow, according to the Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer, was found to be in possession of political correspondence from Jeff. Davis, ex-President James Buchanan, John C. Breckinridge, Joe. Lane, Yancey, and other famous individuals. Mrs. Greenhow is the widow of the well-known explorer, Robert W. Greenhow, and possesses a handsome person, pleasing addresses, good education, and great conversational powers, such as gave her a diplomatic influence of no slight magnitude. This fashionable and dashing intrigante was the centre of the "gentlemanly and chivalric" secessionist family at the capital, her society being much more popular with the gentleman than the ladies, on account of her ambitious and scheming character.

ANOTHER REBEL.—The arrest of Wm. T. Smithson, banker, in Washington city, is a very important one, from the fact that he has been communicating valuable information to the rebels for a long time. His last communication gave a detailed plan for the capture of Washington, the number of troops and forts located in its vicinity, and what purported to be the plans of General McClellan. It is stated that the evidence of his crime is so clear and so great that he will ultimately be tried by the military instead of the civil courts, on the charge of being a spy.

NATIONALITY OF THE VOLUNTEERS.—The report of the Sanitary Commission of the army, acquaints us with the important fact that at least two-thirds of the volunteers are native Americans. This is an official refutation of the allegations of foreign journals, that our army was composed almost entirely of foreigners. It is true that the Germans and Irish have enlisted in large numbers; but in a country composed to a great extent of men of all nations like this, such to be expected.

GENERAL McDOWELL.—It is rumored in Washington that on account of the ill health of Gen. McClellan, the command of the army of the Potomac has been temporarily assigned to Gen. McDowell. Military men have great confidence in the latter, notwithstanding the reverse at Bull Run. This feeling is increased by the complimentary manner in which Gen. Beauregard has spoken of his skill in planning the movements for the said battle.

OHIO.—Gov. Todd of Ohio was inaugurated on the 13th. His message is brief. The Governor expresses confidence in the purity and patriotism of President Lincoln, and commends the determination of the President to restore the Government to its former harmony and vigor irrespective of the result upon the domestic institutions in any of the States.

THE RICHMOND PRISONERS.—On the 11th, 25 of the three-months men, who have been prisoners at Richmond since the Bull Run fight, were paid their regular monthly allowance, and the amount due them for clothing. No subsistence money was given them, but it is said that they intend to apply for it. They were discharged.

CASSIUS M. CLAY.—It is stated in Washington circles, that Mr. Clay is returning to take a command in the army, as a Brigadier General. He wants to have a hand in the fight in Kentucky. We do not wonder that any patriot desires to be at home at a time like this. A Minister to Russia is only a sort of honorable exile.

A SKIRMISH.—On the 7th, a skirmish took place on Jennie creek in Kentucky, between a party of 24 Virginia (U. S.) cavalry and a portion of Humphrey Marshall's forces under Shaw, in which the rebels lost 6 killed, 14 wounded and 7 prisoners. Our loss was 2 killed and 1 wounded.

GEN. PATTERSON.—The Congressional Committee on the War, on an examination into Gen. Patterson's case, developed facts prejudicial to him, and confirmatory of the public opinion of his conduct of the campaign.

SAILED.—The Burdick expedition has sailed from Fortress Monroe and its destination remains as much of a mystery as ever.

LADIES ONE PRICE FANCY FUR STORE!—JOHN FA-REIRA, No. 718 Arch Street, between 7th & 8th Streets, Philadelphia, (late of 818 Market street), Importer, Manufacturer of, and Dealer in all kinds of FANCY FURS, for Ladies' Misses' and Children's Wear. Having now manufactured and in store, my usual large and beautiful assortment of all the various styles and qualities of Furs adapted to the coming Fall and Winter seasons. I would respectfully invite an examination of my stock and prices from those intending to purchase, as I am enabled to offer them very desirable inducements. All my Furs have been purchased for cash, and made up experienced and competent hands, and as the present monetary troubles render it necessary that I should dispose of my goods at very small advance on cost. I am satisfied that it will be to the interests of those who design purchasing, to give me a call. Recollect, the name, number and street, John Fareira, (New Fur Store), 718 Arch Street, Philad'a. Sept. 11, 1861-3mo.

NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.—NEW VOLUME.—On the seventh of September, 1861, THE NEW-YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE commenced the twenty-first year of its existence; the DAILY TRIBUNE being some months older and THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE somewhat younger. For more than twenty years, this journal has labored in what its conductors have felt to be the cause of Humanity, Justice and Freedom, endeavoring to moderate the passions, to enlighten the ignorant, and to honor and encourage useful exertion in whatever sphere, and to promote by all means the moral, intellectual and material advancement of our country. It has aimed to be a guide rather than a popular exponent, and commend to-day the truth that others may not be willing to accept till to-morrow. In pursuing this course, mistakes have doubtless been made and faults committed; but, having in all things endeavored to be guided by the highest of our own consciences, we believe we may fairly claim for this journal the credit of having qualified its readers to detect and expose even its own errors. The temper of the mind of a young by the most general, and the practice of the most judicious, to encourage and stimulate Productive Industry, through free grants of Public Lands to actual settlers and cultivators, as also through the protection of immature and peculiarly exposed branches from too powerful foreign competition, are among the aims to which this journal has adhered through good and evil report, and which it steadfastly commends to American patriotism and philanthropy. As to the Civil War now devastating our country, we hold it to have originated in a Rebellion more wanton, wicked, inexcusable, than was ever before known—a Rebellion in the interest of the few against the many—a Rebellion designed to raise higher the walls of caste, to tighten the chains of oppression. Having done all we could without a surrender of vital principle to avoid this War and witnessed the forbearance, meekness, and long-suffering with which the Federal Government sought to avert a civil war, we stand by the nation and its fairly chosen rulers, and to second with all our energies their efforts to uphold the Union, the Constitution, and the supremacy of the laws. And, though the Rebellion has become, through its assumption, deception, terrorism, and spoliation, fearfully strong, we believe the American Republic far stronger, and that the unanimous, earnest efforts of loyal hearts will overcome its evil overthrow. But on all questions affecting the rights of man, and the duration of this most extraordinary contest, we defer to those whom the American People have clothed with authority, holding unity of purpose and action indispensable in so grave an emergency. In a crisis like the present, our columns must be largely engrossed with the current history of the War for the Union, and with elucidations of its more striking incidents. We shall not, however, remit that attention to Literature, to Foreign Affairs, to Agricultural Progress, to Crops, Markets, &c., which has already, we trust, won for THE TRIBUNE an honorable position among its contemporaries. Our main object is and shall be to produce a comprehensive newspaper, from which a careful reader may glean a vivid and faithful history of the times, not merely in the domain of Action but in that of Opinion also. As our facilities for acquiring information increase with years, we trust that an improvement in the contents of our journal is perceptible, and that, in the variety and fulness of intelligence afforded, we may still hope to 'make each day a critic on the last.' In this hope, we solicit a continuation of our generous measure of patronage hitherto accorded to our journal. TERMS. DAILY TRIBUNE (31 issues per annum) . . . $6 SEMI-WEEKLY (104 issues per annum) . . . $3 WEEKLY (52 issues per annum) . . . $2 To Clubs. Semi-Weekly: Two copies for $5; five for $12.25; ten copies to one address for $20; and any larger number at the latter rate. For a club of twenty, an extra copy will be sent. For a club of forty we send THE DAILY TRIBUNE gratis one year. Weekly: Three copies for $5; eight copies for $10; any larger number at the rate of $1.20 each per annum, the paper to be addressed to each subscriber. To clubs of Twenty, we send an extra copy of twenty copies to one address for $20, with one extra to him who sends us the club. For each club of One Hundred, THE DAILY TRIBUNE will be sent gratis for one year. When drafts can be procured it is much safer to work in that mode. The name of the Post-Office and State should be on all cases be plainly written. Payment always in advance. Address THE TRIBUNE, No. 154 Nassau-st., New-York.
