SPRING ELECTION .-- On Friday the 21st of February, the election for local officers will take place in this county.

CONTINENTAL MONTHLY .- We have before us the second number of a new work, called the "Continental Monthly," which bids fair to be a work of great merit. It is an independent journal, edited by Charles J. Leland, and devoted to Politics, Literature, etc, See prospectus, under the head of "New Advertisements." Will the publisher please forward us the first number?

Lumber can be taken to market by water or railroad, equally convenient; as the lumber can be run off the mill to the track of the Tyrone and Clearfield Kailroad or on to the bank of Moshannon creek. Persons desirous of going into the lumbering business would do well to examine the property and location; as it possesses, perhaps, more advantages than any other situation in this county at present.

ANOTHER BRILLIANT VICTORY.

Fort Henry (Rebel) on the Tennesse River taken by seven gunboats

On Thursday the 6th of February, the gunouts Essex, Commander Porter; Carondolet, Com. Walker, Cincinnati, Com. Stembel; St. Louis Lieut. Com. Paulding; Taylor, Lieut. Com. Guinn; Conestoga, Lieut. Com. Phelps; Lexington, Lieut. Com. Shirk; advanced boldly against the rebel works. The heats went to the right of Painter Creek Island, immediately above which on the east shore stand the rebel fortifications; by which movement they kept out of range of the rebel guns until they reached the head of the Island, and within one mile of the enemy. Every man was at his quarters, and every ear was strained to catch the flag-officer's signal gun for the commencement of the action. The Cincinnati opened the ball, and the others followed suit. The enemy, not backward, gave an admirable response. Our boats advanced steadily, rehe first number?

Ceiving and returning storms of shot and shell, until getting within three hunndred yards of of the enemy's works, they came to a stand, when they poured a fire into them right and left, and with good effect. The fight was commenced at 12.30, and after at intervals during the day. The hauling is an engagement of one hour and a quarter the enemy struck their colors-and such cheering, and such excitement as seiged the throats, arms and caps of the 4 or 500 scamen of the boats can be better immagined that described. After the surrender, which was made to flag-officer Foote by Gen. Tilghman, A CHANGE. -- By reference to our advertising who defended the fort in a most determined manner, we were informed that the rebel infantry encamped outside the fort numbering four or five thousand had cut and run, leaving only the artillery company in command of the fort. The infantry left everything in their flight, including a large and valuable quantity of ordnance stores.

The fort mounted twenty guns and seventeen mortars, mostly 32 and 34 pounders-one being a magnificent 10-inch columbiad. Our shots dismounted two of their gues, and one of their rifled 32 pounders bursted during the action. Their gunners claim to have but eleven effective guns worked. Their loss in the fort was five killed and ten badly wounded. The prisoners are Gen. Floyd Tilghman and

A persons calling himself Dr. Ives, (a native of a rebel State and who has a brother in the rebel army), pretending to be a special representative of the N. Y. Herald, has been arrested and is held in close custody at Fort McHenry as a spy. On the 8th instant he intruded himself into the War Department, and insolently made threats to the Assistant Secretary, of the hostility of the Herald against the administration of the Department, unless he was afforded special privileges and furnished with information in respect to cabinet consultations, telegrams, official communications, and all news, in advance of all other papers. For these, and other reasons, he was arrested and imprisoned, by order of Sec. Stanton.

Brigadier Gen. C. P. Stone was arrested at residence in Washington city, and sent to Fort | court. By order of the court. Lafayette by the afternoon train. The substance of the charges against him are: For misbehavior at the battle of Balt's Bluff-holding correspondence with the enemy before and sines that battle-receiving visits from rebel officers in his camp-and treacherously designing to expose his force to capture by the enemy, under pretence of an order for a movement. From Missouri, we have intimations that an important combined movement is to take place toward the enemy. Gens. Sigel and Ashboth's Divisions had reached Lebanon, forty miles from Springfield. Price is said to have told his troops that they were surrounded, and must fight or surrender. They chose the former. The rebel chief has been, it is said, heavily reinforced from Arkansas.

From Norfolk we learn that the rebel steamram Merrimae, which was expected to demolish the Union fleet at the Roads, turns out a failure. It appears that she sinks down too low in the water, being 200 tuns heavier than her adaptors counted upon. Hence she is good for nothing except as a stationary bat-

From rebel sources we learn, that the engagement at Roanoke Island still continues, and that the Federals had sunk one or two Confederate gunboats. Some later news was received at Norfolk, but was not communicated to our boat at Fortress Monroe.

No. 2. WAKE UP !- The undersigned would respectfully inform the citizens of Clearfield and vicinity, that he continues to do all kinds of Blacksmithing on short notice and in the very best style, at the Old Shop alongside of the Town Hall. Edge tools of all kinds made and dressed in the best manner, and warranted to give entire satisfaction. The public will remember, that I am not in the habit of turning off jobs on account of not being able to do them. All I ask is a trial, and then the public may judge of the work for themselves. Remember the "Old Shop" at the JAMES HAFF.
