England gave refuge to Benedict Arnold; why should she not welcome to her shores Messrs. Mason and Slidell?

"Artemus Ward, in his humorous lecture, speaks of the peace party of the North as a pitiful set of white-livered wretches, fit for nothing but to carry peppermint drops to Gen.

A writer in an English paper is very indignant that "the ladies are always drunk last" at convivial gatherings. What would the writer expect! They are certainly the last we should like to see drunk.

A Store was broken open one night, but strange to say nothing was carried off. The proprietor was making his brag of it, at the same time expressing his surprise at losing nothing. "Not at all surprising," said his neighbor; "the robbers lighted a lamp, didn't they?" "Yes," was the reply. "Well," continued the neighbor, "they found your goods marked so high they couldn't afford to

"Ah I am very serry for this rebellion; it prevents my going South," said an Englishman the other day, dining at a club in Philadelphia by invitation. "They tell me," he continued, "that the American gentleman is only to be found at the South. How is that, pray? Can you explain it?" "I can't" replied his host : "It is no more to be explained than the statement so often made, that there are gentleman in England, but that none of them ever come to this country ?"

A bowery boy being cut short in life by a sore disease which quickly brought him to death's door, was informed by his physician that medicine could do nothing for .him. "What's my chance doctor?" "Not worth speaking of." "One in twenty?" "Oh, no." "In thirty?" "No." "Fifty?' I think not." "A hundred ?" "Well, perhaps there may be one in a hundred." "I say, then, doctor," pulling him close down and whispering with feeble earnestness in his ear, "jest you go in Cheap on that one chance." The doctor "went in" and the patient recovered.

Mr. W. is one of our most popular artists and draughtsmen. Not long since, while busily at work, he was interrupted by a rough looking customer: "Be you Mr. W., the painter ?"

"You teach creatures to draw, I believe ?" Yes, sir," replied the artist, who fancied his visitor some wealthy old farmer. "Do you wish your daughter to take a few lessons ?"

"No, sir, not my darter." "Your son, perhaps?"

"No, not my son, neither."
"Who then, sir? Not yourself, I hope?" "No, not myself, but somebody a darned sight more difficult—a four year old mule I bought the other day. Learn him to draw, and darned if I don't out pewter and give you the biggest hundred dollars you ever seed."

NEW-YORK TRIBUNE—NEW VOLUME On the seventh of September, 1861, THE NEW-YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE commenced the twenty-first year of its existence; the THE DAI-LY TRIBUNE being some months older and THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE somewhat younger. For more than twenty years, this journal has labored in what its conductors have felt to be the cause of Humanity, Justice and Freedom, endeav- | yarn, fringe, buttons, trimmings, etc. oring to meliorate the condition of the oppressed and unfortunate, to honor and encourage useful Oil cloths, buckets, school books, wall paper, twine exertion in whatever sphere, and, to promote by all means the moral, intellectual and material advancement of our country. It has aimed to be right rather than popular, and to espouse and commend to-day the truth that others may not be willing to accept till to-morrow. In pursuing this course, mistakes have doubtless been made and faults committed; but, having in all things incited our readers to think and judge for themselves rather than adopt blindly our own or others' conclusions, we believe we may fairly claim for this journal the credit of having qualified its readers to detect and expose even its own errors. To develop the minds of the young by the most general, thorough and practical Education, and to encourage and stimulate Productive Industry through free grants of Public Lands to actual set tlers and cultivators, as also through the protection of immature or peculiarly exposed branches from too powerful foreign competition, are among the aims to which this journal has adhered through good and evil report, and which it steadfastly commends to American patriotism and philanthropy.

As to the Civil War now devastating our country, we hold it to have originated in a Rebellion more wanton, wicked, inexcusable, then was ever before known-a Rebellion in the interest of the few against the many—a Rebellion designed to raise higher the walls of caste and tighten the chains of oppression. Having done all we could without a surrender of vital principle to avoid this War and witnessed the forbearance, meek ness, and long-suffering with which the Federal Government sought to avert its horrors, we hold it our clear duty, with that of every other citizen to stand by the nation and its fairly chosen ru lers, and to second with all our energies their ef forts to uphold the Union, the Constitution, and the supremacy of the laws. And, though the Kebellion has become, through usurpation, deception. terroism, and spoilation, fearfully strong, we believe the American Republic far stronger, and that the unanimous, carnest efforts of loyal hearts and hands will insure its overthrow. But on all questions affecting the objects, the scope, and duration of this most extraordinary contest, we defer to those whom the American People have clothed with authority, holding unity of purpose and of action indispensable in so grave an emer-

In a crisis like the present, our columns must be largely engrossed with the current history of the War for the Union, and with elucidations of its more striking incidents. We shall not, how-ever, remit that attention to Literature, to Foreign Affairs, to Agricultural Progress, to Crops, Markets, &c., which has already, we trust, won for THE TRIBUNE an honorable position among its cotemporaries. Our main phject is and shall be to produce a comprehensive newspaper, from which a careful reader may glean a vivid and faithful history of the times, not merely in the domain of Action but in that of Opinion also. As our facilities for acquiring information increase with years, we trust that an improvement in the contents of our journal is perceptible, and that, in the variety and fulness of intelligence afforded, we may still hope to 'make each day a critic on the last." In this hope, we solicit a continu ance of the generous measure of patronage hitherto accorded to our journal.

Pennsylvania Hoapital. (FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS)
MAY 19, 1860.—Ellen S., act. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rhoumatism, from which she was ear fined to her bed for two weeks, and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Saturday; while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back felt cold, but had no decided chill. Two days later her ankles began to swell which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuelles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is the most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism. or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well marked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now is to call your attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylamine. Dr. Awenarius of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms having derived great benefit from its use in 259 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose giving it another trial. I must confess 1 am always incredulous as highly, that we are bound to give it a trial. SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER ! May 23, 1860 .- I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I preshribed Propylamine, and who was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in dozes of three grains, every two hours, (intermitting it Over-coats, dress-coats, business-coats, pants; vests, at night). The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room) you cannot fail to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are now nearly of their natural size. Thus far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but gentlemen we must wait a little white before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted

as specifics; but this comes to us recommended so

THREE DAYS LATER!! May 26, 1860 .- This is the case of scute rheamstism treated with propylamine, the first of these to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily.

In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, bas also continued to do well. I will now bring a fore you a very characteristic case of seute a matism, and if the result b esatisfactory, as good jurymen, we shall justly render our vers. in favor of propylamine.

He is a scaman, set. 25, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swellen. tense and tender. His tongue is furred; als skin at present, dry, though there has been much swesting. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90. He has now used propylamine twenty-four hours. This gentlemen is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was ex-posure to cold and wet, and this exposure is folowed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lower joints There is fever and the profuse sweating. so generally attendant on acute rheumatism. I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all a e points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing and it exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it. than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines. even anodynes, that there may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case in a future clinic. THE RESULT .- A FAVORABLE VERDICT. June 9, 1860 .- The next of our canvalescents is the case of acuterheumatism before you at our cliaie of May 26th, which I then called a typical case. and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to walk about as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have never sten as severe a case of acute rheumatism so spon resto ed to health as this man has been, and without be ing prepared to decide positively as to the value the remedy we have used, I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the chieride of Propylamine, the patients have gained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish, gentlemen, you would your selves try it, and report the results.
