"Lenox," your communication has unavoidably been crowded out.

AMPUTATED.—We have been informed that James Glenn, who was wounded in the battle at Dranesville, had his leg amputated several days since. He was a member of Captain E. A. Irwin's company.

BOSTON ELECTION.—The following named persons were elected on Friday the 21st inst: Justice of the Peace, John Shagart; Constable, John Guelich; Assessor, Frank Short; School Directors, Geo. Thorn, Michael Kittleberger, Wm. Bigler; Overseers of Poor, A. M. Hills, A. C. Flanigan; Judge of Elections, Henry Stone; Inspectors, John Troutman, R. Wallace, Sr. High Constable, David Johnston; Burgess, G. L. Reed; Town Council, John M'Pherson, J. C. Whitehill; Auditor, William W. Wright.

HOW TO GO TO SLEEP.—No doubt there are many of our readers who understand this delightful art to perfection; but there are certain conditions of animal nature, even in a state of health, when "tired nature's sweet restorer" refuses to close our lids and seems pertinaciously to fly from us though wood ever so warmly. The most natural and facile method is to place the head in a comfortable position, and then, taking in a full inspiration, breathe as much as possible through the nostrils. The attention must now be fixed upon the fact of breathing. The patient must imagine that he sees the breath passing from his nostrils; and the very moment he brings his mind to conceive this, apart from all other ideas, consciousness and memory depart, and he sleeps. The method is strange, but simple, and the experiment will prove its truth.

THE 51ST PENN'A REGIMENT.—This regiment participated in the recent battle at Roanoke Island. The following allusion to the regiment is from the special correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune:

"Gen. Reno now came up with his brigade, consisting of the 21st Massachusetts, 51st New York, 51st Pennsylvania and 9th New Jersey, and pushing through the swamps and tangled undergrowth, took up a position on the right, with the view of turning the enemy. This was done with the greatest alacrity. Meanwhile the contest raged hotly in front, our men behaving gallantly, not wavering for a moment. The Massachusetts men vied with the men of Connecticut; those of New York and New Jersey courageously supporting their brethren of Pennsylvania. Our troops gradually overcome the difficulties which impeded their approach, and though fighting at great disadvantage, and suffering severely, made a steady advance. Regulars were never more steady."

IT gives us pleasure to notice that among the officers of the 51st Penn'a regiment are, Adjutant D. P. Bible of Phillipsburg, Capt. A. B. Snyder of Bellefonte, and Lieut. P. A. Gaulin of Frenchville, who are well known to many of the citizens of this county. All honor to our brave boys.

THE "BUCKTAILS."—No other regiment in the service, perhaps, enjoys such a wide-spread reputation as the "Bucktails," or Kane Rifles. The peculiar names they have given themselves, and their peculiar mode of dress, by which they are so readily distinguished, have no doubt assisted in bringing this regiment so prominently before the public—to say nothing of their courage and fighting capacity, as exhibited in their recent conflict with the rebels at Dranesville. The "Bucktails" are as fond of fun as they are of fight. Recently, it is said, the larger portion of the regiment, then at leisure enjoyed the rare sport of a fox chase, though necessarily on a less extended scale than is usually allotted to sport of that kind. The fox was driven from his lair, in an adjoining wood, and presented himself a short distance from the line of the regiment, when nearly all hands started off, helter-skelter, after the fashion of a "scrub-race," in hot pursuit. The poor fox did not run far before he was completely surrounded, and escape seemed impossible. Yet he managed to elude their grasp, but was finally captured by one of the outer pickets, on a desperate bayonet charge, which had the effect merely to wound him, and thus save his foxskin for another chase. In the wild pursuit given by the "Bucktails," several of them suddenly came upon a "head-long steep," and down they went, to the number of a score or more, one upon the other, until, finally, they reached the bottom in a "mass of confusion," more easily imagined than described. Nobody was hurt, however, and all hands greatly enjoyed the sport.

THE ARMS.—Secretary Stanton, in reply to a resolution of the Senate, furnishes that body with a list of aids-de-camp appointed under the act of August 5, 1861. The whole number is 52—seventeen colonels, at a salary (including pay, clothing and subsistence) $2,457, and an allowance of $591 for servants; twelve lieutenant-colonels, with an income of $2,071, 50, and $591 for servants; nine majors, on the pay of $1,782, servants $591; and fourteen captains, pay $1,566, servants $295.50. Among the captains are the Orleans Princes.

TENNESSEE AND ALABAMA COTTON.—The opening up of the Tennessee river, brings us into the heart of the best upland cotton region. If the government will keep a river, or so, sailing up and down that river, an immense supply of the staple can be procured in exchange for goods or cash. A large trade will spring up in that region, as soon as the rebels are driven out of Columbus and Nashville. Memphis will fall as soon as Columbus is taken, and Tennessee and Northern Mississippi and Northern Alabama may yet do a fine spring trade.

BATTLES WON AND LOST.

Since the commencement of the rebellion, and while the Government has been making "preparations," the following are the principal battles which have been fought:

- UNION VICTORIES, 1861.
 - June 2 Phillipi, (Col. Kelly wounded.)
 - July 17 Boonville.
 - July 14 Br'er Fork, (Siegle's victory.)
 - July 14 Defeat of Pettigrew by McClellan.
 - July 13 Carrick's Ford, (Garnett killed.)
 - July 28 Hatters Forts taken.
 - Sep. 10 Rout of Floyd, Gauley Bridge.
 - Oct. 6 Second defeat of rebels at Hatters.
 - Oct. 8 Santa Rosa Island.
 - Oct. 11 Repulse at Southwest Pass.
 - Oct. 25 Charge of Fremont's Body Guard.
 - Oct. 27 Romney.
 - Nov. 7 Port Royal.
 - Dec. 13 Camp Alleghany, Virginia.
 - Dec. 18 1300 rebels captured by Pope in Mo. Dec. 18 Dranesville.

- REBEL VICTORIES, 1861.
 - April 12 Fort Sumter.
 - June 10 Big Bethel.
 - July 11 Ball Run.
 - Aug. 10 Wilson's Creek.
 - Sept. 20 Lexington.
 - Oct. 25 Massacre of Ball's Bluff.
 - Nov. 8 Belmont.

REBEL VICTORIES, 1862, NONE.
Recapitulation.—Union victories, 23; Rebel victories, 7; ratio, 3 to 1.
There is one section of the above list, and the most remarkable one too, the accuracy of which the most mendacious rebel will not dispute—the list of battles for the present year. The above list is undoubtedly correct. Not a single success has the rebels achieved in 1862; while on our side are at least four victories worthy of the name. These, too, are but the beginning of their defeats. We have but begun to fight. Even our preparations for fighting are not yet completed, but are going on with an energy and on a scale which will not be satisfied with small triumphs, nor, indeed, with anything less than the utter and final extinction of this rebellion. The rebellion is, in our hands, already beginning to stagger. The vitality and the passion of it are dying out. Pierced through as it now is with many arrows, we shall soon see the whites of its eyes, and its ghost will pass down among the other evil spirits in limbo.

ROASTING A BOMBARDIER.—The Charleston Courier has the following incident: "A few days since a shell from one of our guns in a battery, not a hundred miles from this city, fell without explosion. It was found by a group of little Africans, who, supposing it to contain something good, put it into a fire and gave it a roasting. Fortunately the explosion which ensued frightened them without serious injury."

PROSPECTUS OF THE CONTINENTAL MONTHLY.

There are periods in the world's history, marked by extraordinary and violent crises, sudden and unexpected, the like of which recur very rarely in the course of a generation. These crises sweep away in a moment the landmarks of generations. They call out fresh talents for great minds to speak their thoughts boldly, and to take position as the advance guard of the elements with which to sway the storm and direct the whirlwind. Just at present, we do not know that all this is to bring forth; but we do know that great minds must flow from such extraordinary commotions. At a juncture so solemn and so important, there is a special need that the intellectual force of the country should be active and efficient. It is a time for great minds to speak their thoughts boldly, and to take position as the advance guard of the elements with which to sway the storm and direct the whirlwind. Just at present, we do not know that all this is to bring forth; but we do know that great minds must flow from such extraordinary commotions. At a juncture so solemn and so important, there is a special need that the intellectual force of the country should be active and efficient. It is a time for great minds to speak their thoughts boldly, and to take position as the advance guard of the elements with which to sway the storm and direct the whirlwind. Just at present, we do not know that all this is to bring forth; but we do know that great minds must flow from such extraordinary commotions.

Among its attractions will be presented, in an early number, a "New Serial of American Life," by Richard Kimball, Esq., the very popular author of "The Revelations of Wall Street," "St. Roger," &c. A series of papers, by Hon. Horace Greely, embodying the distinguished author's observations on the growth and development of the Great West. A series of articles by the author of "Through the Cotton States," containing the result of an extended tour in the seashore Slave States, just prior to the breaking out of the war, and presenting a startling and truthful picture of the real condition of that region. No pains will be spared to render the literary attractions of the "Continental," both brilliant and substantial. The literary or descriptive talents of the most eminent writers have been promised to its pages; and nothing will be admitted which will not be distinguished by marked energy, originality, and solid strength. Avoiding every influence or association pertaining to slave or slave-holding, it will be open to all contributions of real merit, from writers differing materially in their views; the only limitations required being that of devotion to the Union, and the only standard of acceptance that of intrinsic excellence.

The Editorial Department will embrace, in addition to vigorous and fearless comments on the events of the times, genial gossip with the reader on all current topics, and also devote abundant space to those racy specimens of American wit and humor, without winking at the least, which position of our national character. Among those who will contribute regularly to this department may be mentioned the name of Charles F. Brown (Artemus Ward), from whom we shall present in the March number, the first of an entirely new and original series of "Sketches of Western Life." The "Continental" will be liberal and progressive, without yielding to chimeras and hopes beyond the grasp of the age; and it will endeavor to reflect the feelings and interests of the American people, and to illustrate both their serious and humorous peculiarities. In short, no pains will be spared to make it the Representative Magazine of the time.

TERMS.—Three dollars per year, in advance (postage paid by the Publishers). Two copies for $5; three copies for $6; (postage unpaid). Eleven copies for $20, (postage unpaid). Single numbers can be procured from any News-dealer in the United States. The Knicker-Boyer Magazine and the Continental Monthly will be furnished for one year at $4. Appreciating the importance of literature to the soldier on duty, the publishers will send the "Continental," gratis, to any regiment in active service, on application being made by its Colonel or Chaplain; he will also receive subscriptions from those desiring to furnish it to soldiers in the ranks at half the regular price; but in such cases it must be mailed from the office of publication. J. B. GILMORE, 119 Tremont St., Boston. Charles T. Evans, at G. P. Putnam's, 532 Broadway, New York, authorized to receive subscriptions to it in that city. February 12, 1862.
