Lapiss-H. W. Smith & Co, are receiving pate the future. their Spring goods, and you are respectfully invited to call and see their assortment. Gentlemen, are also requested to call.

RELIGIOUS .- By Divine permission, the Rev. Dr. M'Leod will preach in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in this Borough, at 11 o'clock, on next Sabbath morning. A general attendance is requested.

THE WEATHER has been quite pleasant for some days, and vegetation is springing forth rapidly. The meadows and grain-fields look green, and the prospects for a good crop are flattering. The farmers are busy plowing, and for their labor.

Correction .- We re-publish a marriage notice this week, having inadvertantly inserted the name of Rev. Gotwalt instead of Rev. Runyan. We deemed this correction due to Mr. the fee also, if the honor of "splicing" should femain accredited to him.

Ar Home .- Doctor M'Leod, arrived here on Monday evening, having obtained permission to visit his family and friends for a brief period. The Doctor is hale and hearty, and seems to be none worse of having been in the camps. Our good wishes attend him on his return to the army. The 84th, to which the Doctor is attached, is now stationed at Winchester, where they are likely to remain for some length of time.

THE CONTINANTAL MONTHLY .- The May number of this Magazine has been received, and contains its usual variety of interesting articles. A portion of the pages of the "Monthly" are devoted to the leading political topics of the day-giving articles that differ widely from the views of its editor. The 'Union of Monthly.' IMPORTANT WAR NEWS.

Received by Tuesday Evening's Mail. Thirty rebel deserters came to our camp at troops. They corroborate the reported evacuation of Corinth, by Beauregard, who has been out-flanked, out-generaled, and overwhelmed. All his strategy has been thrown away.

Late advices from Fortress Monroe state. that it was reported there from Yorktown that the rebels appreciating the masterly strategic movements of McClellan, recently executed by his Generals, have offered to capitulate upon certain conditions. This needs confirmatian; but it is generally believed at Fortress Monroe that the tate of Yorktown is sealed. and that it will be ours in a few days.

On the afternoon of the 26th, the pickets of Col. Donnelly's brigade, 8 miles out from Harrisonsville, on the Gordensville road, were drove in by a large bedy of Ashby's cavally. The reserve of the 46th Pennsylvania regiment, and a section of Hampton's battery then advanced and repulsed the rebels-driving them into a wood, where several of our shells burst in their midst. The rebels removed their dead in a wagon. Our loss was one killed and three wounded. It is said that Jackson's main force is encamped on the east bank of the Shannandosh, and that the bridge is underlaid with inflamable matter ready to fire

New Orleans is taken by our troops, and the news of its fall causes sentiments of joy every where. It is probable that the main attack was made by way of the Missippi river. The most formidable batteries encountered were those of Fort Jackson and Fort Philip, sit ualed oposite each other, and commanding the range of the stream. These forts had an armament of one hundred and seventy guns, consisting chiefly of 68 pounder rifled cannon. The navigation of the river is stopped by a dam, distant about a quarter of a mile from the forts. From this point to New Orleans the banks of the river are lined with a succession of earthworks. The rebel land forces were under the command of Gen. Lovell, and the naval forces under the braggrat Hollins. The rebels are canvassing the probability of an early peace between the "two great republies." The traitors do not yet know the feeling of the Northern people, and were led to believe that we have been so badly beaten of late that we would gladly acknowledge the independence of the South, and accept a humillating offer of peace from rebels in arms.

How they were to Fight .- The following document, promulgated at Jackson, Miss., by Beautegard, just before the battle of Pittsbarg Landing, explains why our soldiers were counded to such an extent. It shows the auar to be incuman as well as shrewd :

II. Commanders of companies will instruct hets commands that they must aim at the ret of the enemy; it is better to wound him. than to kill. The enemy removes his wounded and his force is thereby weakened.

III. No soldier will assist from the field his conded comrade; the victory must be won, and to insure success we must not weaken our lorce by removing our wounded, for the woundctory. Any soldier disobeying this order must suffer instant death. Officers and file thosers will see the offender instantly shot.

Intermission since that time. It will be completed next year, and will be the largest church edifice in the United States. Five librariand persons were present on Sunday to although the impressive coremonies.

perceive in some quarters a disposition to inculcate the idea that emancipation is gradually becoming the main issue, and that all the acts of the party in power indicate a drifting in that direction. It is, of course, impossible to say what may happen while a great war lasts, but so far as his views can now be discerned, President Lincoln entertains no such designs, nor are his constitutional advisers in any way disposed to burry the march of time or antici-

To set free four millions of slaves in a country where they are denied the recognition of human beings, and have never known any other state than that of degraded servitude, leaving the ruined masters and the deserted plantations to a fate as mournful as that of the helpless contrabands recently congregated at Port Royal, may suit the chimerical notions of dreamers and enthusiasts, but we are quite sure that it never entered into the sedate and philosophical minds of statesmen like Mr. Lincoln, and those who compose his Cabinet.

Between that stolid conservatism which knows no future but upending slavery and southern troubles, and that wild fanaticism which is for inscribing immediate and unconditional emancipation upon our banners at all hazards, there is a happy medium, which the we hope they may receive an abundant return well meaning masses of the people have thought they saw to be the governing policy of Mr. Lincoln and his advisers-a sort of practical liberalism which readily accepts whatever is safe and sure in the search for true progress .- U. S. Gazette.

VIRGINIA .- The Wheeling Intelligencer says: Runyan, lest our friend Gotwalt might claim | The re-population of Virginia in the rear of our victorious armies, by settlers from the Free States, has already begun. Buyers of lands at and in the vicinity of Manaasas have appeared, but they experience a difficulty in purchases. The real owners are chiefly Rebels, and fugitives from their poss-ssions. Of course purchases will not be made of any but the owners, and they must be loyal to insure future protection to transactions. The result will be, in the absence of loyal owners, that strangers will take possession in the manner of the squatters of the West, and leave to the future the settlement of title, which will doubtless be confirmed to the new holders in process of time. In this way, and in various other ways, the deserted wastes of Eastern Virginia, will be re-occupied by a people who will make them blossom as a rose, and who will afford protection and remunerative employment to the colored laboring classes whom the war will have emancipated.

PREPAID NEWSPAPER WRAPPERS .- We believe it is not generally known that the government has on sale at all the principal postall the States,' indicates the politics of the offices prepaid wrappers for newspapers, with the one cent die embossed on them. Large numbers of ordinary unstamped newspaper wrappers are also made, and have come into use throughout the country, especially for sending papers to our volunteer soldiers. It is said that nearly one thousand persons are employed in the manufacture of newspaper wrappers at this time, while six months ago Pittsburg, and begged to be enroled among our facture. They are all made under a patent. they were not known as an article of manu-

> STAY LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL -- Judge Woodward, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, has decided that the stay law of this State passed in May, 1861, was unconstitutional, mainly for the reason that it makes the right of a judgment creditor to have execution against his debtor dependent on the agreement of a majority of the creditors whose demands exceed two-thirds of the debtor's entire indebtedness, and imposes no limit to the stay which the majority of the creditors may agree to. No discression is left to the court, and the creditors as aforesaid may extend the stay indefinitely.

Among the letters found by our soldiers in the rebel camp at Roanoke Island, was one from a young lady in the South to her lover in the rebel army, in which she says : "I hope we shall meet each other again here; but it we do not, I hope we shall in heaven, where there will be no Vankees. 12

The Winchester Virginian puts forth a mysterious boast that the Southern Confederacy will "soon make a grand haul." We guess that it will be hauling down her flag and hauling in her horns.

The Austrians have an odd way of increasing the circulation of newspapers. The police recently closed twenty-seven coffee houses in Venice because they refused to take the Verona Gazette.

(FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL RNPORTS)

May 19, 1860 .- Ellen S., æt. 28, single, never was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks, and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then till last Saturday; while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold, had pain in her back, felt cold, but had no decided chill. Two days later her ankles began to swell which was follow-ed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has dull pain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is the most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well marked typical case. We will carefully watch the ase, and from time to time call your attention to the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now is to call your attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylamine. Dr. Awenarius of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose giving it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted

A NEW REMEDY

as specifies; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial. SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER! May 23, 1860 .- I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I preshribed Propylamine, and who was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains, every two hours. (intermitting it at night). The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you cannot fail to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are now nearly of their natural size. Thus far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but gentlemen we must wait a little while before we can give a de-

THREE DAYS LATER ! ! May 26, 1860 .- This is the case of acute rhenmatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three gratus thrice daily. In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring) . fore you a very characteristic case of acute a matism, and if the result b esatisfactory, as good jurymen. we shall justly render our verus in favor of propylamine. He is a seaman, set. 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pains but not so as to keep his bed, until eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin at present, dry, though there has been much sweatiug. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90.

He has now used propylamine tweuty-four hours. This gentlemen is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is folowed by a feeling of coldness, severe articular pain, beginning, as it usually does, in the lewer joints There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism.

I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case in a future clinic.

THE RESULT .- A FAVORABLE VERDICT. June 9, 1860 .- The next of our canvalescents is the case of acuterheumatism before you at our clinic of May 26th, which I then called a typical case. and which it was remarked was a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every | The above, and many other articles are furnished two hours for four days. The patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to walk about as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have never seen place the most extensive and best selected stock of ing prepared to decide positively as to the value of the remedy we have used. I feel bound to state that in the cases in which we have tried the chloride of Propylamine, the patients have gained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish, gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a cendensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medicaland Surgical Reporter. It is a reportafter a fair trial by the best medical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary tolgive numerous certificates from astonished doctors and rejoicing patients.

A Fact Worth Knowing! The undersigned informs his old friends and the public generally that he has just received and opened, at his old stand in Bradford township, a

NEW AND WELL SELECTED STOCK OF SEASONABLE GOODS. consisting of Dry Goods, Hardware, Queensware Groceries, and all other articles usually kept in a country store, which he will dispose of at as low rates as they can be purchased in the county, and of as good quality, if not better. He respectfully solicits all to give him a call and examine his stock before purchasing elsewhere, and he feels certain that they will buy from him. MATTHEW FORCER

DROSPECTUS OF THE CONTINEN. TAL MONTHLY .- There are periods in the world's history marked by extraordinary and violent crises, sudden as the breaking forth of a volcane, or the bursting of a storm on the ocean. These crises weep away in a moment the landmarks of generations. They call out fresh talent, and give to the old new direction. It is then that new ideas are born, new theories developed. Such periods demand fresh expenents, and new men for expounders. This Continent has lately been convulsed by an upheaving so sudden and terrible that the re-Spring & Summer Goods elements with which to sway the storm and direct the whirlwind. Just at present, we do not know what all this is to bring forth; but we do lations of all men and all classes to each other are know that great results must flow from such extraordinary commotions.

At a juncture so solemn and so important, there is a special need that the intellectual force of the country should be active and efficient. It is a time for great minds to speak their thoughts bold ly, and to take position as the advance guard. To this end, there is a special want unsupplied. It is that of an Independent Magazine, which shall be pen to the first intellects of the land, and which shall treat the issue presented, and to be presented to the country, in a tone no way tempered by partizanship, or influenced by fear, favor or the hope of reward, which shall seize and grapple with the momentous subjects that the present disturbed state of affairs heave to the surface, and which can not be laid aside or neglected.

To meet this want, the undersigned have commenced, under the editorial charge of Charles G. Leland, the publication of a new Magazine, devoted to Literature and National Policy.
In Politics, it will advocate, with all the force at its command, measures best adapted to preserve the oneness and integrity of these United States. It will never yield to the idea of any disruption of this Republic, peaceably or otherwise; and it will discuss with honesty and impartiality what must be done to save it. In this department, some of the most eminent statesmen of the time will contribute regularly to its pages. In Literature, it will be sustained by the best writers and ablest thinkers of this country. Among its attractions will be presented, in an early number, a 'New Serial of American Life,' by Richard Kimball, Esq., the very popular author of "The Revelations of Wall Street," "St. Leger," &c. A series of papers by Hon. Hornce Greely, embodying the distinguished author's observations on the growth and development of the Great West. A series of articles by the author of "Through the Cotton States," containing the resuit of an extended tour in the seashore Slave States, just prior to the breaking out of the war, and presenting a startling and truthful picture of the real condition of that region. No pains will be spared to render the literary attractions of the CONTINENTAL both brilliant and substantial . The lyrical or descriptive talents of the most eminent literati have been promised to its pages; and nothing will be admitted which will not be distinguished by marked energy originality, and solid strength. Avoiding every influence or as-sociation partaking of clique or coterie, it will be open to all contributions of real merit, even from writers differing materially in their views; the only limitations required being that of devotion to the Union, and the only standard of acceptance that of intrinsic excellence.

The Editorial Department will embrace, in addition to vigorous and fearless comments on the events of the times, genial gossip with the reader on all current topics, and also devote abundant space to those racy specimens of American wit and humor, without which there can be no perfect exposition of our national character Among those who will contribute regularly to this department may be mentioned the name of Charles F. Browne (Artemus Ward), from whom we shall present in the March number, the first of an entirely new and original series of "Sketches of Western Life"

The CONTINENTEL will be liberal and progressive, without yielding to chimeras and hopes beyend the grasp of the age; and it will endeavor to reflect the feelings and interests of the Ameri-can people, and to illustrate both their serious and humorous peculiarities. In short, no pains will be spared to make it the Representative Magazine
