Read H. W. Smith & Co's advertisement in another column of to-day's Journal.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that C. B. Sandford will open the next session of his school on Monday, May 19.

DEDICATION.—The Methodist Ep. Church at Centre will be dedicated on Sunday May 11th. Rev. J. S. Lee, is expected to be present on the occasion. Services to commence at half past ten in the morning.

ARCHITECT.—By reference to the new advertisements, persons who contemplate erecting buildings, will find that Augustus Weisman has located in this place, and is prepared to execute drawings, etc., on short notice.

PEOPLE'S STATE CONVENTION.—The People's State Central Committee met in Philadelphia on the 1st of May, and issued a call for a People's State Convention, to be held at Harrisburg on the 17th day of July next. All the supporters of the National Administration, and of a vigorous war policy, are invited to send representatives.

IMPORTANT.—Mossop has requested us to inform the "gentleman" who broke into his store last week, that he is just receiving and opening a large stock of goods, which he will sell very low for cash—not having, as yet, adopted the "give away" system. All persons desirous of buying goods cheap, should call at Mossop's, for it is generally conceded that he sells the cheapest goods in the county.

METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS FOR APRIL 1862.—Mean temperature in the morning, 35; in the day, 50; in the evening, 48; full moon at the month, 41. The month came in with a large quantity of snow and ice in the woods; which, with light rain on the 24, 25th, 18th, 22d and 28th, and heavy rain on the 15th, with snow and hail on the 8th, and near one foot of snow on the 9th and 10th, kept the small streams pretty well up, and the river in good running order the greater part of the time. Small quantities of snow and ice still remain in the woods at the close of the month. Vegetation is very backward, no pasture for cattle in the woods and but little in the fields. The maples coming in blossom. Apple and peach buds swelling, but no flowers visible. The willow and a few other early trees beginning to show leaf. Wheat mostly looks well; and the prospect for fruit, as yet, is very fair. The operations of the farmer is mostly very backward; the ground having generally been too wet for plowing. Hoping May will be more favorable.

PENN.—Keep out of bad company, for the chance is, that when the devil finds into a flock he will find somebody.

FORES.—The body of Governor Harvey, of Wisconsin, who was recently drowned at Savannah, Tennessee, has been found 40 miles below on the banks of the river.

SO THUS.—Prentice says: "If you hear a fellow speak of Union men as abolitionists, you may set him down as a Knight of the Golden Circle." Remember this.

All the Breckenridges in Congress voted against taking a cent of one dollar on the rich slaveholder's negro, but voted to put a tax of one dollar on the poor man's dog.

Major Gen. C. F. Smith died at Savannah, Tennessee, on the 25th ult., of dysentery. He displayed great bravery at the battle of Fort Donelson, having led the Jorlomo hope personally in that engagement.

Eleven hundred dollars, collected in New York, were sent on Monday last to John Day—the man who sat on the powder—when a shell burst in the magazine of one of the gunboats, during the engagement at Roanoke Island.

Governor Curtin has ordered, that "Shiloh" be inscribed on the banner of the seventy-seventh Pennsylvania regiment, and "Fairmount, Va." on that of the 1st Pennsylvania Cavalry, in acknowledgment of their gallantry at the battles at those places.

A Western editor lately called his "devil" to him, and told him he could not afford to hire his services any longer unless he would agree to take ninepence a week or share the profits of the paper. The boy concluded to stay, but unhesitatingly chose the ninepence for his wages.

The "CONFEDERATE ALMANAC" for 1862 published by Rev. Dr. Summers, of the Southern Methodist publishing house, announces an "eclipse of the sun, visible over the Confederate States." To this the Nashville Union adds, that about the same time "there will be a total eclipse of the Confederate States, visible over all creation."

The great rush of volunteers to Beauregard's army is not explained. The report was published all over the south that Buell's and Grant's armies were destroyed, and all that Beauregard had to do was to march forward without resistance. That's the way the rebels work. They are busy in a fight with a helpless negro, or a non-resisting northern man—Huza for the chivalry.

NEW-YORK CUSTOM HOUSE RECEIPTS.—The receipts at the New York Custom House, for the quarter ending April 1, were over $11,500,000, and the receipts for the same period of time, at three other principal ports, were $14,000,000. This gives a grand total of $25,500,000, a very encouraging state of affairs for the treasury, and one which shows that there is a great business going on notwithstanding the war.

A PAIR OF AMAZONS.—Two young girls, dressed by love and a desire for adventure, frequented themselves in masculine habiliments one day last week, and visiting Kittanning, desired to enlist in the gallant 78th, in which their "lovers" are doing duty. The officer on whom they waited, "smelling a mice" refused to enroll them, declaring that the authorities wanted no more recruits, whereupon the pair expressed themselves greatly disappointed, and after a brief stay in the town retired quietly to their homes. There are a great many young ladies who manifest a very laudable desire to rush to arms just now, and there should be some provision made for them.

COMPARISONS.—It is useless to deny that the masses of the people have a deep-seated and settled confidence in "Sarsaparilla," as an effective remedy. Notwithstanding this confidence has of late years been abused by many preparations claiming to possess its virtues but really with none at all, still the people believe in its intrinsic value as a remedy, because they have known of its cures. The rage for large bottles at low prices, has called into market many compounds of Sarsaparilla which contain scarcely any of it, or even any medicinal virtues whatever. Yet everybody knows that Sarsaparilla is the great staple antidote for Scrofula, Eruptions and cutaneous diseases, and for the purification of the blood, when they can get the real article, or an actual extract of it. Such were now able to inform them they can obtain. Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., the celebrated chemists of the East, whose reputation assures us they do well whatever they undertake, are selling a Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla, which, although the bottles do not contain quarts, for a dollar, do contain more of actual curative power than whole gallons of the stuff which have been in use. It is asserted that the bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla contains more than double the amount of medicinal virtue, which is afforded by any other. This fact is not only apparent to the taste, but its effects and cures afford incontestable proof that it is true. Such a remedy has been long sought for, and is everywhere needed by all classes of our community.—"Age," Cynthia, N.Y.

HORSE BEDS.—A horse who requires a good bed, in order that he may rest and recruit for his next day's labor. Few owners, or rather those who have the care of horses, give as much attention to this as it deserves. Straw broken in a threshing machine, is the best bedding that can be used; and the next best is sawdust. A good bed for a horse should cover the entire floor of his stall; should be a little the highest at the sides and at the head. Some permit their animals to rest on the bare floor. Such persons should be compelled, some cold night, to use a similar bed, as a just penalty. Ever afterwards, our word for it, their horses would get good beds.

Ellis B. Schnable, the somewhat notorious Pennsylvania politician and lecturer at Connecticut peace meetings, has turned up, since his liberation from Fort Lafayette, at Yellville, Arkansas, as a colonel, at the head of 1,000 rebels. He is not better bringing an action against Ex-Secretary Cameron for his incarceration in Fort Lafayette.

ELIXIR PROPYLAMINE, THE NEW REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM. A NEW REMEDY FOR ACUTE RHEUMATISM, CHRONIC RHEUMATISM, RHEUMATISM OF EVERY KIND; NO MATTER HOW STUBBORN, HOW LONG STANDING, PROPYLAMINE WILL CURE IT.

What it has done, it will do again. DOCTORS READ, DOCTORS EXAMINE, DOCTORS TRY IT. The best testimony, Best Medical Authority. Doctors know it, Patients believe it, Tried & True.

Pennsylvania Hospital. (FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS) MAY 19, 1860. I am, Sir, single never was very strong. Two years ago I was seized with a severe rheumatism, from which I was confined to my bed for two weeks, and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since, but last Saturday, while engaged in house cleaning, she took cold and was in her bed, felt cold, but had no decided chill. Two days later her ankles began to swell which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the hands. She has been in her bed since, and her knuckles are very tender and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is the most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumatism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well known fact, that if the patient is not carefully watched the case will soon turn into a chronic one, and the various symptoms which present themselves. My chief object in bringing her before you now is to call your attention to a remedy which has recently been recommended in the treatment of rheumatism. I mean propylamine. Dr. A. W. Bennett of St. Petersburg, recommends it in the highest terms, having derived great benefit from its use in 250 cases which came under his care. Various commendatory testimonials respecting it have appeared in our journals, and I propose giving it another trial. I must confess I am always incredulous as to the worth of new remedies, which are vaunted as specific; but this comes to us recommended so highly, that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER! MAY 23, 1860. I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and who was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains, every two hours, (intermitting it at night). The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack. (The patient now walked into the room.) The improvement has steadily progressed, and you must not fail to notice a marked change in the appearance of her joints, which are now nearly of their natural size. This far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but gentlemen we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

THREE DAYS LATER! MAY 26, 1860. This is the case of acute rheumatism treated with propylamine, the first of those to which I called your attention at our last lecture. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains three daily. In this case it is seen to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring before you a very characteristic case of acute rheumatism, which is now under treatment, as good judgment, we shall judiciously render our opinion in favor of propylamine.

He is a seaman, aged 26, who was admitted a few days ago. He has occasional rheumatic pains, but not so severe as he has had in the past. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are all swollen, tense and tender. His tongue is furred; his skin is dry, and he has been unable to sleep for several days. His pulse is full and strong, and about 90. He has now used propylamine twenty-four hours. This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was no fever, and if the patient had been treated by a physician, he would have been told to bleed, and to give him a cathartic. In this case the patient before you with the intention of giving you all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, and which, if the result is satisfactory, we will use for testing the medicine in question. We can, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case in a future clinic.

THE RESULT—A FAVORABLE VERDICT. JUNE 9, 1860. The next of our cases presents the case of acute rheumatism before you, the patient of May 26th, which I then called a typical case, and which was remarked as a fair opportunity for testing the worth of our new remedy. It was therefore steadily given in three grain doses every two hours, and the patient has got along very nicely, and is now able to walk about as you see. I do not hesitate to say that I have never seen so severe a case of acute rheumatism so soon restored to health as this man has been, and without being prepared to decide positively as to the value of the remedy we have used. I feel bound to say, however, in the cases in which we have tried the elixir of Propylamine, the patients have gained their health much earlier than under the treatment ordinarily pursued. I wish, gentlemen, you would yourselves try it, and report the results.

For a full report of which the above is a condensed extract, see the Philadelphia Medical and Surgical Reporter. It is a report after a fair trial by the best medical authority in this country, and makes it unnecessary to tell you numerous certificates from astonished doctors and rejoicing patients.

A SPEEDY CURE, AN EFFECTUAL CURE, THE SAME RESULT IN EVERY CASE, WHENEVER TRIED, WHEREVER TRIED. WHAT IT HAS DONE, IT WILL DO AGAIN.
